Study Hearing Tuesday

The city's proposed land study for long-range development of portions of Lynnhaven, Princess Anne, Blackwater and Pungo Boroughs will come before the Planning Commission for public hearing Tuesday at 1 p.m.

The Princess Anne Land Use Development Plan encompasses some of the city's fastest growing residential and multiple-family areas and includes the controversial False Cape Parkway proposed across Back Bay.

The Planning Department held a preliminary and presentation on hearing the plan last week at Princess Anne High School but residents have complained that inadequate notice was given to the public.

Boundaries of the study are: on the North by the Virginia Beach Expressway beginning at S. Great Neck Road and ending at the Rudee-Linkhorn Bay Canal and the northern boundary line of Camp Pendleton; on the East by the eastern boundary line of Oceana Naval Air Station and the Atlantic Ocean; on the South by the North Carolina state line; and on the West by Oceana's western boundary and the Chesapeake city line.

The Department of Planning will also bring before the commission Tuesday a proposed update of the Land Use Development Plan of the Great Neck Study Area.

Property involved in this updating is located on the north side of the Virginia Beach Expressway to Shore Drive and from Broad Bay and Linkhorn Bay west to the Eastern Branch of the Lynnhaven River.

Among the deferred items to be heard is an application of Level Green Corporation for rezoning of nine parcels of land, involving nearly 200 acres, on the south side of Indian River Road, East and West of Interstate 64.

Included in the application is a use permit to construct a gas station at the northeast intersection of Centerville Turnpike and Interstate 64. The station site is a portion of 2.8 acres in Parcel A which would be rezoned from Residence Duplex with Motel, Tourist and Restaurant Supplement to General District.

Twenty-five applications in all are scheduled Tuesday, including use permits for 213 townhouses, 80 apartment units and 93 motel units.

The Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia? No. The ominous clouds of Virginia Beach! This unusual cloud formation, so dark they appear to be mountains, hovered over the city last Friday afternoon. Sun Woman's Editor Helen Crist was so awed by the sight she pulled off Laskin Road near Linkhorn Park School and took this picture. Clouds and rain have become a familiar sight. It was the unfamiliar sun on Monday that was a shocker.

Dead Animal Fee Dropped

City Council approved on first reading Monday an amendment to the City Code regulating fees for the handling of garbage or refuse at landfill areas but chose to ignore a proposed fee for the disposition of dead animals. There was a fee set in the proposed ordinance, drafted at the suggestion of Director of Community Services W.W. Fleming, but City Manager Roger Scott told council in a formal session that the animal fee had been deleted from the ordinance and was not to be considered by council.

The deleted section would have set a $25 fee for any animal the size of hogs and $50 for all other larger animals. The handling of large animals carcasses at landfill areas has cost the city money, Fleming told council at an earlier meeting and the city has had to bear the cost of disposing of dead animals brought in from adjoining cities. The suggested fee had not been popular with council, however, and was deleted without explanation.

The ordinance does establish these fees and requirements:

$3.12 per ton, or $1 minimum fee on any refuse or garbage brought to any city disposal area by anyone outside Virginia Beach with refuse from their own personal premises; a service charge, or refusal, on any refuse of such volume or character as to cause undue expense to the city; a 35 cents per tire fee for cutting tires to permit handling; and the authorization to the Directors of Community Services or Finance in providing scales and collection procedures they feel necessary to ensure efficient collection of the fees imposed. The Director of Community Services is also authorized to determine what waste will not be accepted for discharge.

Hours of landfill operation, established by the ordinance, will be 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The city disposal areas will be closed on legal holidays.

'It's Too Humiliating'

By Helen Crist

Honestly, it's a doggone shame. Here I am, the proud father of 15 beautiful bouncing Labrador Retriever puppies and Nestle, my wife, and the pup's mother, won't even let me within a stone's throw of the place.

Why, even if I so much as put my nose around the corner even aiming toward the garage where the pups are, Nestle takes off after me like an Ocean Park Fire Department answering the alarm.

Humiliating, that's what it is. The pup's being so cute and all. Talk about Women's Lib. I tell you I'm leading a dog's life.

It all started when Nestle had these pups, 15 of them, although one of them didn't live—there were 16 in all.

And I'll have to admit, Nestle's a good looking spouse—being chocolate colored and that's kind of rare, they tell me.

Anyway, if you'd press me for an answer, I'd have to say I'm rather handsome myself. Golden Boy, they call me, although my aristocratic name is Smo-La, and I've sired five champions and I belong to Howard Holcombe.

Well, anyway, on October 4, Nestle had these puppies, and Robert Henchey who owns her and lives at 3741 Chesterfield in Ocean Park Ave. was very excited about it all.

Seems he only expected about seven or eight, these being Nestle's first litter, and was some surprised at 16, which is kind of a lot, they tell me.

Naturally I'm proud of the puppies, all bouncy and wiggly and healthy, and so cute and all.

Why, Bob Henchey even comes home during the day and feeds them with a syringe and a mixture of evaporated milk and lime water, and Karo syrup although, I must say, Nestle has a lot of milk and is able to nurse them all herself.

They're out there in the garage where Bob lives, all nine males and six females. Right now they're black colored.

So, if you'd like to adopt some of our babies, just come around and Bob will let you take a look.

And if you happen to see a handsome yellow dog, with a miserable expression on his face because of rejection, and his ears hanging low not far from the ground, with the humiliated look of it all, that's me, poor old Pop.

Canada Leads Most Precincts; Election Draws Record Voting

By Les Lehigh

Young, vibrant, soft-spoken A. Joseph Canada carried the G.O.P. banner to victory in Tuesday's General Election to become the first Republican to represent the city of Virginia Beach in the General Assembly for more than a century.

Canada, a 32-year-old lawyer in making his first real bid in political circles, defeated two seasoned contenders in overcoming what was viewed in many quarters as almost insurmountable odds.

When asked what he felt was the primary fact in carrying him to victory Canada said, "Because I think the people of Virginia Beach were tired of the factionalism which has torn our city apart for so many years." He also credited his campaign for the victory pointing out "we ran a clean campaign which addressed itself to the issues and not the personalities." His campaign was an exhaustive one which witnessed Canada and his wife Vickie, covering virtually every corner of the resort city by phone, letter and door to door.

As to the significance of his victory Canada said "I think it is a very good sign in Virginia Beach politics. It gives people who are not interested in factionalism a form and a place to express their views and to become a part of government, and I think it is a good step forward because the people of Virginia Beach have overwhelmingly endorsed our campaign and the approach we took to the election."

Canada defeated incumbent Edward T. (Ned) Caton, III, who campaigned as an independent, and Del. Richard D. Guy the Democratic party's nominee by slim margins.

In unofficial count Canada received 6,979 votes while Caton polled 5,171 votes and Guy received 4,851 votes.

The voter turnout Tuesday was also significant with an official return of 34,164, which according to records is the biggest vote cast in Virginia Beach with the exception of the 1960 Presidential Election.

B.R. (Bev) Middleton lead the unopposed Democratic House of Delegates ticket by polling 14,300 votes. Glen McClaman came in second with 13,300 votes while Owen B. Pickett received 12,800 votes.

Henry B. Howell, campaigning as an independent, leading voting in Virginia Beach in the Lt. Governor contest with 11,315 votes. Democrat George J. Kostel occupied second place with 7,575 votes while Republican George P. Shafran received 5,176 votes.

The official count will not be known until sometime today.

Theatre Says 'Thank You'

The Virginia Beach Little Theatre commended City Council for being the first city in Tidewater and perhaps in the State in giving financial aid toward cultural development and reported on its success with the city's $15,000 appropriation for a theatre building.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hamblin, vice president of VBTLT, told council in formal session Monday that with that fund, plus contributions from 150 private citizens and 350 members, the group was able to obtain a loan from Virginia National Bank and to build its theatre at 24th Street and Barborton.

"So, after 23 years, eight months and three days, the Little Theatre of Virginia Beach has a home of its own," she said. She said the building would be open to the public November 21 from 4 to 6 p.m. and invited council to visit.

"We are proud of our people, proud of our building, and particularly proud of our city government which has proved that it is interested in more than bricks, mortar, roads, sewers, and so forth, and that it recognizes the need for the encouragement of cultural activities in this City," Mrs. Hamblin said. "You trusted us with city funds and we feel this confidence was warranted."

Firemen Complete Special Training

Men of 11 of the 14 fire stations in the resort city, volunteer and paid personnel, Sunday completed a specialized course of training in General Fireman-

A total of 65 men completed 32 hours of training in subjects which included organization and operations; portable fire extinguishers; fire hose practices; use of ladders; protective clothing and breathing apparatus; salvage and overhaul; ventilation; fire stream practices; and rescue procedures.

All of the men took the training on their own time on Saturdays and Sundays. Training was conducted at the Beach Borough station house, and a condemned building near the intersection of 5th Street and Pacific Avenue.

Instructors consisted of Capt. W.R. Gurley and Frank E. Bennett, Beach Borough; Deputy Chief A.A. Anderson, Norfolk Fire Dept.; and G.E. Wetherington, Norfolk Naval Operating Base. Each of these men are State Certified Fire Training Instructors.

Subject matter offered in the course was based on standards established by the State Department of Education's Fire Service Training Program.

Those who successfully completed the course received certificates attesting to the degree of fire fighting proficiency achieved by them.

Bob Henchey consoles Golden Boy, and the handsome Retriever takes heart and sits properly as a champion should.

Golden Boy, sire of Nestle's 15 Labrador Retrievers, gets the cold shoulder from the brand new mother. In the story, he reflects on the sad state of affairs. "It's a dog's life," he concludes.

Danny Davis, Ocean Park Volunteer, is lowered to ground by rope in training in rescue of firemen who may become injured while fighting fire inside a building.

Young Artists Have Their Day

The Young Artists of College Park, a group of talented teenage artists from Virginia Beach and Chesapeake, held their own show Saturday in the College Park Information Center's auditorium.

It was only a one-day affair, but the group covered a lot of territory...they learned to tag and hang their own paintings, earned the most advantageous ways to display works, had a chance to compare notes with other members as well as more experienced artists. They even shared their talent and knowledge with youngsters who may one day want to follow in their footsteps.

And they took time out to discuss ways of expanding the group's artistic endeavors and contributions to the community.

They laid preliminary plans for the formation of a dramatic group and sought out other means of creative expression.

Two of the Young Artists, B.J. Credle and Michael Player, recently brought honor to all young artists in the City by winning awards in the annual Southern Shopping Center Art Show, in competition with some of the area's most accomplished artists.

Author To Discuss New Book

A series of three lectures will be presented this week-end at the Association for Research and Enlightenment, 67th Street and Atlantic Avenue as follows.

On Friday, at 7:30 p.m. Charles Thomas Cayce, Ph.D. will talk on "Integrated Learning - Education Concepts from the Edgar Cayce Readings."

On Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Jeffrey Furst will speak on "The Case for Reincarnation," based on his newly published book, "The Return of Frances Willard," in which he cites from a reading given by Edgar Cayce to a Virginia lady that she is a reincarnation of Frances Willard.

Robert G. Brewer, M.D., chief of general surgery in Bethesda Suburban Hospital, Maryland, will lecture on "Balanced Living - the Key to Good Health" on Sunday, November 7th at 3:00 p.m.

These lectures are open to the public and will all be followed by question and answer periods.

Snow White Stars Again At Scope

Established as part of the Disney realm of classic tales, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" receives an entirely new treatment in "Disney On Parade," opening on Tuesday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at The Norfolk Scope for 10 performances.

The first feature-length cartoon ever to be produced, "Snow White" made theatrical history in 1937 and was seen by 20 million people during just its first three months of release.

"Disney On Parade," in an all-new and different edition of this record-setting, all-family arena show, will highlight the magical tale about a beautiful princess and seven delightful little diamond miners in a lavish production number.

"Disney On Parade" is presented by Naval Productions, a partnership of NBC Films, Inc. and Walt Disney Productions. Almost 100 Disney characters will appear together in the most original 2 1/2-hour musical arena show ever conceived.

Sequences from Disney's "Snow White" have been adapted for presentation in "Disney On Parade" on a massive storybook screen which introduces each storyline before "coming to life" on the arena stage. The combination of the art of magic, choreography, motion pictures, sound effects, music and special lighting techniques adds up to history-making theatre as a totally new entertainment medium.

In addition to "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the lavish new show will include production numbers from "Fantasia," "Pinocchio," "Small World," as well as a host of familiar Disney Characters such as Goofy, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck.

Halloween Rabbit? Yessiree, Cottontail!

Everyone knows the bunny comes on Easter, right? And that pumpkins are for Halloween, right? Well, no more. Because the Magic Halloween Rabbit visited Virginia Beach Friday night and he left an impression long to be remembered.

It all happened like this. The Virginia Beach Little Theatre has a group of very young cast members in its production of "The King and I," ages ranging from something like three to early teens. And though they are young and inexperienced, they are nevertheless hard-working actors and actresses.

So the theatre group got together at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Josh Sherman on Ocean Front Friday night after rehearsals to treat the "King's Kiddies" to a Halloween surprise.

The surprise happened to be an original script by Mrs. Anne Penington, playwright of the theatre's popular production take-offs and talented writer of several hilarious off-beat children's plays. Her Friday night production was exceptionally hilarious and uniquely off-beat.

And Mrs. Penington may have created a character who will shove the Great Pumpkin right out the Halloween spotlight and banish the Easter Bunny back to Thumper-land. Because these two famous personalities, popular though they may be, are no competition to the Magic Halloween Rabbit.

Picture if you can a six-foot bunny, all in black except for a puffy white cotton-tail, with ears sprouting from a cocky beret, his face bearded rather than be-whiskered and language more like Hippley than never-neverland. That's the Magic Halloween Rabbit (as brought to life by Mike Hamblin, the protector of dear little old ladies Louise Hall and Carl Hamblin) against the evil wiles of the Wicked Old Witch (Mrs. Penington).

He came on like Gang Busters. He hit the audience in complete surprise. And, before he had even squelched the Wicked Old Witch's evil plans, the Magic Halloween Rabbit had the audience in the palm of his mittened hand...the youngsters, as well as the Old Pro's.

The honored guests included Peter Spitzli, Tanya Norton, Seth and Sarah Ceteras, Margaret Uley, Lisa Rinkov, Chuck and Jennifer Hargis and assorted brothers and sisters, as well as children of some cast members.

Little Jennifer Hargis samples the goodies.

ODU Presents 'Physicists'

Paul Dicklin, director of Old Dominion University's theater program, today announced a cast of 19 students for the Old Dominion Players production of "The Physicists." Performances are scheduled Nov. 11 through Nov. 14 in the Technology Theater.

Written by Friedrich Durrenmatt, the comedy-melodrama is about the discovery of power which could be turned into catastrophic weapons capable of destroying all human life. In two acts, the play examines the question whether scientists should withhold their lethal knowledge or "leave the world a faint chance of survival."

Three physicists, described as harmless, lovable, and unassuming, are found in an insane asylum. One has taken the identity of Sir Isaac Newton, played by Norman Bossert, a junior from East Meadow, N.Y.; another the identity of Albert Einstein, played by Ernie Johns, a freshman from Virginia Beach; and the third named Mobius, portrayed by Bob Brown, a junior from Alexandria. All three have committed themselves to the asylum, Mobius thinking his destructive knowledge will be ignored and the other two (representing opposing governments) trying to gain Mobius' knowledge.

Arnyce Anders stars in the Cavalier Dinner Playhouse's production of "Hello Dolly," one of Broadway's most successful musicals. She heads an all-star cast in the show which opens Friday and continues into the holidays with a special celebration planned for Thanksgiving Day. John Dawson is the director, William Goffred the musical director and Barbara Theusen the choreographer. For reservations call 865-6033.

Stanton Attends Conference

Virginia Beach businessman Robert M. Stanton, Vice President of Goodman-Segar-Hogan recently returned from the third annual CSM Conference, sponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers in Nassau, the Bahamas.

Shopping Center security, economics and merchant associations were among the topics discussed at the three-day conference sponsored by the worldwide trade association of the shopping center industry. The CSM, Certified Shopping Center Manager, program was initiated eight years ago to recognize the vital role sound management plays in the success of shopping centers, which now number about 13,000 in the U.S. alone, and to designate those who have achieved high professional standing. These professionals play a significant role in the education and training programs of ISCS and the industry.

Only 2 people in the industry hold the coveted CSM certification and are at present represented in the continental U.S., Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

unanimous vote a strong 8-point resolution on environmental pollution.

Cartwright was one of 75 delegates from Jaycee chapters throughout the state to participate in the Virginia Jaycees First Annual Governmental Affairs Seminar at the State Capitol.

Through this project the delegates had an opportunity to formulate, debate and vote on resolutions concerning governmental affairs. It was a first hand look, so to speak, at what challenges face elected members to the real General Assembly.

A total of nine resolutions were passed by the Jaycees mock General Assembly, covering such subjects as no-fault insurance concepts, additional sentences for persons convicted of a felony with use of a fire-arm and authorizing local governments the option of holding local referendums on deciding the election or appointment of School Boards.

Also included was a resolution to reduce the blood alcohol content from 15 per cent to 10 per cent in basing convictions for driving under the influence.

The resolutions passed at the seminar will be submitted to the Virginia Jaycees Board when it meets in Virginia Beach this month. Those resolutions approved by the board will be presented to each state chapter in the form of a referendum ballot. After passage they will be considered external policy of the Virginia Jaycees and will be forwarded to the General Assembly and the Governor.

The eight points included in the pollution resolution, submitted by the Virginia Beach Jaycees, include:

1. Bring all streams up to quality standards set by the state water control board and the applicable water quality standards, and
2. Strictly extension of sewage service to new areas to the availability of treatment capable or producing an acceptable quality effluent at the time the tap is made, and

3. Restrict the use of septic tanks to single or duplex residences and small business establishments in non-urban areas, and then only if the soil characteristics of each site show by boring and tests, that it meets all requisites for septic tank use, and

4. Provide that all separate state entities presently regulating, administering or otherwise influencing the quality of water be centralized into one unit responsible for policy, uniform standards, and monitoring the quality of water and the impositions of sanctions.
5. Provide adequate monitoring equipment and staffing for the state air pollution control board so that air quality can be brought to the standards required by the federal clean air act of 1970, and

6. Protect the wetlands of the commonwealth from destruction by filling and dredging, as all other states of the eastern seaboard have done, and provide adequate regulations for the administration of all coastal resources, under a strong, technically competent staff.
7. Provide the attorney general with staff and funding authorized to go into federal courts to seek sanction and penalties against federal agencies and all other out-of-state polluters of Virginia's Air and Waters.

8. Undertake hearings into the problems of noise pollution and solid waste management with a view to establishing environmental guidelines and organizational apparatus to deal with the problems of noise pollution and solid waste management.

The regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the Virginia Beach Independent Insurance Agents Association is scheduled at 12:30 p.m. November 10, at the White Heron Motel.

The guest speaker will be G.I. Johnson of the Virginia Insurance Department.

Vepco Wins Utility's Award Of Excellence

Virginia Electric and Power Company is the recipient of the "Electric Utility Award of Excellence," given annually by Electric Light & Power magazine. Selection of Vepco is based on the utility's outstanding performance on behalf of its customers, employees and shareholders.

According to EL&P editorial director, Robert A. Lincome, "Virginia Electric and Power Company has consistently demonstrated forward-thinking, technological leadership, a concern for environmental protection well predating the current thrust of public awareness and a sincere dedication to providing an abundant supply of low-cost, electric energy for its customers."

Vepco, which provides career opportunities for more than 4,000 employees, was selected by a notable panel of judges which included Dr. William Lewis, Professor of Electrical Engineering, Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, Ill.; Peter M. McTague, Management Consultant for Gilbert Assoc., Reading Pa.; Lionel O. Barthold, President of Power Technologies, Inc., Schenectady, N.Y.; and Richard Rapaport, Director of Utility Operations, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), Washington, D.C.

The area served by the utility has an electrical demand which is growing at a rate more than 40 per cent faster than the national average. But Vepco has managed to hold rates at a low level because of its economic utilization of generating and support facilities, air and water pollution control, leadership in extra-high voltage transmission and its successful efforts to attract new industry and provide more jobs for local residents.

Although inflationary cost factors have forced the utility to seek a general rate increase, it is only the second increase in 17 years and the third since 1922.

Vepco is the third electric utility to be honored with the industry award. Previous winners were Florida Power Corp. (1970) and Sierra Pacific Power Co. (1969).

Electric Light & Power is a Cahners business publication with editorial offices in Boston. Cahners Publishing Company is the second largest publisher in the United States with diversified interests in magazines, books, group travel and trade shows.

Female Assault Charges Filed

An 18-year-old Virginia Beach resident is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday, Nov. 15 on eight felony charges and three misdemeanors concerning alleged attacks on young women.

Officials identified the suspect as Ernest G. Minns, of Coach House Road, Virginia Beach, reportedly charged with three counts of abduction, three charges of attempted rape, three counts of threatening bodily harm, and two counts of sodomy.

The charges arose from three separate incidents allegedly involving three young women ages 18 and 20, between September 21 and October 27. Each of the alleged attacks occurred between 9 p.m. and midnight.

Investigators said the victims were stopped by a male subject in an auto as they walked along Pacific and Atlantic Avenues, and asked for directions to various locations. As the victims attempted to answer questions the assailant reportedly forced them into the auto at pistol point.

The victims reportedly were then driven to remote locations adjacent to Shore Drive or General Booth Boulevard where they were forced to disrobe and assaulted.

Investigators said each of the victims were reportedly driven back to the point where they were forced into the auto and released.

The Vise Tightens

Today's City Council continually faces a tug-of-war between moral obligation and conscience. It is this internal struggle that forces approval of blanket housing in some areas, despite growing opposition from alarmed citizens, despite recognition of the inevitable problems and financial burdens such construction will create.

But the eleven men elected to the present council—five of whom assumed office for the first time less than fourteen months ago—are caught in a vise from which there is no apparent escape.

The large developments presently coming before the Planning Commission and City Council involve applications for use permits for construction of single family homes, townhouses, apartment units and duplexes, most of them blanketing hundreds of acres in the core of Virginia Beach.

But council is hesitant to deny issuance of the use permits when the property was rezoned for this use by councilmatic action some three, maybe five, years ago. Seldom is the option on large acreages consummated by sale until the developer clears its rezoning through official channels. The property is then purchased and the tax rate soars.

The developer is faced with the maintenance of this expensive investment until permits are issued for construction. In large projects, especially the Planned Unit Developments, the permits are sought in phases, the final phase reaching completion a number of years after the initial rezoning.

It is these phases of construction that now face council. There is a moral obligation to uphold the decisions of an earlier council, and today's councilmen struggled against their own consciences in approving housing they know the city is not yet prepared to service. If a plan of growth had been established at the time of the merger perhaps this dilemma would have been avoided. But progress, as with all development, is built on mistakes. Hopefully the leaders of tomorrow will benefit from the efforts of those today. For each week the vise gets tighter.

Maybe Next Election

Virginia Beach has come a long way in its electoral system. A large number of registration points have been established to encourage voter registration, the city is divided into many neighborhood precincts for the convenience of voting and, of course, voting machines have been installed in most precincts to expedite the procedure.

But a city of nearly one hundred and eighty thousand population, and one of this city's geographic size, should surely have one convenient location for the compilation of election returns.

Members of the local news media attempted to establish such a return center prior to Tuesday's General Election. The effort was made for several reasons. It would provide one central location for all the candidates and their supporters, rather than having them scattered throughout the city at individual campaign headquarters. It would perhaps promote more interest among the voters by providing a location where large numbers might share in the excitement of the compilation of returns from the precincts, where they might also share with the candidates their victory or defeat. And it would, of course, considerably simplify election news coverage.

The Civic Center was suggested because of its size, its parking accommodations and its easy-to-find location. The Clerk's office at City Hall, where the election board is now located, is cramped for space (it cannot accommodate the candidates, supporters, news media, workers, etc.) and is not conveniently located to attract the public.

City officials unofficially favored the suggestion and a search of the City Budget showed that funds were available to cover the expense involved. Encouraged by this support, newsmen appealed to the Electoral Board and, in letters to its chairman, asked that an election return center be established for the convenience of the candidates, voting public, news media and all interested persons.

There was no reply from the board. The suggestion apparently was ignored. Tuesday's election was handled as usual.

But there is merit to the suggestion and it hopefully will not always fall on deaf ears. This city is large enough to warrant an election return headquarters. Perhaps it will be considered favorably before next fall.

A Little Drama

It was early morning, not yet daylight. The neighborhood was quiet. Scarcely a sound disturbed the eerie silence. Only street lights and continually changing traffic lights broke the pre-dawn darkness.

The patrol car eased its way along the street, its motor almost muffled as if to preserve the silence.

Suddenly the gruff barking of a dog broke the peaceful stillness and a large St. Bernard loomed beside the car, trying to interest its driver in a game of tag.

The police car inched along. Backed up. Eased ahead. Finally came to a stop. The dog, still a puppy despite his size, was delighted. He frolicked, and jumped and used all his canine charm in luring his newfound out of the car to play.

His efforts were rewarded. The patrolman stepped from the car, patted the dog's head, engaged in a little roughhousing, gave him the attention he so eagerly sought.

The officer started to leave, looked at the happy pup, then changed his mind. He walked, instead, to the only lighted house in the neighborhood and asked where the dog lived.

Next door, he was told.

"I sure hate to leave him out on the street. He's a good dog, a really fine animal. Somebody will pick him up before the night's over."

A second patrol car arrived. Then a third. "What's wrong?" the new arrivals asked. The pup's friend explained the situation. The officers held a quick conference and the first officer walked to the pup's house, found the porch door unlocked and returned the overgrown puppy to safekeeping.

The three cars moved away from the curb; the drivers resumed their lonely patrol. The darkness and silence once again was undisturbed.

It was just a little drama, an insignificant happening, really. But it exposed the character of three men, men trained to seek out and apprehend and enforce, men faced with and capable of violence, men supposedly hardened to the mistakes and tragedies of human beings.

But in the pre-dawn stillness, three officers were exposed for what they really are, men of compassion for the helpless, gentle and kind despite the cruelties of life. Only one person saw the drama. More people should have seen it. It was heart-warming. And encouraging.

"I SAID, CUT SPENDING!"

D. C. CURRENT

BY CYRENE DEAR

Denver is a big, sprawling city reaching from the plains to the Rocky Mountain foothills. The federal government has moved in with its highest branch of the U.S. Treasury, the aerospace industry and of course the military base. The prediction is that it will not be long before the road from Denver to Colorado Springs will be one continuous city. Several suburbs have already been annexed to Denver County.

This was a nostalgic visit with old friends and family. There was a reunion with two colleagues from the early days when we worked together at the Colorado Tuberculosis Association. One of them had written a history of those days and we enjoyed reading about our pioneer work in covering the 63 counties, organizing the Modern Health Crusade in the schools, and placing public health nurses in some of those primitive counties.

Our fight against tuberculosis brought results as we publicized the fact that Colorado's wonderful climate alone would not cure the indigent, lonely patient who arrived in the last stages of the disease. In those days the state had many sanatoria but now there are none typical of the old types. Patients now remain in their own states, near their homes, and tuberculosis is now treated with drugs which can arrest and cure the illness.

We talked about the Traveling Clinics in which we participated. The team was composed of a member from the Extension Division of the University of Colorado, a Denver pediatrician, a nurse from the State Board of Health, a social worker from the State Department of Child Welfare, and a staff member of the Colorado Tuberculosis Association.

The local arrangements were set up by the county superintendent of schools and other community organizations. Parents brought their children to be weighed and measured and examined by the visiting pediatrician. The results were discussed and talks on nutrition with slides were given in the evening.

Little did we realize at the time that we were truly pioneers and were laying the groundwork for the modern health facilities now functioning in Colorado. Transportation was limited, but we had free passes on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, but often we had to hitch rides with anyone driving from one little town to the other. Those were the days when one trusted stranger and the red double-barred crosses on our lapels were a protection.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

I want to thank Mrs. Edward Craun for expressing her view (V.B. Sun Oct. 7, 1971) on Virginia Beach's sign lined streets—or "Plastic Fantastic" as I heard a number of tourists comment.

I recently moved here from Brighton, New York (a suburb of Rochester) where an ordinance, similar to the one Mrs. Craun spoke of in Loudoun County, Virginia, was passed. All signs are attached to the building—NO signs at the curbs.

Virginia Beach Boulevard from Ocean front to Norfolk also has this vulgar, depressing "Honky Tonk" display.

Plastic Fantastic is for plastic people—and to use an old cliché: "something should be done about it!"

I love Tidewater—but I am ashamed to drive past all the sign pollution with any of my out-of-town guests. I always avoid the honky-tonk stores—because I don't want no honky-tonk deal.

Sincerely,

James S. Kover

ROSE: A BIOGRAPHY OF ROSE FITZGERALD KENNEDY, BY GAIL CAMERON. NEW YORK, PUTNAM, 1971. $6.95.

The author of this extremely interesting biography began covering the Kennedys as a reporter for Life Magazine 10 years ago. Consequently she is well qualified to write about the family.

(Even if you are not a biography buff, you will enjoy reading about Rose Kennedy, and the easy style of the book makes it read much like a novel. In fact, you could contrive to invent the happenings and tragedies that have beset the Kennedy clan.)

There has been a great deal of material published about the Kennedys, but this is the first intimate look into Rose Kennedy's life and her heritage from her famous father "Honey Fitz." His philosophy of "working harder than anyone else" was handed down and used as her pattern.

Her deep faith in God has sustained her over the years, but she has something else—the ability to think instinctively in

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

By W. A. Leavell

What has been around for over 131 million years, colored light grey to black, has a long snout, 50 teeth and large round black eyes? Can't think of an animal like that? Well it walks with an alligator-like gait, gives birth to three, litters of 25-50 a year and has a tail at least six inches long when grown.

While they don't look much alike, the monkey descended from one of these strange creatures.

STILL can't figure out what it is. Lets see, when grown they are about two and a half feet long. Their fur can be made into coats. The fur is real soft and even makes beautiful furniture covering.

Need a few more clues? It can hang by its tail, it carries its young on its back and its offspring spend their embryonic stage in a pouch on the mother's stomach. This makes them very valuable for medical experimentation.

Come on now, you are not trying. This unusual little animal has an international organization dedicated to its well being and continued growth and happiness. When parboiled and baked with sweet potatoes it is considered a delicacy in many places.

The "sweet potato" association should have done it. By this time you no doubt know I am talking about the possum. It is sometimes called by its formal name of "o'possum." Even with the "O" it is not Irish.

THOSE OF YOU who are not animal lovers or from the country might not be on first name terms with the possum but you will remember that its name is often associated with playing dead or playing "possum" as it is called.

One of the major defenses of the wonderful possum is to hold its breath and put on a show of being dead. When attacked it can do this with such success that the attacker will often leave it alone and go on about its business. After a while the crafty possum just gets up and walks off.

In case you didn't know it, the Possum Growers & Breeders Association of America, Inc., located in Clanton, Ala., has declared an international possum week and they plan an international possum fair in honor of the occasion.

THE PRESIDENT of this association is Mr. Frank B. Clark and he claims they have some 11,000 members. Their slogan is "The registered possum is a better possum." It costs $5 to belong to the P.G.B.A.A. and they have members not only in the United States but in Canada and Mexico.

When you join the group you not only get a membership card and a certificate, you get an auto bumper tag that says "EAT MORE POSSUM."

Don't laugh at the members of this international organization. President Nixon and several governors are on the list. Somehow I can't see President Nixon as being a possum lover or even knowing what one looks like but our politicians are known to do strange things, so I never doubt anything anyone tells me about them.

According to Mr. Clark, the possum has great potential. He sees possum ranching becoming more popular than cattle ranching. In order to help this goal along the P.G.B.A.A. is trying to develop improved breeding stock.

At the coming possum fair they plan to have possum judging contests. Mr. Clark says that those judged will be compared with the great Beauregard I, son of Erasthose IV, the world's most perfect possum. Old Beauregard I belongs to Mr. Clark who says he wouldn't take $100,000 for him.

ONE OF the goals of the P.G.B.A.A. group is to have the eagle made ineligible to be the symbol of our country so this honor can go the mighty Possum. Mr. Clark says:

"What's an eagle ever done for you? We're gonna put the possum up there where it belongs."

You know something the possum sounds like it would make a good politician. A politician can play dead when things go wrong only in surface again when things quiet down.

They have been around almost as long as Mr. Possum. I think some of them swing by their tails. The only thing is that our politicians are not good cooked with sweet potatoes.

BADGER BANTER

By Lea Leigh

Men of the Kempville Volunteer Fire Department elected new officers Tuesday night. Those who will guide the units operation during the coming year are: Stuart Buxbaum, Chief; Graham White, 1st Asst.; Bruce Brinkley, 2nd Asst.; Paul Hershberger, 3rd Asst.; Douglas Sawyer, 1st Capt.; Dan Humphries, 2nd Capt.; Ray Long, 3rd Capt.; Walter Wales, Pres.; Leonard Thorpe, Vice Pres.; Len Moss, Sec.; Jim Richard, Treas.; and Bill Lackey, Chaplain. Paul Hershberger, Dan Humphries, Ray Long, and Douglas Sawyer were also elected to the Board of Directors.

A new name was added to the Virginia Beach police duty roster this week. Officer Robert J. Denny began duty with the 3rd Police Precinct.

Young men of the Plaza Volunteer Fire Department Junior Squad devoted Halloween night to treating youngsters less fortunate than themselves. They visited youngsters at Beach General Hospital and Hope Haven on North Landing Road and distributed snacks of candy and jack-o-lanterns.

Congratulations are in order for Mrs. Moleen Cartwright who has been employed for some time in the City Managers office. Mrs. Cartwright will assume duties Nov. 15th as secretary to recently appointed City Chief E.B. "Bubba" Bayne.

Tim McClanahan, SUN Circulation Manager, this week was assured of the close surveillance which police are maintaining for protection of the office. Working alone in the building at approximately 4 a.m. last Thursday morning Tim went to the rear of the building to investigate a noise.

When he raised the door at the rear entrance of the building he was confronted by a police officer who stopped outside while making routine patrol who quietly informed him, "I better know you, sir."

interesting conversationalist, has written essentially a biography of her career, including as well glimpses of close friends, acquaintances and business associates. Gordon first came to attention in 1915, when she appeared in Peter Pan, with Maude Adams. From that beginning, which earned her the valuable approval of Alexander Woolcott, she went to such plays as The Three Sisters, Doll's House, Ethan Frome and The Country Wife. Her movie career has included films such as Rosemary's Baby and Inside Daisy Clover. She is the author, or co-author, with husband Garson Kanin, of several stage and screenplays.

Landscaping Projects Complete

At Hospital

Landscaping of the grounds at General Hospital of Virginia Beach by the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach was completed last week.

"Except for minor items and additional plantings that may be done in the Memorial Gardens from contributions in memory of loved ones, the project is complete," Mrs. Gilmore Lee Tilbrook, chairman said.

Started in 1965 as a club project, over $6,000 was contributed by the Council and its various member clubs.

The community at large has contributed over $10,000 toward landscaping the hospital. Donations have come from the Woman's Auxiliary to the Hospital, from civic groups and from many individuals. Notable is the contribution from Ward Ellis for landscaping of the new entrance court, given in memory of his wife.

Mrs. Tilbrook noted that the great need of the hospital in the community was proven when it was enlarged twice. "This added to our original project and also delayed it during construction of the additions," she said.

Mrs. Arthur Winder was co-chairman of the landscaping project and Mrs. Robert Turnbull, committee member.

At Mental Center

Through the generosity of Beach women's clubs, the landscaping of the Atlantic Mental Hygiene Center on Wildwood Drive, has been completed.

With the donation of $250 last week from the Junior Virginia Beach Garden Club, the final phase is complete, bringing total contributions to over $1,200.

Others who made the landscaping possible include Birdneck Point Garden Club, Linkhorn Park Garden Club, Tidewater Association of Home Builders, Women's Auxiliary.

Additional funds, while not specifically marked for landscaping, did, nevertheless, assist the initial phases of the project, and came from the Princess Anne Woman's Club, Cavalier Junior Woman's Club, Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club and Ocean Park Woman's Club.

With the contributions, the Center was able to grade, seed and fertilize the lawns around the building, complete holly and other flowering shrubs plantings, plant oak, cherry, pine and crape myrtle trees.

The Atlantic Mental Hygiene Center is the only city-state supported mental health clinic available to Beach residents. The all-purpose psychiatric outpatient clinic has as its purpose the diagnosis and treatment of emotional problems and mental illness.

It is prepared to serve any Virginia Beach resident, both children and adults, who can be treated on an outpatient basis. A sliding scale based on family income and number in the family allows the patient to pay only what he can afford.

Try A Cancer-Born To Run A Nursery

By Thelma Barrett

Living Art-A stern, no-nonsense businessman I know accidentally let slip he's a do-gooder. His do-gooder? One block from his office is a traffic light and each evening he can choose to trip a plate in the ground and change the light in his favor. But instead he chooses to turn into a feeder road and ease himself into the traffic several blocks further on.

The four lanes of traffic that purr uninterrupted on their way have no idea they have a secret benefactor. People helping people without fanfare. (Gives you goose bumps, doesn't it?)

ASTROLINE-Looking for a top banana to run a nursery or children's school? Try to latch on to a Cancer-born. Her imagination, sympathy and patience plus her enthusiasm should make her a good choice for almost any kind of work with children. So suggest the stargazers.

DREAMPODGE-Should you take a dream literally? Almost never, say top researchers. An example is the woman who dreamed her baby turned into a turkey and she was stuffing it and getting ready to shove it into the oven. Horrified by the dream she ran to a psychiatrist. His advice? "Hire a baby sitter and get out more with your husband."

Break down the dream and it makes sense. Start with the turkey—a noisy, helpless creature—as the baby. The mother wanted to stuff it and shove it into the oven. We "stuff" our ears, "stuff" a mouth, etc., to bring quiet. When something is "shoved in the oven" there's love and care usually involved but we're relatively free of responsibility while it's baking. Making any sense? Join the club. I'm still working on a two year old dream of my own!

GLUM TIERED-Ever wonder why you seem to be extra fatigued after a long-faced day? Maybe it's because 55 muscles had to work to hold that long face in place. A report by a top beauty authority claims it takes a full complement of facial muscles to create a tense, anxious or annoyed expression. But the greatest face lift in the world—a smile—uses only 13 muscles. (Up, up with those mouth corners!)

CAYCE QUIZ 88 "Is there any significance to our dreams?"

A "...to every normal body with a developing mind, often these conditions are presented through the subconscious—during the sleeping state—wherein truths are given, visions are seen of things to be warned of and taken advantage of..." (304-94)

ECOLOGY CAN-DO—From a little idea-packed handbook on saving the environment comes this tip for the concerned housewife: Don't use colored household tissues, paper towels, toilet paper. The paper dissolves but the dye stays on, polluting soil and water.

Thelma Barrett welcomes questions and will answer them in this column.

Dr. Manning To Speak To Hospital Auxiliary

Dr. Robert T. Manning will be guest speaker at the general meeting of the Auxiliary to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach on November 9 at 2:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the North Wing meeting room. All Auxiliary members and interested guests are invited to attend.

Dr. Manning, of Kansas City, assumed the position of Dean of the new Eastern Virginia Medical School on June 1. He has been instrumental in developing the concept for this unique school and has worked toward its accreditation by the Liaison Committee of the Association of American Medical Colleges and the American Medical Association. The site for the school will be achieved elsewhere.

Luanne Christian Weds Alan David Gaskins

Miss Luanne Marie Christian Alan David Gaskins were married October 30 at 2 p.m. at LeKies United Methodist Church in a double ring formal ceremony. The Rev. Marcus Bloodworth officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peter Christian of the Beach. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Gaskins, Jr., also of the Beach.

The bride was escorted by her father. Her gown was white with a taffeta underskirt. The sleeves were full with lace cuffs. A cathedral length veil was trimmed in rose patterned lace, matching the gown. She carried a white miniature carnation cascade with a white orchid corsage in the center.

Mrs. Nancy Christian Holt, sister of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a full length gathered dark green velvet skirt with an antique satin blouse.

Miss Bonnie Carol Fagan was the bridesmaid. Her gown was full length, with gathered gold velvet skirt with an antique satin blouse.

Philip Michael Gaskins, brother of the groom was best man. The ushers were Anthony L. Messina and James N. Moody, Jr.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the bride's home. After a wedding trip to the mountains the couple will live at the Washington Square Townhouses at the Beach.

The bride is a graduate of Floyd E. Kellam High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Frank W. Cox High School. He attended Old Dominion University.

Medical Assistants Organize Virginia Beach Chapter

Presidents All

Mrs. Ruth Dize, center, president of the Virginia Chapter, AAMA and speaker at the reception at Medcenter, goes over some notes with Mrs. Myrtle Ingvaldsen, president of the Beach Chapter, left, and Mrs. Macel Wisecarver, president of the Tidewater Association of Medical Assistants.

The American Association of Medical Assistants, Inc., Tidewater Chapter held a meeting and reception last week at the Medcenter to organize a Virginia Beach Chapter.

Mrs. Macel Wisecarver, president of the Tidewater Chapter, said that the first business meeting will take place in two weeks.

Serving as officers of the Virginia Beach Chapter are Mrs. Myrtle Ingvaldsen, president; Mrs. Wisecarver, president elect (she will relinquish her Tidewater presidency later); Mrs. Sylvia Massey, vice president; Miss Charlene Baumeister, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Martin, recording secretary; Mrs. Eleanor Relaner, corresponding secretary.

"We felt it was time for the Beach to have its own organization," Mrs. Wisecarver said noting the great growth of the medical complex in the area.

The association has the wholehearted endorsement of the Virginia Beach Medical Society, she said, adding that they pledged full support to the endeavor.

Members have a Certification

Program which is comparable to the Nursing Board or a Technicians Registry. AAMA is a professional association, not only for medical assistants, but for secretaries, nurses, technicians, bookkeepers or receptionists in a physician's office or other medical facility.

"The purpose of the organization is primarily education... self-education, to make us better medical assistants, more efficient help for our physician employers and better informed citizens of the community," Mrs. Wisecarver said.

At the organizational meeting, Mrs. Ruth Dize, president of the Virginia Association of Medical Assistants and immediate past president of AAMA, spoke regarding the benefits attained as members.

On November 7, she and Mrs. Wisecarver will leave for a National Convention in Atlanta, where they will represent the state of Virginia.

Advisers of the Virginia Beach Chapter are Dr. Francis Griffin, Dr. N. Turner Gray, Dr. John P. Clarke and Dr. John H. Trant, 111.

Congratulations

Mrs. Edna Koller, left, and Mildred Swartzentruber, right, congratulate Mrs. Sylvia Massey, elected vice president of the Beach Chapter.

World Community Day

World Community Day will be celebrated November 5 at 11 a.m. at First Baptist Church. It will be sponsored by Church Women United-Virginia Beach. A nursery will be provided and luncheon will be served.

A second celebration, for working members and friends, will be at Seateck Community Center, 141 Birdneck Road., at 8 p.m.

The theme is "Build a new earth - if we are stewards." To symbolize the neglect of our environment, members will offer silent testimony by placing the rubbish that they collect on the way to the meeting to build a rubbish sculpture.

Speakers will be the Rev. Mildred Long, minister, Lynhaven United Methodist Church; the Rev. Michael Schmied, associate pastor of Blessed Sacrament Church.

Local projects of Church Women United include Citizens Concerned about the Virginia Beach Jail. The women are also devoted to the needs in Seateck through Project Friendship, and they are specifically working toward securing a Child Day Care Center.

Short term goals of the Citizens Concerned about the Jail include: Visitation Room, Bookmobile, Distributive Education courses, exercise yard, regular visitation by Virginia Beach ministers and counseling for employment.

Cox Edges Bookers 9-6

The Cox Falcons edged a surprisingly tough Booker T. Washington football team 9-6 Friday night. The victory evened the Falcon record at 4-1, and the loss gives Booker T. a 6-7 mark.

Booker T. scored first and led 6-0 at halftime. Fred Clark took the ball in from the one, capping a 65 yard march late in the second quarter. The conversion failed, but the six point lead stood up until the game was six minutes from finished.

In the fourth quarter Allan-

Williams, a quarterback who was playing in the halfback slot, took a handoff from quarterback Chuck Noe and passed 16 yards to Perry Hill for the score. The point-after conversion kick failed, but the Falcons had tied the Bookers at 6-6.

Cox held the Bookers at their own nine and took possession of the football with just under two minutes left in the game and 91 yards to go for a winning tally. Aided by two pass interference penalties and an un-against the Booker T. coach, Cox was at the Booker T. 10 yard stripe with just 10 seconds left in the contest.

Brooks Williams then went from goat to hero when his 20 yard boot sailed through the uprights for a field goal and the lead, 9-6. Williams had missed the point after conversion kick just six minutes earlier. Usually an accurate conversion kicker, Williams was destined to become the scapegoat of the game for missing the winning conversion point attempt. But,

Williams chose to make the game dramatic until the very end and wound up the hero of the night. The field goal was the first 3-point kick ever made by Brooks Williams.

Noe completed 5 out of 10 passes and Allan Williams connected on 4 of 8, for a combined effort of 71 yards. The Cox backs managed only 49 yards on the muddy field, giving the Falcons 120 yards offensively for the game.

Lake Taylor Stops Princess Anne 14-0

In a game spattered with mud, rain, and 10 turnovers, the Lake Taylor Titans emerged on top of the Princess Anne Cavaliers 14-0. Statistically, the game was not as one-sided as the score indicates, but the Cavaliers lost three fumbles and had four passes picked off by an alert Titan defense.

Lake Taylor scored a touchdown in each of the first two quarters, added two conversion kicks, and hung on for the last half of the contest. The Titans drove in after taking the opening kickoff for their first score. Their second resulted from a blocked punt on the Cavalier 45 yard stripe.

The Princess Anne defense did an exceptional job containing the explosive Titan backfield. The Cavaliers limited Lake Taylor to only 86 yards rushing and 72 yards passing, for the lowest offensive output of the season for the Titans in total yardage. The two top Titan rushers were virtually stopped by the tenacious Cavalier defensive unit. Leon Jones managed only 21 yards in 17 attempts, and Jones was held to a meager 49 yards in 18 carries. The Cavalier defensive secondary picked off three Titan aeriels, with Mark Wilcox getting two and Danny Allen one.

Cavalier Coach John Grady had high praise for his defensive unit. "They did an outstanding job in holding Lake Taylor's backs to 86 yards rushing. Our defensive guards and linebackers, in particular, turned in an exceptionally fine game."

The Cavaliers gained 114 yards passing, but the mud and a tough Titan defense held the Princess Anne rushing game to only 16 yards. Quarterback Mike Ange connected on 9 of 15 pass attempts for 110 yards. Other offensive standouts for the Cavaliers were Joe Roenker and David Van Petten. Van Petten hauled in five of Ange's passes.

First Colonial Loses 9-7

Once the game got going, it was a real thriller right down to the final gun. After a scoreless first half, the offensive units of Maury and First Colonial came to life for 16 points. Maury had two more than First Colonial and won the game 9-7 before one of the largest crowds ever to pile on Foreman Field for a regular season high football contest.

The first half was a classic defensive struggle. In the first quarter, Scott Davidson recovered a Maury fumble on Maury's 30 yard line. But, seconds later, the Patriots fumbled it right back at the 26. A minute later, Patriot George Myers fell on the Maury fumble at the 35. Five plays later, as the second quarter got underway, First Colonial fumbled the ball back to Maury on the 22. And so went the first half. Maury got no closer to the Patriot goal than the 40 yard line, while First Colonial failed to penetrate deeper than the 32.

Maury took the opening kickoff of the second half 32 yards for a touchdown, with George Woodhouse taking a 35 yard Dutch Schultz pass in for the score. A penalty nullified the two-point conversion on the first try, and Maury failed the second time around, but led 6-0.

Chris Paphites took the kickoff on his own 15 and returned it to the 36 yard line to begin an 85 yard Patriot scoring drive. On first and goal at the five yard stripe, quarterback Butch Foley went through a big hole off center and scored to tie things up 6 apiece. The Patriots went wild when Foley's conversion boot split the uprights and sent their team into a one-point lead, 7-6.

Early in the fourth quarter, Maury drove to the Patriot 38 yard line where a stiffened First Colonial defense held on downs and took possession of the ball. Then the break that Maury needed happened. A holding penalty put the Patriots deep in their own territory on the 13 yard line. Trying to avoid a fumble deep in their own territory, the Patriots punted on third down. The 35 yard punt was caught at midfield by Donnell Leigh and returned to the Patriot 25 yard line. With 1:25 left in the game, Bryon Brown kicked the first field goal of his life, and the 25 yard boot sent the Commodores into a slim two-point lead, 9-7.

Paphites took the kickoff again and returned it to the Commodore 43 with 1:19 left to play. An unoppositional conduct call gave the Patriots the ball on Maury's 28 and a first down. Visions of a Foley field goal and victory were streaming through the minds of 5,000 Patriot fans, but the hopes were squelched by a blitting Commodore defense that drove the Patriots back to the 44 and took over the ball on downs, saving the victory for Maury.

A tough Maury defense held the Patriots to a minus one yard rushing figure for the game. Foley was caught behind the line several times and lost 55 yards in 16 carries. Leading rusher for the Patriots was fullback Don Pulley, who carried 8 times for 44 yards. Joe Williams managed only 8 yards in three carries, Butch Foley carried twice for no gain, and Tyrone Little lost two yards in three tries.

Foley completed 5 of 10 passes for 56 yards. Bill Barnett caught 2 for 26 yards, Foley grabbed one for 7 yards, and Mike O'Reilly got the other two for 28 yards.

The First Colonial defense was led by George Myers, Jay Knight, Rick Romano, Tom Stovall, David Bradshaw, Scott Davidson, Jerry Pontes, Butch Foley, Mike Wareing; Joe Williams, and Richard Hogue. Davidson and Myers had fumble recoveries to their credit. The Patriot defensemen held the highly regarded George Woodhouse to his low for the season, 67 yards in 22 carries, proving that the likes of Woodhouse and Hampton's Alex Hill can be stopped with desire and good defensive training.

Norview's Magic Wand Goes "Poof" As Bayside Rolls In 13-0 Shutout

Granby Blanks Kellam 30-0

Kellam fell victim Saturday to an improving Granby football team by a lopsided 30-0 score. After a disastrous start, the much-improved Granby Comets have evened their record at 4-4. Kellam has not won a game since the season opener against Oscar Smith and now sports the lone victory in eight tries.

Before a homecoming crowd at Kellam, the Knights could do nothing right and the Comets could do no wrong. The area's leading passer, Bobby Vitok of Granby, hit on 5 of 10 pass at-Katterheirich's 2 carries netted 3 yards, and Gerald Jackson picked up 7 yards in 3 attempts. Kellam, however, got 9 first downs in the contest, one less than did Granby.

The Kellam defensive unit was led by tackle George Irby. Irby was in on 8 tackles. Mike Tate contributed 7 tackles, Tim Terry 4, and Kim Brown 3. Steve Boggs, David Marquette, Scott Layden, Isom Young, and Tom Currin made key stops. Layden also recovered a fumble on a punt at Granby's 46 yard

Coach Bob Hicks broke Bob Tate's magic "poof wand" over his knee before game time Friday night, and Hicks' Bayside Marlins shutout a tough Norview team that was unbeaten in District play with a onesided 13-0 score. The victory gives Bayside five wins in their eight starts.

Victory was particularly sweet to Coach Hicks. The 13-0 Norview humiliation was before a homecoming crowd, and it marked the first time Bayside has beaten the Pilots. "This game was worth a million dollars," Coach Hicks commented after the action-packed contest. "I remember year before last when they beat us 52-6. This shutout was beautiful."

It looked as if muddy Chittum Field was going to be the victor right up to the end of the first half. For most of the first two quarters, the two teams did little more than slip and slide up and down the field. But with 40 seconds to play in the first half, the Marlins were on the Norview 33 on a fourth down and 12 play.

As Bayside fans are coming to expect, the Marlins came through with the big play. This time it was a 15 yard pass from quarterback Tom Chipok to speedster Roger Baxter. With only 12 seconds remaining, another Chipok to Baxter pass carried the ball to the Norview 5 yard marker. Baxter then dove over center for a 3 yard gain, putting the ball on the two yard line with just two seconds left in the half. With the fans going wild and the team fired up, Chipok handed off to Baxter again, and Baxter drove over center for the touchdown. Thod Harold kicked the conversion, and the Marlins went into the locker room leading 7-0.

Although they did not really need it, Bayside added another touchdown for insurance purposes with 4:47 left in the third quarter. Chipok scrambled around end for nine yards and six points, vaulting the Marlins ahead 13-0. The conversion boot missed, and scoring for the game came to a halt.

Commenting on the wet weather and the game plan at halftime, Coach Hicks stated, "It's too wet to make any changes in our plans." Thus, the Marlins stuck to the ground. And stuck to the ground they did. While the Pilots were slipping and sliding for only 32 rushing yards for the game, the sure-footed Marlins were racking up 186 yards in the muck.

The rain hampered Bayside's aerial antics, and Chipok only attempted eight passes during the game, completing three for 31 yards. The Pilots picked up 56 yards through the air on quarterback Allen Rose's four completions in twelve tries.

The Bayside defense did an outstanding job by refusing to allow Norview any substantial gains. The defense-toughened Marlins allowed the explosive Pilot offensive unit only six first downs in the game, and only one in the final half. Norview penetrated to the Bayside 5 yard stripe in their most serious drive of the evening, but the Bayside defense stiffened and drove them back to the 15 where they took over the ball on downs. The Bayside coaching staff cited Mike Kelley and Don Harold for doing an exceptional job on defense. Kelley intercepted a Norview pass on his own 50 yard line to stop a Pilot drive with a little over two minutes left in the game.

Sharing offensive honors with quarterback Tom Chipok and back Roger Baxter was Marlin fullback Mike Kelley. Kelley rushed for 70 yards in 19 tries, keeping Marlin drives alive throughout the game.

The game produced a near-phenomenon by being completed with almost no rule infractions. The only penalty of the game came near the end of the third quarter when Norview was assessed five yards for being offside.

Bayside dominated the statistics as well as the final score. Racking up 13 first downs to Norview's 6, the Marlins wound up with 216 total offensive yards for the contest, 186 rushing and 31 passing. Norview managed only 60 yards offensively, 32 by land and 28 by air. The stubborn Bayside defensive unit held Norview star back Thurman Biggs to his lowest output of the season.

Kempsville Upsets I.R. 14-6

A great over-all team effort led the upset-minded Kempsville Chiefs to a stunning victory over the Indian River Chiefs 14-6 Monday night. Tracy Moon, head football coach for the Chiefs, called the win "the best team effort of the season."

Chief quarterback Billy Paschall led the offensive charge, completing 14 of 25 aerials for 228 yards. Two of Paschall's tosses were for touchdowns, and he rushed for 16 yards in 6 carries as well. Brian Catlin led the Kempsville rushing attack with 31 yards in 9 carries, and Julius Hurdle added nine yards in four tries.

Leading the receivers for Kempsville was Bill "Bo" Barber. Barber hauled in five Paschall passes for 130 yards. Don Hauck caught 4 aerials for 42 yards and a touchdown. Brian Catlin caught 3 for 27 yards, and Bill Dragas snagged one for 27 yards. Greg Brinkley caught one pass for three yards, but it was for a 6-point score.

Kempsville scored first in the first quarter. Paschall passed 5 yards to Greg Brinkley for a touchdown. Bob Taylor booted the conversion, and the Chiefs leaped in front 7-0. Rudy Harper put the Indian River Braves on the scoreboard in the second quarter when he ran the ball into the end zone from five yards out. A two-point conversion pass attempt failed, and the half ended with Kempsville in front 7-6.

The rest of the game was a defensive battle with neither team crossing the goal line until near the end of the game. With 23 seconds left on the clock, a Paschall pass fell into the arms of Don Hauck, who was standing all alone in the end zone. Another Taylor conversion kick followed, and the Chiefs went home with a 14-6 triumph.

Kempsville displayed what was possibly their best defensive effort of the year. Coach Moon credited the improved defense to his two assistant coaches, terming "Coach Barlow and Coach Parker the two best assistants coaches in the area" and adding that "both of them should be head coaches."

The Chiefs yielded only 25 yards through the aid and held the dangerous Indian River backs to 145 yards rushing. The Chiefs stiffened when they had to, stopping the Braves with key losses to thwart drives. Indian River managed to get no deeper than the 40 yard stripe of Kempsville in the second half. Ricky Deglow, Harold Costner, and Don Hauck led the defensive unit. Deglow dropped

Here comes the football! Heading for open turf, Kempsville's Bill Dragas turns for a Bill Paschall pass, grabs it, and streaks for 27 yards.

Old Timer's Day

Saturday is Old Timer's Day at Chowan College in Murfreesboro, North Carolina. The first Old Timer's Day at the college will feature players and coaches from previous Brave football squads. Before the Chowan-Wesley football clash at 8 p.m., the "old timer's" will have a chance to talk over old times at various events during the day.

Earl Dilday, Associate Dean of Students, wants all former Chowan football players to attend. Although there might be more, Dilday said current records show three former Braves now living in Virginia Beach. They are Charles R. Brinkley, William Carter, and Cammie T. Brinson.

A "happy hour" in the President's Room of Thomas Cafeteria kicks things off at 3:30 p.m., and a tour of the campus will follow. College President Bruce Whitaker will host a dinner for all former Braves and their families at 8:30 p.m. tempts for 128 yards and handed off to backs Red Paige, Leonard Tatum, and Jimmy Tatum for 113 yards rushing. Kellam quarterbacks, Keith Rieger and Chuck Edwards, completed five of 22 attempts for 54 yards and had three to fall into enemy hands. The Kellam backs managed 83 yards rushing, being led by Clinton Cuffee's 39 yards in 6 carries.

Mike Delullo gained 14 yards in 7 carries, Joe Shray had 3 yards in 6 tries, Chuck Edwards carried 3 times for 10 yards, Bob line, but the Knight offense could not take advantage of it.

Kellam Coach John Cooke credited the loss to a defensive breakdown. "After two good defensive games, we just fell apart. We could not do anything right. Even the offense couldn't move the ball. We were in good scoring position a number of times, but we just could not move the ball across the goal line." Two Granby scores came after a Comet defender intercepted a Kellam pass, ending two scoring drives.

Plaza Jr. 30-0 Over Kellam Jr. J.V.

The Plaza Junior High School Trojans blanked the Kellam Jr. Junior Varsity 30-0 in their homecoming game Saturday afternoon. Coach Chuck Snyder credited both the Trojan offensive and defensive units with doing an outstanding job in shutting out the Knights.

Trojan touchdowns were scored by Steve Scarcelli, Barry Cornick, Willie Lynch, and Charles Skipper. Scarcelli took a 40 yard Tim Cahill pass in for the score. Cornick scored on a 30 yard pass from Charlie Ferguson. Lynch scored on a two yard run, and Skipper took the ball in from the one. Cornick and David Anderson hauled in passes from Cahill for two-point conversions, and Mike Hogue booted two conversions to round out the score at an even 30 points.

Coach Snyder praised defensive tackle Lavern Forbes and Gene Elford, who intercepted a pass that led to a score, for their defensive work. Receiving praise on the offensive unit were Cahill, Scarcelli, Cornick, Lynch, Skipper, Hogue, Anderson, George Cashwell, and Jim Britt. Cahill completed 5 of his 6 pass attempts.

Homecoming committee chairman Brenda Clark headed the SCA sponsored festivities at halftime. Ninth-grader Terri Fortalezza was crowned queen.

Her court was made up of Karen Gams and Rena Neary from the ninth and Shelyn Hawkins and Rhonda Maddox from the eighth grade. They were escorted by Clyde Cherry, Joe Cherry, John Shray, Patrick Sullivan, and Doug Witt. This was the second homecoming held at the two year old school.

Call the Norfolk YMCA at 622-6328 if you are interested in the fall swim classes that are now forming. The five week course is co-ed and for beginners and poor swimmers 17 and older. The pool at the Norfolk Central YMCA will be the scene of the Tuesday and Thursday classes from 6-7 p.m., beginning on November 9th.

The public relations office at Norfolk State College says that tickets are going fast for the Norfolk State-Drambling football game coming up on November 13th at Foreman Field. Tickets for the 1:30 p.m. game can be purchased at the Norfolk State College business office or at the Pembroke Mall Sears store. Drambling has an exciting football team, and a great percentage of its graduates are playing on NFL teams.

The Wings will play their first "home" game in Scope on November 24th, meeting the close rival Richmond Robins. November 26th will be Ladies' Night, and the Wings will be giving away ten wigs to some lucky ladies. Support the Wings. Let's keep exciting ice hockey in Tidewater.

Can our Squires score 217 points in a regulation basketball game? They could if each player could shoot his game high every ballgame. In his best night for the first ten Squire battles, Scott scored a high of 47 points, Irving 30, Sojourner 20, Johnson 24, Eakins 20, Williams 14, Taylor 14, Smith 13, Irvine 13, Moe 9, and Bunting 4. If they could put it all together, that would be 217 points per game. With that, they could "take it all."

3,507 fishing citations have been won by anglers in the Virginia Salt Water Fishing Tournament. Two Virginia Beach residents lead in their classes. Sue Smith's 60 pound dolphin, and J.W. Cole's 81 pound 5 ounce white mullet are tops to date.

Old Donation Elementary School youngsters sit enthralled during the National Education Week play "The Little Old Man Who Could Not Read."

Old Donation Stages Play

National Education Week at Old Donation Elementary School ended with a play put on by the fourth and fifth grade students last Friday morning. The play, "The Little Old Man Who Could Not Read," illustrated the necessity for learning to read.

The lead roles were played by fifth graders David Zeljevac, the Little Old Man, Sheila Reed, the Little Old Woman, and Jackie Osborne, their pet cat. The students made their own props during art classes, and their costumes ranged from toys to grocery items. Two weeks of rehearsal went into the production, which was enjoyed thoroughly by a capacity house made up of parents and fellow students.

Mrs. Rowe Jenkins, Mrs. Gail Barvee, Mrs. Mary Badali, Mrs. Diane Johnson, and Mrs. Georgia Parks, all fourth and fifth grade teachers, were in charge of the production.

Beer In Home Results In Arrests

Officials say ten adults were charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors last Saturday night when police allegedly found a large gathering of adults and juveniles in a Garrison Place residence.

According to investigators the arrests apparently resulted from the consumption of several cases of beer in and around the home.

Police reports indicate that officers arriving at the scene found juveniles entering and leaving the dwelling with beer, and empty beer cans on the lawn of the home. Reports also indicate 3 or 4 cases of full beer cans and 4 or 5 cases of empty beer cans were also found inside the home.

The ages of the juveniles found at the home were given as 10 to 17 years.

Authorities said those charged with contributing were identified as Charles R. Mulder, 19, S. Clubhouse Road; Mary Elise, 43, St. Charles Convent, Cinnaminson, N.J.; Eileen I. Lowden, 30, St. Elizabeth Convent, Burnardsville, N.J.; William H. Verner, 19, Princess Anne Road; Floyd A. Mountain, Jr., 19, Fox Run Road; Kathryn V. Sawyer, 47, St. Mary's Convent, S. Amboy, N.J.; Robert D. Hockman, 18, Garrison Place; Marie E. Hennessy, 43, St. Charles Borromeo Convent, N.J.; Donnie J. Henson, 21, Stencil Street; and Helen A. Hockman, 39, Garrison Place, who reports show was also charged with operating a disorderly house.

Officials indicated they also charged Ronald C. Combs, 20, Woodsman Lane, with being drunk in public; and James R. Futrell, 18, Harmon Street, Norfolk, with interfering with a police officer in the line of duty. All of the accused were released on bond pending appearance in court.

Illegal Weapons Found In Antique Shops

Two British Flat Anti Tank Launchers were found this past week in a Virginia Beach antique dealer's shops by agents of the regional office of the Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms Division of the U.S. Treasury Department.

The launchers were included in a list of firearms and weapons classified illegal under the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968. Special Investigator Raymond W. Tatman said the launchers, which are in an operative condition, were the first of this type weapon which the AFTD has located in this region. Tatman said the owner of the weapons was "happy to voluntarily surrender" the launchers when informed of it being illegal to possess them.

The owner, according to Tatman, was also unaware of their being illegal and said they were on display in the shops as "conversation pieces" and were not being offered for sale.

The launchers are of Pre-World War II vintage and were designed for the launching of rockets, high explosives, fire bombs, etc. Their owner said they had been acquired at an auction sale in 1965.

Other items covered by the Gun Control Act of 1968 include a variety of fully automatic weapons, sawed-off rifles and shotguns. Possession of such weapons could expose their owner to one to ten years imprisonment and or a $10,000 fine.

Anyone having any questions about the legality of possessing weapons is invited to contact the regional Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms Division office, phone 441-6757.

These weapons may be antiques but they are also illegal.

Sisters Beaten During Robbery

Two sisters were reportedly beaten during a armed robbery shortly before 10 a.m. at a Bonney Road residence Monday morning.

Investigators say Rosie V. Smith, 63, and 69-year-old sister Nancy E. Moore were beaten about the face and head by two subjects who took an estimated $5,000 from the home at pistol point. Mrs. Smith's husband, James, 66, was not home at the time of the robbery.

Nancy Moore is quoted with saying two men, both about 25 years old, summoned her to the door of the home and one of them told her "I want to see your sister."

When Rosie Smith was summoned from the home next door one of the men, according to police, held a gun to her head telling her "Don't say nothing or I'll kill you." Both women were then forced inside.

The subjects made a search of first floor rooms of the home then forced the women upstairs, according to investigators, where they kicked open a bedroom door which was locked.

During a search of the room the men found a metal box which they pried open with a screw driver and removed approximately $5,000 in bills of $1 to $100 denominations.

Both men then reportedly ran from the house and fled into a nearby wooded area.

Honor Police

Plans to select the outstanding young police officer of Virginia Beach for 1971 have been announced by Chairman Bruce B. Mills of the Jaycees. "Our search is part of a statewide Jaycee program" said Mr. Mills. "to spotlight the achievements and dedication of the professional police officers of our city."

Nominations may be received from anyone. Please send the name and address of the particular police officer you wish to nominate to: Mr. Bruce B. Mills, 113 53rd St., Va. Beach, Va. 23451.

All nominees must be between the ages of 21 and 35. Nominations will be judged locally by a panel of civic leaders. The local winner will be honored at a special awards banquet on November 23 and presented with an award. Local winners throughout the state will be eligible for state competition, which will determine delegates to a national convention.

Kellam's Queen

Gail Heywood, a 17 year old senior, was crowned Homecoming Queen at Kellam High School Saturday. The Knight beauty is a member of the Y-Teens and the Girl's Athletic Association. She has served on the yearbook staff for five years, and this year she is co-editor of the senior section. Gail lives in the Princess Anne Plaza section of Virginia Beach and plans to further her education after graduation, quite possibly becoming an accountant.

Band members and parents load newspapers into a van at Plaza Junior High School last Saturday to culminate their latest successful fund raising project.

Band Uniform Drive On At Plaza Jr. High

The Band Parents Association of Plaza Junior High School is well on its way toward the goal of $5,000 needed to buy band uniforms for the school marching unit. Walter L. Baird, President of the Association, said that the 280 member group has been getting good response from the parents of band members.

Their latest fund raising event, a paper drive, was very successful. A van load of old newspapers was collected and sold to a local concern that recycles the paper to make reusable newsprint. The loaded van added about $175 to the cause.

The Association is now planning a raffle, and a magazine sale to raise additional funds. Beginning December 3rd, they will hold a Christmas tree sale in front of the school.

The two year old school has a band that has earned a superior rating, but lack of uniforms has cost them points in the various competitive events that they have entered. The parents hope to have the money to order the uniforms in time for the City Band Festival in April.

Attending Wingate

Wingate College has just announced the names of students who have earned places on the academic honor roll for the fall quarter.

Wingate students from Virginia Beach earning places on the honor roll include Michael Robert Marer, 1408 Cooper Circle.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Back Bay Civic League presents a special presentation of the Princess Anne Land Use Plan on Thursday November 4, 8 P.M. at Creed Elementary School.

YMCA Clubs Organize

High school and Junior high school students who would like to start a Hi-Y or Tri-Hi-Y program at their schools should contact John Long at the Norfolk YMCA.

Hi-Y is a service club organization with thousands of clubs throughout the country. Over 50 clubs operate in the Tidewater area with over 1500 members.

In addition to the thousands of hours of community and school service performed by the clubs there is a leadership training program for participants.

Fathers Ready New School

By Jon Sager

School opened Monday! That in itself might be news since schools opened over a month ago. But it is of special interest to students, teachers and parents of Cape Henry School.

Since the official opening of school they have been attending classes in the General Hospital Annex thanks to the generosity of the Hospital's Board.

Their own building, which was started July 17th was not ready due to material shortages and bad weather. It was still not quite ready last week when Headmaster, Dr. Calvin Schutzman and the Board of Directors got together and decided to ask the parents of pupils to pitch in and help.

Pitch in they did when approximately 75 parents spent their spare time laying carpet, assembling partitions and doing whatever was necessary to put the finishing touches on the building.

The building will be the gym when the whole complex is completed, but for now it is the new Cape Henry School and, "Everyone is quite excited about moving in," according to Dr. Schutzman.

"We would not have been ready if it hadn't been for the parents," he stated.

Commander William Charter, Royal Navy, puts finishing touches on coat hooks at the nearly finished Cape Henry School.

Dr. Calvin Schutzman, Headmaster Cape Henry School, and Shea Gregg, chairman of the building committee look over plans of the newly constructed school.

Jack and Nancy West put finishing touches on the second grade section of new Cape Henry School. Nancy is second grade teacher at the school.

City Seeks New Hospital Coverage

City Council indicated Monday in informal session that a consultant would be retained by the city to study health insurance proposals soon to be submitted for coverage on municipal employees.

Finance Director Giles Dodd proposed that the consultant be retained for a total cost of $1,700, explaining that an expert would be better qualified than he or his staff in determining the fine points in policies.

Dodd explained that the present cost of the city's Blue Cross coverage plan is $341,000 per year, $148,000 of which is paid by the employees, $193,000 by the City of Virginia Beach. "Maybe Blue Cross is the best plan," Dodd said, "but I think we need to have it reviewed, to see if the city is getting the best coverage for its money."

"If we're spending that much for hospitalization, I think $1,700 is a reasonable amount to assure us we're getting our money's worth," commented Councilman Robert Cromwell.

"Certainly the hospital will be interested," said Dr. Clarence Holland, referring to Virginia Beach General Hospital's dispute with Blue Cross over the insurance firm's formula for paying hospital costs.

The local hospital recently declined to handle Blue Cross payments because the policyholder is assured of a 100 per cent coverage while the hospital is actually paid a percentage of the total cost. Blue Cross policyholders are still admitted to the hospital, but must handle their own settlement with Blue Cross.

"I'm interested in the hospital's standpoint," Councilman Curtis Payne commented, "but I'm more interested in the relationship between Blue Cross and all its policyholders in this city."

"Well, maybe they'll find a new payment formula," Dr. Holland added. "They certainly need one."

In Monday's planning matters, council took the following action:

Approved a use permit allowing construction of a new gas station at Laskin and First Colonial road, replacing an existing Texaco station. This application had been deferred from October 26, pending the dedication of a 15-foot right of way from property owner Lucille B. Potter, for improvement to the intersection.

Accepted, apparently with surprise and regret, withdrawal of Rock Church's use permit for a church, religious education and drug rehabilitation center at Pungo. The withdrawal was

Aucamp First To Serve Fulltime Judgeship

When Frederick P. Aucamp assumes duties as judge of Virginia Beach Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court on January 1st he will become the first judge to serve the Court on a full time basis.

L. Travis Branch was appointed to that position in July 1965 however he met death in an auto accident before he ever assumed the bench.

Aucamp was appointed to the position this past week by Circuit Court Senior Judge Robert S. Wahab to fill the vacancy which has existed for some time.

Aucamp, who has practiced law in the resort city for the past four years with the firm of Rixey and Rixey following a similar association for eight-and-a-half years in Norfolk, views his new undertaking as an important one.

In discussing the future of the Juvenile Court Aucamp said "I foresee that in years the Juvenile Court will become a court of record equal to that of Circuit Court."

When questioned about his view regarding any possible change in the present policy of excluding the public from Juvenile Court proceedings Aucamp replied "I feel that in cases such as murder and higher felonies court proceedings open to the public would serve the public interest."

Aucamp also indicated his past experience as an attorney during court proceedings could benefit the court through assisting in the scheduling of docket cases to make it more convenient for all parties concerned.

Although Aucamp will not assume judicial duties until January he plans to set in court sessions to gain a greater insight into the mechanics of the court operation.

Judges Thomas F. Betz, Jr., and Kenneth N. Whitehurst, Jr., presently sharing responsibility of conducting Juvenile Court indicate they intend to devote their full time to private practice after January.

Aucamp will be discontinuing his private law practice after assuming his judgeship, as required by regulations.

Obviously pleased with his appointment Aucamp said he "always wanted to be a judge since I began practicing law. This will give me greater gratification than what I'm doing now."

When asked what his main objective would be in his new endeavor Aucamp said "I just want to do a good job, that's the prime thing."

Carillonneur Visits Franco

By Helen Crist

Milford Myhre, carillonneur of the Bok Singing Tower at Lake Wales, Florida, visited with composer Johan Franco at his home recently.

Myhre, on the last lap of a six week tour through the United States and Canada, was in Richmond to give a recital on the newly restored War Memorial Carillon on Veteran's Day.

His recital opened with a sparkling Prelude by the Flemish classical master of the carillon Van den Cheyn, after a rendition of the Star Spangled Banner. The program included Two German Dances by Mozart and the Presto of the First Organ Concerto by Bach. It included, too, three original compositions for the carillon by Beach composer Franco, who has written close to 100 works for the carillon in the past 30 years. Myhre has, in the past, honored Franco with entire recitals of his compositions.

At the Richmond recital Myhre performed Franco's folksong, "Spanish is the Loving Tongue," with variations and the "Crabbrook Nocturne." He also gave the premier performance of a new setting by Franco of the Appalachian Mountain Song "Nottamun Town."

While visiting Franco, Myhre discussed final plans for playing about half of the music the Beach composer has written for a documentary film about the Dutch master painter Vincent van Gogh, by the Belgian "cinematist" Renaat Van Dessel. The other half of the music is conceived for the classical guitar and will be performed by the young Norfolk classical guitarist John Patykula.

Franco says there is a curious relationship between the gigantic instrument, the carillon and the most intimate of instruments, the guitar. Much of the music for the one sounds remarkably well on the other, he says. Franco has therefore chosen these two instruments only for the soundtrack of the film, a juxtaposition which has never been tried before.

Besides the film music Milford Myhre will be recording also for a commercial record in November, including one of the Johan Franco compositions.

Old Donation Church Controversy

Action Deferred On Townhouses In Face Of Opposition

By Les Lehigh

After more than an hour of arguments, and three votes on the matter, the Planning Commission Tuesday deferred action on an application from Terry Corporation to construct 208 townhouses at the intersection of Independence Boulevard and North Witchduck Road.

The deferral followed more than an hour's arguments in a controversy as to how approval of the application would affect the preservation of Old Dominion Church as an historical shrine.

Approximately 75 to 100 opponents of the application, representing Old Donation Church, the Witchduck Civic League, Pembroke Meadows Civic League, Pembroke Meadows Garden Club, Lake Smith Civic League, Baygood Methodist Church, Princess Anne Historical Society, Pembroke Elementary School P.T.A., Virginia Beach Council of Vedic Leagues, and the Virginia Commission for Preservation of Historical Landmarks, argued that construction of townhouses opposite the church site would destroy its value as an historical landmark.

Attorney Hugh S. Meredith, representing Old Donation Church and the Princess Anne Historical Society, lead off the opposition by challenging the legality of the application being presented before Planning Commissioners.

Meredith cited a 1968 city ordinance which called for the establishing of an Historical Commission in the city which would have the responsibility of selecting sites in Virginia Beach which would be designated as historical landmarks. Such designations, according to the ordinance as read to the Commission by Meredith, would also include the establishing of boundaries of such landmarks.

Meredith also indicated the ordinance charged the Planning Commission with cooperating with the Historical Commission in evaluating prospective historical landmark sites.

Meredith also contended that under provisions of the 1968 ordinance the Planning Commission could not legally grant a change of zoning, which was involved in the Terry Corporation application, until Old Donation Church has been approved or rejected as an historical landmark.

Planning Department representative Lee Hickman when questioned by the Planning Commission if such action had as yet been taken replied it had not.

Terry Corporation said they were willing to design their townhouses in such a manner as to blend in with a surrounding suitable to the establishing of Old Donation Church as an historical landmark.

The deferral of the application by the Commission was for a period of 30 days during which the Terry Corporation, City officials, and representatives of the Historical Commission will work toward arriving at a mutually agreeable arrangement agreeable to all parties concerned.

Initially a motion was placed before the Commission to reject the application on grounds that proper steps had not been taken to safeguard declaration of Old Donation Church as a landmark.

This was replaced by a substitute motion to approve the application on grounds that the Historical Commission's review board would approve the townhouse plans and designs. This motion was rejected by a 7 to 6 vote with Commission Chairman J. Harry Mote casting the tie-breaking vote.

Action on the Princess Anne and Great Neck Land Use Development Plans was delayed until the first week in December, at which time they will be aired in a special public hearing.

Commission Chairman Mote pointed to the absence of City Planning Director Charles C. Carrington during Tuesday's meeting, and recommended the appointment of an assistant city planning director to represent the Planning Department in matters requiring attention during Carrington's absence.

Mote strongly recommended that Lee Hickman, who represented the Planning Department during Tuesday's meeting, be considered for that position.

Patriot's Queen

JUDY LAGARDE was voted Homecoming Queen by the First Colonial High School student body and reigned over homecoming festivities at her school's 21-4 victory over Lake Taylor Friday night. Judy is a senior honor student, co-captain of the cheerleading squad, and was recently voted as the friendliest girl in her class. Judy lives in the Birdneck section of Virginia Beach.

Milford Myhre, carillonneur of the Bok Singing Tower at Lake Wales, Florida, spends a musical day with Johan Franco, composer of music for the carillon. Myhre, on a concert tour of the United States and Canada, was in Richmond when he took time off to visit Franco, whose music he has played many times.

Gala Night At Ft. Story

Fort Story, the city's only Army installation, is very much a part of the local scene, its personnel very much an integral part of the community.

Once a year Fort Story's commanding officer holds a very special cocktail-buffet for city officials, dignitaries and local friends.

Saturday was the night for annual event and the officer's club was filled with familiar faces...nearly all of the councilmen, local legislators, political and civic leaders, and, of course, the community's Army leaders. Greeting guests in the receiving line were General Howard Schiltz, Col. Lowell Hulten, commanding officer of Fort Story, and Col. Lyons, chief of staff of Ft. Eustis, and their wives.

'Pinocchio' Is Featured

One of the highlights of the all-new and different edition of "Disney On Parade," opening at The Norfolk Scope on Tuesday-Nov. 16th for 10 performances, is a live adaptation of Walt Disney's "Pinocchio."

"Pinocchio" is only one of the many live production numbers in "Disney On Parade." Disney classic, "Fantasia" and "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," along with original numbers such as "Barnyard Bash," "Necessary Evil," "It's A Small World" and many others fill 2 1/2 hours with fast-paced fun and excitement. Mickey Mouse, Goofy, and scores of other well-known Disney favorites are present to entertain audiences in this unique "Disney On Parade" spectacular.

At The Cavalier

This 'Dolly' Like No Other

Thank goodness the Cavalier Dinner Playhouse went after a "real" Dolly Levi when they decided to produce "Hello Dolly." If they'd gone after a Streisand, or a Channing or a Bailey or a Rogers or any of the baby dolls who might have performed the role, they'd have sunk the show.

But that Jon Dawson's one smart director. He looked for a gal with talent, one who could be her OWN (and the Cavalier's) Dolly with no attempt at stereotyping. And the gal he found was Arnyce Anders...

Dolly like no other Dolly has ever been. We might say that Miss Anders is a large person, but that's insignificant and irrelevant. What we will say is that she is a personality dynamo, she belts out a song like nobody's business, she fast talks like only Dolly Levi can fast talk, and she's great.

But, amazingly enough, it's not a one-woman show. Dolly dominates, of course, but there are some excellent characterizations in the Cavalier production. Ken Little, who made his debut here in "Fiddler on the Roof" is outstanding as Barnaby, the comical feed store clerk. The only scores he can't steal are the ones he isn't in or the ones he's in with Miss Anders.

Horace Vandergelder, the widower who seeks Dolly's help in wooing the widow Mrs. Malloy, is well done by Danny Gunn (he is most effective in "It Takes A Woman") and Jack Bloom shows exceptional charm and talent in the role of Cornelius, head clerk in BVandergelder's feed store.

Luanne Nelson, a Cavalier favorite, is lovely as usual as the widowed milliner, Mrs. Malloy and Susan Schumann is adorable as Minnie, the young girl who works in Mrs. Malloy's hat shop. On of the most appealing numbers in the show is "Elegance" as performed by Jack-Luanne-Ken-Susan.

The entire cast is good—Ken Morris as Ambrose, the stable boy who wants to marry Vandergelder's sister; "Betina" Owens, as Ermengarde, the bawling niece; Skip Newton as Rudolph, the major-domo; Sheila Walters as Ernestina, Horace's overly-endowed blind date; and most especially Steve Feuerstein as the chef and the policeman.

The musical is not one of this reviewer's favorites. But certainly what the Cavalier has done with it is good theatre. The stage limits its production and cramps its style, but the talents of the cast, particularly that of Miss Anders, more than compensate for it. The music is good, directed by Bill Gotfred, the choreography is good, as staged by Barbara Thuesen, and it is good entertainment, as presented by the Cavalier.

THE BOOKWORM waits for a name, sleeping among the books that he loves as Book Fair Week draws near.

A Lovable Bookworm Calls Trantwood Home

The children at Trantwood Elementary School are taking trips, meeting new friends, and exploring the universe. They are doing this through books-books that will be featured at the eighth annual Trantwood Elementary School Book Fair, which will be held inside the front entrance of the school 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily from November 15th through 19th.

Book Fair Week will begin with each child receiving a list of the "Best Books to Read." This comprehensive list has been growing for the past few weeks. Students have been submitting their favorite books to help their fellow students make book selections and to build interest in reading good books. Old Valler, Charlotte's Web, and Charlie and the Chocolate Factory are three of the most popular selections in the top ten.

For the past week students have had an opportunity to make a new friend—a four-foot long bookworm. The lovable bookworm, constructed by Mrs. Mary Ann Burnett, has a patchwork body, big red glasses, and a scottish tam sits jauntily on his head. Students are in the process of choosing a name for Scotty Bookworm (one suggestion) by November 19th, and the student who submits the most original name will have the book of his choice given to him at the Book Fair.

Profits from the sale of books are used to purchase new books and materials for the school library. Over 1200 books were purchased at the fair last year. Trantwood Elementary invites all parents to come and browse and to place orders for the books of their choice, and the ordered books will arrive in times for Christmas.

Recital Was Perfect Blend

The Virginia Beach Friends of Music's first recital of the season Sunday afternoon was a flawless blend of talent, execution and composition. It was the first of three recitals of "Sonatas by Ludwig Van Beethoven" for the violin and piano and it was certainly to the sponsoring group's credit that the talents of violinist Dora Short and pianist Prava Sikorski were selected for the introduction.

Each is an outstanding musician in her own field, yet together they managed to maintain their own individual interpretations without diminishing the emotional flow of the composer's works.

It was a treat to the audience to watch these two artists perform.

Mrs. Short commanded attention from the moment she stepped on stage, her professionalism overshadowed only by her own graceful beauty. A small, delicate person, she seemed dwarfed in the large Plaza Junior High School auditorium. Until she placed the violin beneath her chin, tilted her head against it and let the mastery of her talent take over. She was magnificent.

Mrs. Sikorski, though younger and less commanding because of her more relaxed approach, was equally magnificent. Her control of the piano, and of Beethoven, was sheer artistry...the music seemed to swell from inside, finding its outlet through her graceful hands.

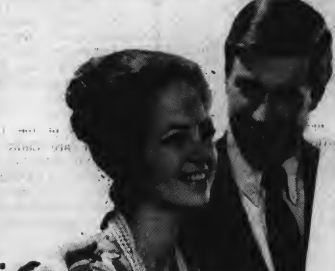

The two musicians are so well established and acclaimed, it was not surprising that their efforts were outstanding. It was surprising, however, that the two could blend so well, neither striving to outperform the other, both obviously dedicated to their total submission to Beethoven.

The series in its entirety will encompass 10 sonatas Sunday afternoon Mrs. Short and Mrs. Sikorski presented three—Sonata No. 1 in D Major, Opus 12, No. 1; Sonata No. 6 in A Major, Opus 30, No. 1; and Sonata No. 10 in G Major, Opus 36.

The final selection was, to this reviewer, by far the loveliest, its range and depth of feeling and emotion more intense than the others. This particular Sonata, the last in Beethoven's cycle of Ken Porter, Courtney Coffman, and Stephen Koenig have been named semifinalists in the 1971-72 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Missionaries Visit Here

The Reverend and Mrs. Kyle W. McQuillen, Jr., United Methodist Missionaries to Nigeria, and their family, will be at the Baylake United Methodist Church, 4300 Shore Drive, Saturday and Sunday, November 13th and 14th, as part of the church's mission study program for this year.

The United Methodist Church is emphasizing its mission work in Africa during this year. The program will begin Saturday afternoon with an informal get-together at 4:30 p.m. which will give the membership of Baylake Church and their friends in the community an opportunity to meet the McQuillen family. Artifacts of Africa will be on display at this time.

School hour and at the regular morning worship service at 11 o'clock Mr. McQuillen will preach. All residents of the community are invited to attend these special services.

The McQuillens are in this country on a medical leave from missionary work. In Nigeria Mr. McQuillen served as an evangelistic missionary in Zinna and taught in the McBride Secondary School in Jalingo. While teaching at the secondary school, Mr. McQuillen also supervised pastors in the area. Mrs. McQuillen did women's work in local churches and helped to dispense drugs to five national dispensaries run by the church.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McQuillen grew up in Phillipsburg, Pa. Mr. McQuillen has a bachelor of arts degree from Lycoming College and a bachelor's degree in sacred theology from Wesley Theological Seminary. Before becoming a missionary he served as a pastor in the Central Pennsylvania Conference for eleven years.

Eight Patriots Score High In Merit Teaching

Three First Colonial High School seniors have been named semifinalists in the 1971-72 National Merit Scholarship Program. They are Ken Porter, son of Captain and Mrs. Kenneth A. Porter, Courtney Coffman, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John W. Coffman, and Stephen Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Koenig.

The approximately 15,000 semifinalists appointed nationwide are among the nation's most intellectually talented high school seniors. They will compete for some 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1972. Over 655,000 students were tested last February, and the semifinalists constitute less than one percent of the graduating seniors in the United States.

Gary Bulmer, Thomas J. Doyle, Carol A. Strickland, Claire L. Tozer, and Dale D. Worden received letters of commendation honoring them for their high performance on the Merit qualifying test. They are among 35,000 students who scored in the upper two percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1972. The commended students rank below the Semifinalists. All five are students at First Colonial.

C & P Plant At Witchduck Expands

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia will expand its Witchduck Road plant work center.

Included in this expansion program will be a building addition consisting of two parts—one to the side, 32 by 42 feet and an addition to the rear, 50 by 46 feet. Also the present carport for storing company vehicles will be enlarged by 119 feet.

This center was first placed in operation by C&P in 1964 and it houses C&P's plant engineering forces, supplies, equipment and company vehicles.

The carport addition, when completed, will be able to hold some 28 additional trucks and

Completes Course

Robert M. Kuntz, Jr., 3684 Malibu Palm Drive, has completed a special training course in Richmond and joined the sales force of the Combined Insurance Company of America.

Kuntz is now engaged in selling accident and health policies for Combined in his home area.

Work on this center is required by C&P in order that it can have the proper facilities and equipment necessary to provide communication services to its customers served by this facility. It will also provide additional office space for personnel. Work is to get under way shortly.

Postmaster Commended

Postmaster J.T. Crosswhite, Jr. has received word from Eastern Region Headquarters in Philadelphia that the Virginia Beach Post Office has won a special recognition award in the recent U.S. Postal Service Day competition.

Crosswhite said his office competed with all first class post offices in the Eastern Region, which covers most of 13 states and the District of Columbia.

The award was based on ingenuity shown in arranging and conducting activities July 1 in conjunction with the first day of existence of the new U.S. Postal Service.

There are 7,599 post offices in the Eastern Region.

Lighthouse Chapter Of ABWA Installed At Beach

Mildred Nelson, diminutive dynamo swept into town two months ago, and the business women of the area haven't been the same since.

With organizational expertise and confidence unlimited she set up two Beach chapters of the American Business Woman's Association, encompassing 162 women. Mrs. Nelson is Field Executive of the National Association.

She first installed the Virginia Beach Chapter, with Mrs. Ruth Killingsworth, president. Last week Mrs. Killingsworth installed officers for the second group, Lighthouse Chapter of the American Business Woman's Association. The dinner meeting was held at The Cavalier.

Officers of the Lighthouse Chapter are Cathy Fletcher, president, G.L.B. Realty; Joan Peebles, vice president, owner of Bayberry Florist; Joan Leslie, corresponding secretary, catering manager of the Naval Station Officers Club; Audrey Erickson, recording secretary, and secretary to Dr. J.M. Pool; Catherine Nelson, treasurer, Supervisor of Social Workers, Veterans' Administration Center, Hampton.

Seventy-six women joined the Chapter, which was sponsored by the Beach Chapter. It was decided to hold dinner meetings the fourth Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a diamond star award for sponsoring 88 members, presented to Ruth Killingsworth by Mrs. Nelson. "I'm just as excited about this as Ruth is," she said, "because this is the first time I've ever had the honor of giving this to any member before." It is an award that only four women in the country have earned in the Association's 22 years.

Committee chairmen were named: Joy Walnwright, education; Linda Pritchard, social; Dorothy West, courtesy; Joyce Chappell, employment.

A Dear Publication Dedicated to Serving the People of the City of Virginia Beach

A Break Through

Congratulations are due Joe Canada and his wife, Vickie. They not only conducted a successful campaign that won for the young attorney the distinction of being this city's first Republican State Senator of the century, they also proved that public apathy can be broken down.

The attractive couple worked as a team in the campaign. And they worked hard. They spent every week-end going from door-to-door, getting to know the people of Virginia Beach. And letting the people know them.

It was not always a happy experience. They had doors slammed in their faces. They were ridiculed. They were subjected to verbal abuse. But they persevered. And they won.

There is much to be learned in Mr. Canada's election. He has proven that the people can be interested in the future of this city, that they can be interested in their elected officials, when someone shows an interest in them. Mr. Canada went directly to the people. They accepted him, he stimulated their interest, and they went to the polls in the city's largest voter turnout.

The fact that the people elected a Republican is significant, of course. It does indicate a more relaxed attitude in party politics. It does indicate a change in the growing population. But we seriously doubt that the people elected the Republican; they elected the man. They voted for the man who came to them, the man who said honestly "I need your vote," the man they believe will best represent them in the General Assembly.

And they did elect a good man. He's inexperienced in politics. But he can learn. He will have a struggle in Richmond against his more experienced Democrat constituents. But he's a fighter and not easily discouraged. Joe Canada campaigned with, and for, the people. He and his family exposed themselves to public scrutiny and the public liked their honesty.

The new State Senator also proved that you can't beat the old-fashioned approach, the hand-shaking, back-slapping, people-to-people method of campaigning. The "little people" too often are put aside in favor of financial or influential supporters or are ignored as candidates seek support from the black community, the labor force, the government workers, etc. But, in the long run, it's the "little" man who wins...if he goes to the polls.

Joe and Vicki Canada got him there. Hopefully he will remain an active voter. It could be the end to this city's electoral apathy. And it could mark the beginning of some very drastic political changes.

They Are Sick

Whatever possesses a person, an adult, to "treat" a Halloween trickster to candy and apples carefully prepared with razor blades, pins and needles and ground glass?

Each year these atrocities against fun-loving children are reported around the country. Each year the number of incidents grow. This year, however, it hit in Virginia Beach. The problem no longer belongs to another city, another state. It is now a Virginia Beach problem. And it is frightening.

There were several cases reported here where parents who found slivers of razor blades or glass, pins and needles in their trick or treat goodie bag. The imagination need not dwell on the intent of these treats. The horrible consequences are only too apparent.

Some people have theorized that such sadism is, in reality, a rebellion against the concept of the Halloween tradition—you eat me, or I'll trick you. If this is the purpose, it's inexcusable and ridiculously simple-minded. It is also improbable. The purpose, more than likely, is merely concoctions of sick minds seeking an outlet for their own self-disgust or perhaps resentment of youth, resentment even of the innocent little tykes who giggle behind their masks as they trustingly hold out their treat bags to "responsible" adults.

It's enough to make the blood curdle, to realize that so many sick people live usually normal lives but are capable of such sadistic violence.

God help this city, and other cities, if these people are not found out and helped before they destroy some unsuspecting child. God help those emment persons who apparently cannot help themselves. What a tragic society this will become if little children can no longer enjoy the excitement of Halloween trick or treating for fear of death or permanent physical damage from sabotaged goodies.

Ordinances were passed by City Council for the protection of these youngsters...no participation after 9 p.m. or for those twelve years of age and older. But no ordinance can possibly control what is dropped in that open bag. That control must come from within the person.

A Plug For Lights

Last year this newspaper launched a campaign to interest the City in providing Christmas decorations for the resort strip. Believing the rather quiet commercial district on Atlantic Avenue to be the only known "downtown" area of Virginia Beach.

The campaign was late in the season and the arguments were strong. "There is no downtown Virginia Beach." "We can't buy decorations for one section without buying them for all sections."

The arguments are valid. But hopefully the City will reconsider. The resort strip is undecorated because there is no merchants association, because many of the stores are closed for the winter, because there is no large merchant to get the ball rolling.

The commercial district of Beach Borough, limited though it may be, is officially Downtown Virginia Beach, because it is the oldest commercial district, because it is the original Virginia Beach. The other shopping areas have established their own identities. The Mall, The Plaza, etc., but the strip remains "Virginia Beach."

All of the city's commercial districts are elaborately decorated for the holidays. The various merchants associations see to that. But Beach Borough remains dark, despite the fact that it has many shoppers and it entertains many off-season visitors.

If there were a merchants association in the borough, the responsibility might be shifted. But many of the stores are too seasonal for organization and the only hope is support from the City.

We are reminded of the Davis Island Causeway in Tampa, Florida, which the city decorates so beautifully at Christmas that thousands of people drive from all over the state to see it...especially the live Nativity scene. The causeway is not even in a commercial district; it is the barrier between Tampa Bay and a very exclusive residential area. But the holiday decorations draw people to the city.

The same could be done at Virginia Beach, along the Boardwalk. Christmas concerts and programs could be held, a parade could launch the season, many things could be planned. And there could be lights and tinsel and Christmas Carols...and it would be the City's way of saying "Merry Christmas to all."

Tax Assessment Outlined

City Treasurer V.A. Jack Etheridge appealed to City Council in informal session Monday for some action in equalizing the proposed property tax assessment on the average citizen and public service corporations.

In a prepared statement, Etheridge said: "The Governor's Committee on State-Local Cooperation on August 21, 1971, adopted an eight point program to strengthen the property tax. One of its recommendations was that all real property in Virginia be assessed at 100 per cent of fair market value by January 1, 1974. The Committee has suggested legislation be passed to make this recommendation mandatory."

"The true value of all real property in Virginia Beach is $1,016,456,891.00. The assessment of real property in Virginia Beach at the present is $609,874,135.00. The rate that applies to all of the city is 2.05. In the Beach Borough it is 2.55, but for easy calculations, I have used the 2.05 figure. $609,874,135.00 assessments the 2.05 rate produce $12,502,419.76 in taxes. If the assessment were increased to 100 per cent, then the assessments would be $1,016,456,891.00 and a rate of 1.23 would produce $12,502,419.76 in taxes. But where the city revenues would be affected is in the assessments of the Public Service Corporations.

The State Corporation Commission assesses the real estate of these corporations of 40 per cent of their value. Our present assessments of the real estate owned by corporations exceeds 18 million dollars, at the 40 per cent ratio as set by the State Corporation Commission, VEPSCO insists that the City of Virginia Beach change approximately 2.5 million dollars worth of assessments now in personal property to real estate, based on a case determined by the Court in Prince William County. Taking their contention into consideration, I am using an assessment of $21,000,000.00. The 2.05 rate, which produces $430,500.00 in taxes. The true value of this property is $52,500,000.00. The state law requires each city to apply the same rate to public service as it does to other taxpayers; therefore, if we reduce the rate to 1.23 when the assessment ratio is increased to 100 per cent for the individual taxpayer, this means that we must apply the 1.23 rate to the public service corporations' assessments. $21,000,000.00 in assessments 1.23 will produce $258,300.00 in taxes. Thereby reducing the taxes of the public service corporations by $172,200.00 based on present assessments, which means that the taxes of the other taxpayers of the city will have to be increased to pick up this loss.

"I am opposed to this tax break being given to the public service corporations while having to increase your taxes and mine to make up the difference. If the state law is changed requiring all property to be assessed at 100 per cent of market value for the individual, then 58-512 and other sections of the code of Virginia should be changed by which the State Corporation Commission assesses the real estate of public service corporations of 40 per cent of market value. This change should be made to assess the corporations on the same basis as other taxpayers. If these changes were made, the true value would be $22,500,000.00 with a 1.23 rate, the tax yield would then be $445,750.00. This change would be beneficial to Virginia Beach to the extent of $387,450.00 over the proposed change. I realize the present law permits 5 per cent of the old assessments to be changed each year from the 40 per cent ratio to the ratio used by the city. This law went into effect in 1967, but this means 18 years will have passed before the corporation assessments are on the same basis as other taxpayers, with loss of millions of dollars of revenue.

"We simply must not reduce the taxes of VEPSCO, C & P and other utility corporations and increase the taxes of the average home-owner and business to make up the difference. This proposal will do just that."

"All meetings of any board or commission of any state agency or authority or any agency of authority of any county, municipal corporation or any political subdivision, except as otherwise provided in the constitution, at which official acts are to be taken, are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times, and no resolution, rule, regulation or formal action shall be considered binding except as taken or made at such meetings."

The balance of the "sunshine law" simply says that minutes must be kept and that these must be open for public inspection and that circuit courts should issue injunctions to enforce the law. The law calls for fines up to $500 and imprisonment up to six months for violators.

Government in Florida is not perfect now by a long shot but it sure is a lot more open. This new law has not made Christians out of politicians and bureaucrats but now that they have to operate in the open they are a lot more responsive to the voters.

ONE ELECTED official in Florida recently had the door to his private office removed, saying the law gave him no privacy. Hardly a week goes by without some governmental unit being charged with violation of the law. The state supreme court has upheld the law and the voters have a lot of information they never had before.

If, as the constitution says, it is our government then we should be allowed to know what is going on. Why should our leaders be allowed to do our business in secret?

Outside of the areas of national defense and some of our dealings with other governments I don't think a case can be made of any secrecy in government.

A Combined Effort

Those cynics who think "everything is for the all mighty dollar" (and everyone is a bitcynical along these lines on occasion) should have visited the recent bazaar at Pembroke Mall.

The Mall merchants welcomed into their midst ninety-eight booths sponsored by various charitable organizations; many of the booths were in competition, directly or indirectly, with the merchants' own wares.

The handmade goods displayed at the bazaar were, in fact, even more appealing than the manufactured goods of the merchants, because of their uniqueness...and their simplicity. And for three days the bazaar undoubtedly ate into some of the Mall merchants' own profits.

But the merchants welcomed the booths and assisted the workers and were willing to set commercialism aside temporarily to aid the many charities that benefited from the bazaar.

It was a most rewarding cooperation between the commercial and the community service side of Virginia Beach. It proved that the two can, and do, work together for the betterment of the city. The Mall officials, the merchants and the numerous groups are to be commended for their efforts.

Grateful

To the Editor: The Virginia Beach Society for Crippled Children and Adults wishes to thank you for the recent generous coverage you gave our fashion show, "Autumn Assemblage," held at the Cavalier Hotel. Our net total was $1,600 which goes toward the new building.

Also, we are grateful for the publicity which told the story in picture and narrative form about the new clinic.

Congratulations on a fine, improved newspaper.

Sincerely,

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

By W. A. Leavell

How many people would commit sin right out in the broad daylight for everyone to see?

How many of our most hardened criminals would steal or rob in front of witnesses?

Now for the really big question, how many of our bureaucrats would come right out and go against the will of the majority of the voters if the voters could look over their shoulder all the time?

If any one thing had to be blamed for our present mess in government, it would have to be the way our elected and appointed "flock" of officials sneak around and abuse us without our knowing it.

IF WE HAVE too much of anything in government it is secrecy. If you think we don't have a lot of secrets in our government just try to find out something that might show up one of our bureaucrats as something less than perfect.

We have about 38,000 federal employees who can classify papers as secret. These cover-up artists have stamped so many papers secret that the National Archives has 160 million pages of secrets left over from World War II.

It takes 10,000 filing cabinets just to hold these. This is just from WW II. Since then we have been stamping papers secret at a fast clip.

Many of our leaders get off behind closed doors and make decisions that affect our lives and we never know what hit us until it is too late. The people are helpless in the face of all this hanky panky.

OUR CONSTITUTION clearly says "governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

How the heck can we give our consent if we don't know who is doing what to us?

One state has come up with the answer. Florida has one of the finest laws in the world on its books. It was passed in 1967 and it is called the "government in the sunshine" law.

The old-line bureaucrats, the fumblebumps and political hacks have not been the same since. This "sunshine law," as it is often called, has done more to improve government in Florida than anything since the state was formed.

WHAT IS this law? It is so short and simple that it became law before most of the political types found out how effective it was.

It says: "All meetings of any board or commission of any state agency or authority or any agency of authority of any county, municipal corporation or any political subdivision, except as otherwise provided in the constitution, at which official acts are to be taken, are declared to be public meetings open to the public at all times, and no resolution, rule, regulation or formal action shall be considered binding except as taken or made at such meetings."

The balance of the "sunshine law" simply says that minutes must be kept and that these must be open for public inspection and that circuit courts should issue injunctions to enforce the law. The law calls for fines up to $500 and imprisonment up to six months for violators.

Government in Florida is not perfect now by a long shot but it sure is a lot more open. This new law has not made Christians out of politicians and bureaucrats but now that they have to operate in the open they are a lot more responsive to the voters.

ONE ELECTED official in Florida recently had the door to his private office removed, saying the law gave him no privacy. Hardly a week goes by without some governmental unit being charged with violation of the law. The state supreme court has upheld the law and the voters have a lot of information they never had before.

If, as the constitution says, it is our government then we should be allowed to know what is going on. Why should our leaders be allowed to do our business in secret?

Outside of the areas of national defense and some of our dealings with other governments I don't think a case can be made of any secrecy in government.

Like, Man, It's Groovy

By HELEN CRIST
(Sun Women's Editor)

Writers need quiet to create...ahs, don't you believe it?

Phillips as the editor of the Virginia Beach Sun. As editor Ruby Jean Phillips says, "It's unbelievable."

It all began when the Sun began searching for new office quarters. Evacuation date was Nov. 1. But it didn't work that way, because just the right spot didn't materialize.

Meanwhile the downstairs of the building, where many of the Sun offices were (others up stairs, along with radio station WVAB) was undergoing the most phenomenal change as a delicatessen rented the quarters and began a whirlwind remodeling operation.

That's when strange things began to happen.

For instance: There was the morning that I arrived for work, and stumbling over all sorts of building equipment made my way to the second floor back stairway.

Nothing. "What happened to the steps?"

"Gone," is the nonchalant reply.

Sealed off, then, was the up from the down, except for the outside stairway. And the sun moved, en masse, from downstairs to topside.

And all this moving episode coincides with a mammoth circulation changeover to 32,500, all of which involves countless district managers milling about the office, strange new faces constantly emerging, and pretty young girls talking endlessly on the phones.

"Who," I ask, one day, "are they?"

"Oh, they're ad and circulation gals," Tim McClanahan, circulation manager assures me.

OK. At least it was until I opened the door to my office and a cute little blonde says brightly, "Hello, there, may I help you?"

"Well, yes, you might at that—could I borrow my office for a while?"

"Oops—sorry," she says, hastily gathering up the papers and making a retreat.

And who could forget the morning, when Dee Martin, long-suffering WVAB secretary who tries to concentrate through it all, looks up, her big blue eyes sad and says, "I sure hate to tell you but there's no light in the offices and the Sun's phone is cut off."

Meanwhile, Ruby Jean Phillips gives up and spends as much time as possible working at home. "Think I'll charge the boss office rent for my dining room table," she says.

I'm sticking it out. And it's going pretty well, in spite of the commotion, confusion and chatter and noise.

And here's a deadline coming up.

So I close the door to the office. But unfortunately, the coffee pot, which perks valiantly from 8 a.m. to heaven knows when, is just outside the office door.

I simply must concentrate, I tell myself. But one ear keeps drifting toward the door where the conversation goes something like this: "Hey, that was some football game last night!"

That guy's terrific! "I can't do a thing with my hair, it's a mess."

But we hang in there. And editor calls and says, "Say, how's to cover the Area IV Association luncheon of the Girl Scouts at Oceana Officers Club on Wednesday?"

A look at the calendar and a chicken-couldn't-have-done-a-better-job-of-scratching-it-up, but there does seem to be a spare hour. "Love to," is the reply.

I'm enjoying the luncheon at Oceana, and the people, and I'm setting the camera for pictures. What happens? You must have guessed. Trouble with the film and the pictures bomb out.

And there was so much to record: The oldest girl scout, the youngest, the old-timer scouts (a detestable word, since I'm one of them) interesting people such as Mrs. Louise Venable Kyle, speaker Elmer Terrall, awards given (one of which went to the Sun).

However, c'est la vie. The way things are going, no photo was far for the course.

So it was back to the office again, and the same stepping over boxes and the like and a sweet young thing pipes up with, "Hey—I like working here—it's kind of groovy!" well, yes, I guess you might put it that way.

At Luau Senior Citizens Have A Ball

The soothing Hawaiian lyrics poured from a stereo... Flo Mancini tied an authentic Hawaiian grass skirt around her waist and danced to the music... Carrie Tillett reminisced about her visits to Hawaii, and in fact, around the world, which she's spanned several times... Joe Seibert recalled his days at Dam Neck... Ema Smith said she's been asked to start a chapter of American Association of Retired Persons at the Beach—call 497-7821 for more information... the sweet and sour pork, the fruit salads, the sweet potatoes and all the rest disappeared in a hurry... and Flo Mancini said, "There's not a pineapple in the whole United States, but we had a luau anyway." Reason? The strike. But no one really cared, because it was a great day for the Seniors, who all said they had a ball.

Jealously Described As Soul Jaundice

By REV. JOYCE KRAMER

Jealousy has been described as jaundice of the soul. It is a matter of internal attitudes and emotions. Often one hesitates to admit to jealousy while at the same time smoldering on the inside.

Jealousy and envy may affect many aspects of life. We may be envious of our competitors' success. We may feel that someone can take the love or interest of our loved one from us.

These are attitudes based on false assumptions. We gain and keep our good by right of consciousness. If it appears that something or someone is being taken away from us, then we need only look into ourselves for the cause of our failure.

Then we must get our attitude and thought life in order. When we make the right change in our innermost thoughts we can expect to have and experience whatever good in life we desire.

The King's Daughters

Thrift Shop Project Boon To Hospital

Text And Photos
By Helen Crist

What started as a tiny second-hand store operation by a handful of women four years ago, has raised well over $10,000. The women are circle members of The King's Daughters, Virginia Beach City Union, and they've given the money, in the form of vital equipment to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

The spark plug was Mrs. teuben (Kitty) Trant, Jr. She telephoned Mrs. John (Ethel) Winn, president of the Union. "What would you think of a thrift shop as a moneyraising project?"

Ethel took it up immediately. "I think it would be wonderful," she replied.

It was October 16, 1967 that they opened for business in a born red small house at London Bridge Shopping Center.

And in April 1971, a brand new Thrift Shop emerged, a little further behind the original - this, on Poyner Lane, behind First and Merchants Bank in London Bridge Shopping Center. It can't be missed - it's bright yellow and gray.

"Joseph Murden donated the land, and the building is portable," Kitty said. What's more, the building is completely paid for.

Staffed by women of the 11 circles, it's open for business from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Kitty has been chairman since the Thrift Shop opened four years ago. "We're our own best customers," she says. "Why, Sidney Kellam says he's afraid to go out and leave his clothes behind, because Odie raids his closet. And incidentally, there's rack after rack of men's clothes for sale."

There are also, for instance, Spanish shoes in stock now, brand new and donated by a shoe store. They cost $36 and sell for $3. Perfectly fine new children's shoes, these too donated by local stores, sell for ridiculously low prices.

Four local cleaners give their services free. "And anything not sold is given to charity," Kitty said.

The women have most recently given to the Hospital as a result of their earnings, a Closed Circuit Television System for use on the Pediatric Nursing Unit.

This system enables the nurses to constantly monitor small children and those in isolation for medical reasons in any of three patient rooms at the end of the nursing unit, somewhat away from the nurses' station.

Their first contribution was a patient's room, endowed and furnished in the North Wing. An Arrhythmias machine, to help train the nurses service staff to recognize, read, and interpret arrhythmias of cardiac patients being monitored, came next.

They gave, too, an infusion pump, to regulate and monitor the administration of intravenous fluids to newborn infants and pediatric patients. Four wheel chairs were also donated.

Their fifth contribution was a Turner Fluorometer, a laboratory instrument performing specialized diagnostic testing for hormones in blood, barbiturate levels, Quindine levels, serum electrophoresis, strip scanning and other important tests.

Of particular benefit to new parents is the Phototherapy Unit which the women gave the hospital. This unit is a light source to treat babies who become jaundiced after birth because of RH incompatibility between baby and mother, infections, and other causes.

And before the new year arrives, a new piece of equipment will go to the hospital, a tribute to the ingenuity, enthusiasm and altruism of the women of The King's Daughters who operate the Thrift Shop.

... The Thrift Shop

... Jo Hillsman, arms bulging with clothes

... Maude Cooke, hanging the formals

Leo Men Prefer Gold, Orange Tones

By Thelma Barrett

MIDNIGHT STEW Came across this recipe in Raymond de Becker's Understanding of Dreams "...cat's brain and bat's blood enclosed in copper; or coral beaten up with pidgeon's blood and put into a fig are marvelous recipes for exciting dreams." (And indigestion!)

SPROUT AND GO Like the idea of your own fresh vegetable garden as you travel? It's all done with a nifty little three-tiered sprouter that fits nicely into a wig case. If you're weary of "foodless" food on the road, be your own farmer and grow-on-the-go!

Wheat, cress, soybeans, etc. can be easily sprouted (but of course you know this) without benefit of soil, fertilizers, pesticides, providing a harvest of vitamins and minerals in two to four days. The sprout is so highly regarded that a top nutritionist places it in the survival food category. So if you haven't already "sprouted" please do.

OTHER LIVES(?) Deja vu, the strange experience of visiting a place for the first time and having the uncanny feeling you've been there before, is proof enough to some that reincarnation is more than just a theory.

ASTROLINE If the Leo man in your life is down in the dumps wear something in yellow, gold or one of the orange tones. These are "pickier-upper" colors that please him, say the stargazers.

PHYSANTICS A great exercise that has a number of variations, is said to benefit the head, eyes, mouth and teeth are as follows: Slowly bend the head forward to the chest three times; then backward as far as you can go three times; then to the right three times and to the left three times. End with moving the head in a circle to the right then to the left three times each.

Probably just coincidence but devotees of this exercise don't seem to be bothered with double chins. Twice a day is the recommended dosage. (Uh-huh - every day).

CAYCE HUMOR Q. "Am I slightly mentally ill?"
A. "... Every individual is slightly mentally ill to someone else." (5210-1)
Q. "Which shoulder should be taped?"
A. "The one that's hurt!" (1710-5)
Q. "What are the best days of the month for me to operate business?"
A. "Every day!" (998-1)

THE VOICE OF VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA

Bayside-Kempsville Jr. Highs Meet For Title

Bayside and Kempsville Junior High Schools will meet for the Virginia Beach Junior high school football championship at 2 p.m. Saturday on the Union-Kempsville field. Bayside (5-0) and Kempsville (4-0) are both undefeated, but the Kempsville eleven was tied once by Plaza Junior High. Bayside enters the game with a 30-6 victory over Kellam's Junior J.V. team. Last week's victory saw Bayside's Aubrey Graham score two touchdowns and three extra point conversions to bring his season total to 80 points. Sam Williams and Matthew Ambrose made a touchdown each. Ambrose's coming on a fumble recovery in the end zone. Ronnie Savage blocked the kick that led to the score. Bayside's Coach Cox thinks that Aubrey Graham's 80 points leads the Beach in scoring to date. Coach Cox pointed out that the Kellam score came against his second team, which played the entire second half.

25th Street Dominates VBTPA League Inaugural

After being postponed a week because of rain, the Virginia Beach Tennis Patrons Association's Men's League got under way in its first match. The inaugural match was held Saturday afternoon at the Princess Anne High School courts, and the men of 25th Street completely shutout the team from First Colonial.

In singles competition, Harold Wheeler (25th) def. Ted Smith (FC) 6-2, 6-2; Tom Shelton (25th) def. Bob Ennis (FC) 6-2.

6-1; Vince Ciccarello (25th) def. Dray Thompson (FC) 6-0, 6-1; Marion Bowers (25th) def. Dennis McLaughlin (FC) 6-0, 6-0; Bill Massie (25th) def. Bill McLaughlin (FC) 6-4, 6-2; and Wynn Charlelois (25th) def. Bob Linsley (FC) 6-0, 6-0.

The 25th Street team carried their victories into the doubles play, with Wheeler and Shelton (25th) def. Smith and Ennis (FC) 6-4, 2-6, 7-5; Ciccarello and Charlelois (25th) def. Thompson and Linsley (FC) 6-1, 6-1; and Bowers and Massie (25th) def. McLaughlin and McLaughlin 6-2, 6-1.

The six singles victories and the three doubles victories gave the 25th Street team nine match points to none for the men from First Colonial. The next match will be held Saturday, November 13th, and will feature the undefeated 25th Streeters going against the Princess Anne Team on the Princess Anne High School tennis courts. The first match begins at 10 a.m.

P.A., Kempsville, Cox In State CC Finals

Peninsula's Menchville placed three runners in the top nine to take the team title, and Maury's Chris Tulou won the individual title, covering the 2.5 mile course in 12:54.3, at the Eastern Regional High School Cross Country Meet held at Little Creek Amphibious Base Saturday.

Three Virginia Beach teams will go to the State Meet in Williamsburg next Saturday. Princess Anne and Kempsville tied for 5th, and Cox placed 7th, becoming three of the eight teams to qualify for the State event. First Colonial finished 9th and Bayside 10th, just missing the qualifying field.

Sleeve McPherson of Kellam finished 14th and will make the trip to Williamsburg as an individual winner. The Eastern Regional qualifies to send fifteen individuals as well as the eight teams to the State Championship.

Princess Anne Shocks Bayside 20-18

Friday night's game at Bayside provided an avid football fan with all the excitement he could want from the game of football. The outcome was in doubt until the very end, but when the final gun sounded the Princess Anne Cavaliers were out in front 20-18.

The Cavaliers came to play succeeding play, Ahies fumbled it back to the Marlins, with Jack Wilson recovering.

The nip in the air must have caused cold fingers in the third quarter, for moments later Ahies recovered another Bayside fumble. They were not to enjoy the comforts of possession long. A few plays football, and play football they did. Their losing season was nowhere in evidence as quarterback Mike Ange took command in the first quarter, starting things off with a 65 yard pass to Mike Casey. Ange then handed off to Ken Ahies on the one-yard line, and Ahies pushed over for the game's first score. Dennis Allard booted the conversion point for a lead which the Cavaliers never gave up.

In the second quarter, Ahies again went over for a score, this time from the two. Allard's kick missed, and the Cavaliers bounded out in front 13-0.

After their stunning upset over Norview last week, the Bayside Marlins appeared to be a little sluggish at the beginning.

later, Princess Anne tumbled, and Nick Daversa gathered the piskin in for his Marlin offensive unit.

In the fourth quarter Chipok hit Thad Harold with a ten yard touchdown pass. Chipok's two-point conversion pass attempt to Leroy Baxter was no good, leaving Bayside a point short at 13-12.

A few plays later, Princess Anne was deep in her own territory. On a third down, Ahies surprised the Marlins with a 60 yard quick kick to get them out of trouble. With 4:50 left in the game, Mike Casey picked off a long Chipok pass. This time the Cavaliers made it across the goal line without error when Ahies made a two yard plunge

But after Princess Anne's second touchdown, the Marlins came to life. Running back Roger Baxter took the Cavalier's kickoff and ran it back 80 yards for his team's first touchdown of the game. Quarterback Tom Chipok's two-point conversion pass attempt to Mike Kelley did not connect, and Bayside trailed 13-6.

Just as the second half got underway, Roger Baxter again took the kickoff and returned it to his own 38, where he fumbled the ball. Richard Shuler recovered for the Cavaliers, but Princess Anne could not move the ball. Allard was called in to attempt a 40 yard field goal, but he failed to split the uprights.

Bayside again was challenging when Cavalier Ken Ahies intercepted a Chipok pass on his own 13 yard line. But on a over right tackle for another six points, Allard's kick was good on the conversion try, and the Cavaliers increased their lead to 20-12.

Chipok unlimbered his throwing arm in the fourth quarter, completing 9 to 16 passes. Utilizing his favorite receivers, the Baxter brothers, Chipok hit Leroy with a 12 yard pass for the Marlin's third score. Again trying to pull the game out, Chipok's pass to Roger Baxter for the two-point conversion was broken up by Rodney Steele, leaving Bayside two points short at 20-18.

Not giving up, Bayside made an onside kick, which was recovered by Marlin Glen Edmonson. Bayside was again on the move as the clock was running out, but an outstanding Cavalier defense was not be denied a victory. Ken Ahies intercepted Chipok's last pass of the game, and the scrappy Princess Anne gentlemen won 20-18.

Ken Ahies was the star of the show for Princess Anne. Ahies scored all three Cavalier touchdowns, gained 36 yards rushing, recovered a fumble, and intercepted two passes to stop

Pilots Down Kempville 30-0

Once beaten Norview moved into a battle for a share of first place honors in the Eastern District with undefeated Maury tomorrow night by downing the Kempville Chiefs 30-0 last Friday night. A Norview victory over Maury will move the Pilots into a tie for the Eastern District title.

Displaying an explosive offense and a tenacious defense, the Norview Pilots throttled Kempville's efforts time after time. On their way to their 30 points, the Pilots ground out 350 yards on the ground and passed for 132 more, for a total offensive effort of 482 yards.

Fullback Thurman Biggs and quarterback Allen Rose started for Norview. Biggs scored three touchdowns and gained 175 yards in 25 carries. Rose hit 6 of his 9 pass attempts for 125 yards and two touchdowns.

After a superb all-around effort in their victory over Indian River a week earlier, the Kempville defense could not stop the rushing Pilots and the offensive unit could manage but 161 yards, 19 rushing and 142 passing. Brian Catlin was his team's leading groundgainer, picking up 22 yards in 6 attempts. Julius Hurdle picked up 9 yards in one carry, and Billy Paschall was dropped for a minus 12 yards in 4 carries.

Paschall turned in another outstanding game in the passing department, completing 9 of 17 attempts for 142 yards. Paschall tried desperately to get his team back in the game, but a tough Norview defense and four Kempville turnovers, three fumbles and an interception, kept the Chiefs shy of paydirt.

In addition to being Kempville's leading runner, Catlin led the receivers with a total of 68 yards in 2 catches.

Wildcats Maul Kellam 23-8

Kellam lost a game they really wanted to win for their coach John Cooke, but the stronger forces of Great Bridge were too much. After being held to an 8-8 tie in the first half, the bigger Wildcats of Great Bridge scored in each of the last two quarters to win 23-8.

Kellam coach John Cooke was a former Wildcat during his high school days, and it was his desire to take his team into the Wildcat's lion and emerge with a victory pelt. His Knights played an inspired first half game, but the bigger Great Bridge team and the depth of its bench was too much in the end.

After injury and accuracy problems plagued his two starting quarterbacks, Coach Cooke dipped into his freshman ranks and pulled out 5 feet 10 inches 140 pound Gene Bunn to run the team. For his first varsity start, Bunn played a creditable game. He completed 6 of 16 passes for 84 yards, including a 22 yard touchdown pass to halfback Mike Delullo. Speedy Clinton Cuffee ran the two-point conversion in from two yards out, and the scrappy Knights were tied with Great Bridge 8-8.

Kellam added 61 yards rushing to its 84 yards passing to make a total of 145 offensive yards. The Wildcats were held to 11 yards passing, but managed to rack up 215 yards rushing for an offensive total of 226 yards. Most of the Great Bridge yardage came on long gains.

Five Kellam miscues added to their losing cause. Besides losing one fumble, the Wildcats picked off four Knight passes. The rushing Wildcats also broke through the Kellam offensive line and nailed Bunn in his own end zone for a safety and two points.

The victory moved Great Bridge into a second-place tie in the Southeastern District with Indian River and Western Branch, all sporting 6-3 records. The loss was Kellam's eighth in nine starts, and the Knight's 1-8 record puts them in tenth place in the Eastern District.

Mike Wareing, with the help of a key block by Chris Paphites, runs 38 yards down the right sideline for a touchdown.

Joe Williams carries.

First Colonial Wins 8th, 21-Zip Over Lake Taylor

Those amazing men with their football machine from First Colonial High School notched their eighth victory of the year over a tough Lake Taylor team. All the scoring in the 21-0 Patriot win came in the second half.

After a scoreless defensive struggle in the first two quarters.

Whatever Coach Frank Webster told his Patriots at halftime got results, for his team returned to the field of battle and scored three of the first four times they got the football. Mike Wareing got a key block from Chris Paphites and flirited with the right sideline for 38 yards, scoring the game's first touchdown. Butch Foley booted the conversion, and the Patriots took the lead 7-0.

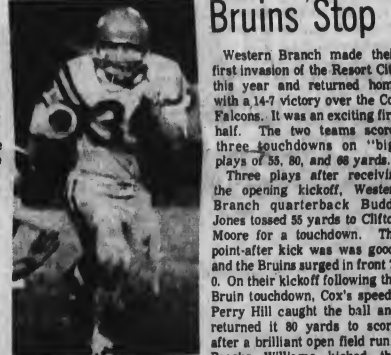

In the third quarter, a Foley pass to Paphites and a long gain by Foley moved the ball to the 1 1/2 yard line, where Tyrone Little got it and took it in for the score. Another Foley boot put the Patriots in front 14-0. As the clock was ticking down to 1:47 to go in the game, 6 feet one inch end Mike O'Reilly grabbed a 42 yard pass for the final Patriot score. Foley's conversion kick was true again, and the Patriots led and won 21-0.

"Anytime you can hold Lake Taylor scoreless you've played a good defensive game," Coach Webster jubilated afterwards. With 196 points for the season, Lake Taylor leads the Eastern District in scoring. Shutting them out is a great achievement.

Leading the Patriot defense was George Myers. It seemed as if there were five George Myers on the field at times. He was all over the field, making key tackles, harassing the Titan quarterback, and breaking up Lake Taylor rushing plays before they could get underway. In the third quarter, Myers intercepted a Titan aerial to choke off a strong drive.

"The defense did the job!" Webster commented, as he praised George Myers, Rick Romano, Scott Davison, Curt Lowery, David Bradshaw, and Jay Kight for their defensive finesse. Bradshaw dropped the Titan signal-caller for large losses. Mike Wareing came up with a big interception with 8:00 left in the game to help protect his team's shutout. The tough First Colonial defense limited explosive Lake Taylor to 108 yards total offense, 57 yards by land and 51 by air.

The First Colonial offense rolled up 275 yards rushing and threw for 72 more, for a total of 347 yards. Offensive honors go to the offensive line in addition to the ballcarriers. Butch Foley completed two of six passes for 72 yards and one touchdown. Foley also kicked three point-after conversions and carried the ball 15 times for 60 yards. Tyrone Little gained 56 yards in 7 carries. Joe Williams added 16 yards in 6 carries. Butch Foley carried 10 times for 46 yards, and Mike Wareing wound up the leading ground gainer for the night with 75 yards in 6 attempts.

Bruins Stop Cox 14-7

Western Branch made their first invasion of the Resort City this year and returned home with a 14-7 victory over the Cox Falcons. It was an exciting first half. The two teams scored three touchdowns on "big" plays of 35, 80, and 66 yards.

Three plays after receiving the opening kickoff, Western Branch quarterback Buddy Jones tossed 55 yards to Clifton Moore for a touchdown. The point-after kick was good, and the Bruins surged in front 7-0. On their kickoff following the Bruin touchdown, Cox's speedy Perry Hill caught the ball and returned it 80 yards to score after a brilliant open field run. Brooks Williams kicked the point-after, and with 9:25 still to go in the first quarter the score was tied at 7-all.

With just 2:15 to go before halftime, halfback Willy Wilson tossed 68 yards to Jonathan Williams. The conversion kick was good, and the Bruins had gained their winning margin 14-7.

After the fireworks display in the first half by the two offensive units, the Senior Night crowd expected another explosive half in the second. But the rest of the game proved to be a defensive battle, with neither team able to score. As the game ended, Cox was at the Bruin three yard line, but an end-zone pass just skinned by the receiver to end the game.

Leading the Cox defensive unit were Brooks Williams, Bill Summs, Chuck Litz, and Trey Jewell. Brooks Williams had a first quarter fumble recovery, and Bill Summs kept pressure on the Bruin signal-caller throughout the game.

Weekend At Hood

Hood College in Frederick, Md., has invited area high school juniors and seniors to attend a "Let It Happen" weekend on campus Nov. 13-14. Sponsored by the Hood Alumnae Association, the special weekend is designed to give prospective students the opportunity to become better acquainted with Hood and its students.

The Association has chartered a bus which will leave Virginia Beach on Nov. 13 at 7:30 a.m. The bus will stop in Richmond for additional students. Area women interested in participating in the college weekend should contact Mrs. Michael Marino, 402 26th Street, Virginia Beach, for additional information.

The other buses will transport students from points north and west. Approximately 200 visiting students are expected on campus for the weekend.

Health Tests Scheduled

The Virginia Beach Health Department announces a schedule for skin tests which are required for all food handler permits.

Tests will be given at 19th and Artie on Wednesdays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.; at 930 Independence Blvd. on Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.; and at 2435 Princess Anne Road on Thursdays from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Applicants must bring a small picture (approximately 2" x 2") the day the skin test is read. Tests will be read at 19th and Artie on Fridays from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.; at 930 Independence Blvd. on Mondays from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.; and at 2435 Princess Anne Road on Mondays from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Permits will not be issued without the picture.

For additional information contact Mrs. Ealy at 427-4261.

based on opposition to the rehabilitation center which, attorney Richard Brydges said, the Pungo residents felt would be insufficiently supervised. Mayor Donald Rhodes told a attorney William Burnside, representing Rock Church, that he hoped the application would be submitted for another site; Councilman Robert Callis urged that if he submitted in its entirety, the applicant, John Gliniewicz, "is the only one who has done anything about drug addiction."

Approved 9-1 (Mayor Rhodes dissenting) 306 campaigns on property along the Inland Waterway, near Knotts Island. Deferred for two weeks, on a second vote, Wayne McLeskey's change of zoning and use permit for a shopping area near the entrance to Chesapeake Colony. The residents oppose the center, which would include a Woolco

Dept. Store and a Giant Open Air Market, because of insufficient buffer between the commercial and residential properties, and possible traffic congestion. Property adjoining the site is already zoned commercial. This particular piece, however, is zoned for apartments, which residents said they preferred over a shopping complex. On the first vote, Murray Malbon's motion that the application be denied was defeated 7-3 with only he, Reid Ervin and Floyd Waterfield voting for his denial. Malbon then asked for a 2-week deferment (telling the attending residents "It's your next bet.") which was approved 10-0.

Approved an office for Dr. Douglas Knightright on Potters Road at London Bridge and denied an office for a new doctor on Rosemont Road in Princess Anne Plaza.

A Reflection

Rape, Robbery

Suspect Apprehended

A suspect was arrested shortly before midnight last Saturday night in connection with reports of an armed robbery and rape.

Police identified the suspect as Roy W. Mitchell, 23, of Princess Anne Road.

Officials quote Stephen M. Doyle, 28, Oleane Circle, Norfolk, with saying he was accosted about 9 p.m. as he left his car in the lot of Rogues Gallery, on 17th Street, by a subject who told him "Hold it right there, don't move or I'll shoot you."

Doyle indicated the assailant then held a gun to his side and again warned him "Don't act funny or holler or I'll shoot you, give me your wallet."

The assailant removed $20 from the wallet, handed it back to Doyle and fled on foot.

An 18-year-old girl is quoted by police with saying she stopped about 11:45 p.m. near the intersection of 17th Street and Cypress Avenue by a subject who forced her to her home about a block away.

Once inside her apartment, the girl stated, the assailant forced her into a bedroom and raped her.

Mitchell was afforded a hearing in Municipal Court Monday for the appointment of counsel, and remain in custody of City Jail in lieu of bond to await further legal proceedings.

Beach Units To Parade

A Giant Balloon Parade to open the holiday season in Tidewater will be held Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in downtown Norfolk. It will also salute the 100th anniversary of the Norfolk Fire Department, and the opening of Scope.

One hundred and thirty-two units will participate. Those from The Beach include an old fire engine upon which Miss Virginia Beach will ride; Bayside Marching Band and Drill Team; Tidewater Twirlettes; Shirley Darden Brown, majorette; Unicacies; an old hook and ladder truck; Kempville High School Band. The Kempville Band competed in Las Vegas, and will wear, in the parade, Disney character costumes.

Symphony Presents Concert

The Norfolk Symphony will present its second subscription concert of the season on Monday evening, November 15 at 8:30 PM in the Center Theatre. Famous Spanish pianist Alicia de Llorocha will be featured in two of the four works on the program. Manuel de Falla's "Nights in the Gardens of Spain" and Ravel's Concerto in G Major.

Music Director Russell Stanger will conduct the concert, which will include, in addition to the two piano works, the tone poem "Pohjola's Daughter" by Sibelius, and "Epimetheus, U.S.A." by contemporary American composer Gene Gutche.

A native of Barcelona, Alicia de Llorocha is one of the outstanding pianists of our time. She has appeared with virtually all of the world's major Symphony orchestras and has made numerous recordings.

Gene Gutche, who lives near Minneapolis, Minnesota, is no stranger to Norfolk Symphony audiences. In recent seasons the orchestra has performed his "Holofernes," "Hsiang Fei," and "Aesop Fabier" Suite. Mr. Gutche will be present at this performance.

YWCA Sets Workshops

The YWCA will offer a variety of Christmas workshops at Y headquarters in the Princess Theatre Building. They will run daily from Nov. 15-19, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Workshops include: Nov. 15, Christmas All Through the House, Mrs. C.L. Hershberger; Nov. 16, A display and instruction on How to Make Christmas, by Mrs. B.B. Russell and Mrs. H.C. Richards; Nov. 17, How to Make Small Quilted Items for Gifts, Mrs. Larry Stallard; Nov. 18, Pressed Flowers and Picture Making, Mrs. H.E. Billips; Nov. 19, Candles for All Occasions, Mrs. Homer Freeman.

The series costs $10; a single class, $2.50.

Students Launch Projects

Members of the Student Cooperative Association of Kempville Junior High School have launched a series of community service projects.

The initial project was a drive for the United Communities Fund in which $390.14 was raised through voluntary contributions on the part of all 44 homerooms. No soliciting was conducted outside the school, and all contributions were made by the students.

Other projects planned for the immediate future include a Thanksgiving drive to benefit needy families and a Christmas project for the benefit of children and/or the elderly.

Additional projects planned for the school year include the sponsoring of a child overseas.

Canada's Victory Certified

By Electoral Board

Official tabulation of votes cast in last Tuesday's General Election show A. Joseph Canada won his 8th Senatorial District seat by a margin of 1,807 votes.

Canada, who becomes the first Republican to represent Virginia Beach in the General Assembly in over a century, received a total of 6,979 votes. Incumbent Edward T. (Ned) Caton, III, who campaigned as an independent placed second with 5,172 votes. Del. Richard D. Guy, Democratic standard bearer, finished third with 4,851 votes.

The Electoral Board's certification of ballots cast showed increases in votes received by all three candidates over those recorded by unofficial election night tabulations. Canada's increase was 332 votes, Caton's 144 votes, and Guy's 150 votes. The certification showed B.R. "Bev" Middleton lead balloting in the 40th District House of Delegates election with 14,200 votes. Glen B. McClanahan was second with 13,348 votes, while Owen B. Pickett polled 12,700 votes to finish third.

Middleton was the incumbent among the unopposed Democratic House of Delegates candidates.

Resort city voters chose Independent Henry E. Howell, Jr., as their choice for Lt. Governor with a total of 11,926 votes. Democrat George J. Kostel finished second with 7,732 votes, and Republican George P. Shafran polled 5,290 votes.

Official certification showed a record 25,133 votes were cast in the General Election, to be surpassed only by the voting in the 1968 presidential election.

Robbery Suspect Arrested

Officials say they have charged John Walter Benn, Jr., with the armed robbery of two sisters last week in their Bonney Road home last week.

Benn, 20, of Sykes Avenue, is a suspect in the reported theft of an estimated $3,500 in cash by two men.

A second suspect, identified by police as Edward Leroy Mitchell, 25, of Harmony Square, is still being sought in connection with the robbery.

Investigators quote Rosa V. Smith, 63, and her 66-year-old sister Nancy E. Moore with saying they were beaten about the face and head during the robbery.

Rosa Smith's brother, James, 66, was not home at the time.

Ben, at last reports, was in custody of City Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond awaiting further legal proceedings.

Local Woman Injured in Wyo.

Mrs. Betty D. Manos, 42, of Virginia Beach was injured in an accident on Interstate 80 near Rawlins, Wyoming on November 2.

She is in Memorial Hospital, Rawlins, Wyoming suffering from severe facial and leg lacerations. Her automobile hit a patch of ice causing it to leave the roadway and strike a bridge abutment.

Mrs. Manos was pinned in the automobile. Local rescue units were called to free her from the completely demolished automobile.

Last reports indicate that Mrs. Manos is improving.

Contributing Charges Dismissed

Juvenile Court Judge Kenneth N. Whitehurst, Jr., Tuesday dismissed charges against the adults who were arrested during a party at a Garrison Place residence.

Each had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors when, according to officials, large quantities of beer were being consumed by juveniles as well as adults. Judge Whitehurst based his action on grounds the arrests were made illegally when the residence was entered by police without the benefit of a search warrant.

Those cleared of the contributing charge were identified as Charles R. Mulder, 19, S. Clubhouse Road; Mary Elise, 43, St. Charles Convent, Clannaminon, N.J.; Eileen I. Lowden, 30, St. Elizabeth Convent, Burnardsville, N.J.; William H. Verner, 19, Princess Anne Road; Floyd A. Mountain, Jr., 19, Fox Run Road; Kathryn V. Sawyer, 47, St. Mary's Convent, S. Amby, N.J.; Robert D. Hockman, 18, Garrison Place; Marie E. Hennessy, 43, St. Charles Borromeo Convent, N.J.; Donnie J. Henson, 21, Stanch Street; and Helen A. Hockman, 38, Garrison Place.

Charges against Helen Hockman of operating a disorderly house were also dismissed by Judge Whitehurst.

Three Rescued From Atlantic

A Coast Guard helicopter rescued three Virginia Beach men Sunday after their 35-foot cabin cruiser sank in the Atlantic about five miles east of the Mayflower Apartments building.

The men were identified as E. Marvin Slaughter, 45, of Thalia Point, owner and operator of the cruiser "The Dolphin"; Ronald T. Wilson, of Hudgins Drive; and Darcy Mesiano, 28, of Adelf Drive.

Slaughter was quoted with saying one of the cruisers engines failed during a storm as water began pouring over the stern of the cruiser. The men donned life jackets, radioed their position to the Coast Guard and jumped overboard.

A search and rescue operation was launched involving a Coast Guard C-130, helicopter, the cutter Point Brown and a Navy helicopter.

The men were located shortly before noon after spending approximately one hour in the 66 degree temperature water, and airlifted to Norfolk Regional Airport.

Murder Suspect Bound Over

Accomac County Judge Norman Mason has ordered Edward Benjamin Short bound over to a grand jury in connection with the murder of Ralph Young.

The partially decomposed body of Young, a 31-year-old Cape Charles antique dealer, was discovered in a ditch in the Accrable section of Virginia Beach in September of last year.

Short, 22, was confined to a Georgia prison when a Virginia Beach grand jury indicted him for the murder of Young.

Trial proceedings were transferred to Accomac County when investigation indicated that Young's murder took place on the Eastern Shore and his body disposed of in the report city.

Further legal proceedings in the case are scheduled on Dec. 6 in Accomac County.

Tarrall Speaks

Girl Scout Leaders of Area IV held their annual Area Association meeting-luncheon November 3. The theme was Flag Flung On the Way, a prelude to a councilwide event in the spring.

Guest speaker was Elmer Tarrall, Assistant Superintendent of Supported Service for Beach Schools. Special guests included Mrs. John Ford, whose husband, Capt. Ford, is commanding officer of Oceana Naval Base; Mrs. Alwyn Smith, Mrs. Janet Griffith; Lt. Col. Frank Kattwinkla, on the Girl Scout board of directors; Karl Lawler, president of Greater Tidewater Council; Helen Kischer, vice president Council; Aaron Parson, Beach Community Center director; Edith Price and Mrs. Louise Venable Kyle, two of the former scouters of the area.

Mayor's Fact-Finding Report Not "Pigeonholed"

By Lee Lehigh

This is the first of a series of articles to appear in the Virginia Beach Sun to be devoted to the contents of the eight month study just completed by the Mayor's Fact Finding Committee.

The report of the Fact Finding Committee released this week contains a number of wide sweeping recommendations which would affect future operations in Virginia Beach regarding property tax assessments, administration of the public schools, the City Planning Department, The Parks and Recreation Department, and overall economic development of the resort city. The Committee was appointed by Mayor Donald H. Rhodes last February to assist City Officials to best serve the public interest in the overall future of Virginia Beach.

Mayor Rhodes indicated the value he placed on the report shortly after his receipt of the Committee's findings by saying "The first step is my desire not to pigeonhole this report. It is not going to be something that I plan to file away, or thank Committee members for and forget them."

Nearly one-half of the 31 page report was devoted to recommendations, and examples to support these recommendations, for revising existing policies under which tax assessments of commercial and residential properties in Virginia Beach.

The report quotes Committee members with saying "We found through investigation there are a great deal of inequities in the assessment of taxes which is widespread throughout Virginia Beach and not limited to any one area."

"During the course of our consideration of various sources of revenue which comprise the city budget," the report added, "considerable discussion ensued regarding what some members of this Committee felt to be rather serious inequities in the appraisal of like properties within the City of Virginia Beach. This contention was convincingly substantiated by the review of a subcommittee of the Fact Finding Committee of the tax records in the City Tax Appraiser's Office for a number of properties both residential and commercial throughout the City."

To substantiate these irregularities the report listed eight pages of specific examples of commercial and residential land transactions which allege obvious under assessment of choice property sites in the city, including three pages of examples which question existing procedures applied to applications for exonerations from real estate taxes.

Examples included property on Holland Road which Committee members felt were sold for from six to ten times their appraised value, contiguous tracts of land in the Washwoods area with like zoning which were tax assessed at different rates, and under assessment of property in the Bay Island, Linkhorn Park, and Linlier areas.

Committee members found fault with the present system of granting real estate tax exonerations on grounds of incorrect assessment. Examples included exonerations on land purchased by developers for amounts far in excess of the original appraised value, which existed prior to purchase. Yet, the original appraised value has been reduced by more than 75 percent of the original appraisal. According to the report "the reason given in each case for the exonerations was that the land was being farmed."

These tax exonerations examples were based on Terry Corporation transactions involving 308.375 acres of land in the Kempsville Borough.

According to the report original tax assessments on the property totaled $11,456.40. In June of this year, the report indicates, Terry Corporation managed to obtain an adjusted tax assessment totalling $3,724.50 on grounds the land was being farmed. This provided for an exonerated tax relief of $7,731.90.

In order to correct such situations the Committee recommended "that all applications for exonerations of real estate assessments where the tax to be abated exceeds $375 be published by the City."

The Committee also recommended "The Assessor's Office should be immediately staffed with qualified personnel to equitably reappraise all property in the City. The reassessment of all real estate should not be delayed until 1973, but should be completed by the next budget year."

An additional step which Committee members said should be taken to correct alleged irregularities in tax assessments involved the Commissioner of Revenue. They said "Because of the interrelationship of the Assessor's and the Commissioner of Revenue's Office, the changes made in the Assessor's Office should be adapted to the Commissioner of Revenue's Office. We feel that business personal property is underassessed in many instances and possibly not assessed in

'Disaster' Sought For Soybean Farmers

City Council has approved a resolution asking that the Federal Government declare Virginia Beach a disaster area in hopes that local soybean farmers will receive some financial assistance in offsetting damage from the heavy rainfall.

Princess Anne Councilman Curtis Payne urged council to support the farmers, explaining that many of the farmers had suffered earlier from the corn blight and the effects of Hurricane Ginger.

Now the farmers face financial disaster in the loss of soybean crops which have been heavily damaged by the 16 inches of rain the area had from September 30 to October 31.

Payne who spoke on behalf of Agriculture Agent Dick Cockrell, said that nearly all of the 22,000 acres of soybeans had been damaged and that at least 2,000 planted with the Hill variety will not even be harvested.

"Some farmers have lost as much as $25,000 on this one crop," Payne said. Those who had corn crops damaged by the blight earlier in the season apparently suffered even heavier losses. He said the crops that did survive the blight were harvested but the income barely covered the cost of raising the crops.

In appealing to local congressmen having the Farmers Home Authority declare Virginia Beach a disaster area, council also urged that they support a change in the FHA loan policy.

Council asked that the payment of money borrowed on the loan be extended from one year to seven to give the farmers a chance to recoup some of their losses.

"The way it's set up now, the farmer must repay a FHA loan in a year, out of the following year's crops, but with losses like $25,000 they can't do it," Payne said. "That's why we hope the time can be extended over a seven year period."

Little Theatre Week Set

Mayor Donald Rhodes has issued a proclamation declaring the week of November 21 - 27, "Little Theatre of Virginia Beach Week."

On Sunday, November 21 at 2 p.m., Mayor Rhodes will officiate, along with Frank R. Dunham, Executive Director of the Virginia Commission of the Arts and Humanities, at the formal ribbon-cutting ceremonies at the Theatre's new building at the corner of 24th Street and Barborton Drive.

Members and contributors to the Building Fund of LTVB have been invited to attend the ceremony which will be followed by an Open House from 2 to 4 p.m. Little Theatre Board members will be on hand to greet visitors and act as guides. The general public is invited to attend the Open House from 4 to 6 p.m. and inspect the premises. Memberships and season tickets will also be available for purchase during these hours.

For the Little Theatre group, opening the 1971 Season in their own permanent home will be a culmination to more than 23 years of hard work and determined devotion in offering fine entertainment to the public.

"We plan to improve it as we go along," said Elizabeth Hamblin, Vice President of the group.

The Virginia Beach City Council granted the group's request for $15,000 to help construct the theatre. "We are proud of our people, proud of our building, and particularly proud of our City Government," said Mrs. Hamblin. She praised the Council for recognizing a need for the encouragement of cultural activities in Virginia Beach, and commended the 150 contributors and more than 350 members of this group for their dedication.

On Friday, November 26th at 8:30 p.m. the curtain will rise on the first production in this new facility when the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical The King and I will open with a black tie champagne gala.

Look Kids! No Exams

Remember those mid-term exams that you pored over in secondary schools?

No more a thing of the past. In a move destined to make them popular with all students, at least, the School Board Tuesday agreed:

All mid-term examinations be eliminated with the exception of semester subjects; that final examinations be given all students at the end of the school year with the exception of honor graduates as outlined by previous School Board policy; that the final examination be weighted: no more than one-seventh of the total grade.

It was felt that the 3-day period of examinations could be better utilized. Pressures, too, would be minimized on both students and teachers, and an examination could be given at the end of the semester, taking effect immediately.

Tuesday's meeting was attended by all 11 members. They observed that the special public evening meetings held to give the citizens a chance to express views of housing the increased population, have been well attended, the newspapers notwithstanding.

Mrs. Gwyn Wood, President of Virginia Beach SONS spoke feelingly before the Board again.

Noting that she had been in Washington, D.C. representing SONS, talking with many officials concerning the housing situation, she said: "We discovered that those officials who said they were against busing were sending their children to private schools."

She elaborated on the effect of busing at the beach. "Here in Sealeck there is absolutely no school spirit. The blacks are against it as much as the whites, and the slow learners are holding up the brighter ones. Questioning the Board on the status of Sealeck, she asked if it were true that it is still considered a deprived school, eligible for Title II Federal Funds. It was determined that it is, as are 11 others in the city.

Mrs. Wood elaborated on the Hawaiian School plan, where all islands are governed by one School Board. She asked if the Board knew of the Child Advocacy Law, for which funds have already been allocated by the state, where children from the age of two are taken from their parents and placed in day care centers, not only on week-

Clean-Up Week

Mayor Donald H. Rhodes has proclaimed Nov. 15-20 as "Let's Be Thankful for a Clean City Week." It is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Council of Garden Clubs.

Some 2,500 Girl Scouts are helping in the project, as are Boy and Cub Scouts, civic leagues, and individual garden clubs. All Schools have received letters asking them to participate.

Awards will be made to businesses and schools that keep their grounds litter-free.

PA Parent's Night
It will be back-to-school for parents of Princess Anne High School students Thursday. They'll congregate in the auditorium at 7 p.m., and visit in the classrooms.

Young Life Director

He Walks Among Youth And Quietly 'Sells' Christ

Greg Kinberg is 34 years old, a college graduate, married, and the father of an infant daughter. He spends the better part of the week in high school. Not teaching. Just roaming the halls.

He may be the answer to drug abuse, student unrest, teen-age insecurity. Kinberg, who looks younger than most of the students, is the Virginia Beach director of Young Life, a Christian movement directed specifically at high school students.

Young Life is an international movement, as Kinberg explains it, and was started by a man named Jim Rayburn "to bring every high school person face to face with Jesus Christ, let them look at Him, then choose what they will do." This is accomplished by going into specific schools at least 15 hours spread, one that is somewhat of a pacemaker in the community. Three or four days a week he can be spotted in the halls, just wandering, talking to kids. His reception has been "good," but Kinberg will be the first to admit it's slow.

"It's very sporadic," he said, "and very slow. But every day I see more kids and meet new kids and it's a good reception."

He doesn't greet the young people with a sermon or a lecture. He meets them with a smile and a genuine concern in them as people. The only thing he "sells" is interest in joining in the weekly club, an hour-long fellowship with singing (Simon and Garfunkle as well as modern spiritual songs), humorous skits and about 15 minutes of serious talk, usually on an incident out of the New Testament.

"A kid who's not interested in Christ at all can come and loosen up and really enjoy himself; he can have a good time and tune out the last 15 minutes," Kinberg explained. "We don't push things on kids. They don't have to listen. We try and let kids be themselves, to think what they want to think. We don't force them to think our way."

Kinberg has his work cut out for him. He enters the school strictly on his own, walking a fine line between the students and the administration, dressing casually enough to fit in with the young people, yet "conventional enough to be accepted by the teachers and administrators. His target is the group of youngsters who never went to church, and his eventual aim is to interest them in attending the church of their choice. "They're not an easy group to reach," he admits.

Young Life is new to Virginia Beach. It was initiated here two months ago. Kinberg could have about 100 kids involved by now, he said, if he had approached youth groups in the area, "but they're not the ones who need to be reached." It's slow. But it's rewarding because he has already made some headway. "Of the 40 or so who came to our first club, about 75 per cent are involved in no church at all, have no Christian belief, and make no bones about it," he smiled. "That's exactly what we're going after. He has already had young people tell him they are involved in drugs. This doesn't scare him. He understands. And has his own ideas on how to deal with the problem.

"The whole thing to drugs is the kids think it's a great life. The only way to stop it is to show them it's a cop out from a better life. The only possible answer is to show them something better...drugs is really a great thing to kids, it fills a lot of needs, it closes out a lot of problems, makes them feel good, a lot of things people need to feel—joy, peace—they get these things from drugs. That's why it's such a problem. But we have something better.

"Christ said Himself that He offers peace and joy and security. Kids are taking drugs because of their insecurity. We can show them a better way to go. But it takes time. It takes months. And they are touchy months. I've never talked to a kid one time and made him see the light. I never know whether I'm going to see a kid again or not."

Security is the one thing Young Life hopes to instill in young people because "kids who don't have security don't like themselves and they take out their frustrations on other people," Kinberg said.

This insecurity is probably more a problem of the times than a breakdown in family life, relationship among people, or other factors so often attributed to the problems of youth. "The tendency today is to point a finger at the parents and say they didn't discipline the kids enough or they disciplined them too much. Sometimes that's true. But sometimes it isn't. Families are destroyed by kids. Healthy families are destroyed by kids. They just get wiped out somewhere along the line, with no fault of the parents," Kinberg said.

Perhaps one of the reasons the youthful director can communicate so well with the kids is he understands them. And they realize it. It wasn't too long ago—four or five years—he walked in their shoes, experienced their frustrations. He was never in the drug scene but he was a long way from church and Christianity and was pretty much like any other teen-ager.

He joined Young Life in high school. Not because he was interested. But because a girl he took a liking to was going to club. "I went too, just because she was going. But I didn't buy it. I went and enjoyed the singing and the skits but I turned out what I didn't want to hear." He eventually saw what Young Life had to offer and decided to make it his future.

It hasn't been easy. After two years of college he spent another two years "in the field," working with hard-core young people in Washington, D.C. He profited from his experiences and today passes on that knowledge to other young people.

Young Life is Kinberg's life. And that of his pretty wife, Jeanine. He works with the boys; she works with the girls. Together they hope to show this way of life to other young people. And, especially, to show it to their year-old daughter when she is a teen-ager. "I don't look forward to that time," Kinberg said knowingly. "I don't want to cross that bridge until I absolutely have to. But I think Jeanine and I together can help her, by living what we believe."

Art On Display At Mall

Bob Givens, vice president in charge of promotions of the Pembroke Mall Merchants Association, has announced that the Mall's annual Invitational Art Show and Sale will begin today.

The three-day event will feature juried, or selected, works by Tidewater artists Alan Jones, Vance Mitchell, Ed Roebuck, Herb Jones, Ed

Carson, A.B. Jackson, Betty Anglin, James Kirby, Walter Edwards, Tom Fentress, Bob Bunnell and Jean Craig Jones.

Commented Givens, "Unlike most shopping center art shows, ours is juried. We have a committee select only the best works by the area's most prominent artists. By doing this, we feel that our art show presents quality, not quantity."

Special Guests Of The Navy

The School of Music Faculty Concert Orchestra at Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base each year holds a special program commemorating Navy Day and it is customary to invite a guest artist from the civilian community to participate. Amendment Proposed To Sign Law

A proposed amendment to the signboard ordinance, pertaining to temporary commercial and industrial signs, is scheduled to come before City Council after it has been properly advertised.

In limited and general commercial districts, the signs must be removed when 70 per cent of the property is occupied, or leased, or after a period of 24 months, whichever comes first.

In these two districts, the signs in neighborhood commercial centers of at least 6,000 square feet of land area cannot exceed 100 square feet of surface; in a community center of 15 acres it cannot exceed 200 square feet; and in a regional center of 30 acres it cannot exceed 300 square feet. Only one temporary sign of two faces can be erected to facilitate occupancy.

The same time or occupancy limit is specified for industrial districts.

In a commercial park of at least 10 acres of land the sign cannot exceed 300 square feet and in a new major industrial park of at least 30 acres of land, it cannot exceed 600 square feet.

The Tidewater Crafts Guild and Ceramic Designers Association join in exhibiting their crafts at the charming Village Gallery in the College Park from November 7, to December 14.

The two groups have become well known in the Tidewater area for their quality work in a variety of media. The display will include ceramic weaving, woodwork, sculpture, macramé, enameling and glass. Set in one of the finest local galleries the exhibit will be open to the public beginning Nov. 7, from 11:00 AM to 5:00 PM daily and 12 noon to 5:00 PM on Saturday and Sunday.

As the vanguard of 40 American families who were to live there from 1960-62, while duPont set up an Orton factory, it was Nettleton's responsibility to arrange for housing, schooling and other necessities.

"We lived on a street with 104 connected row houses. Our house and the one across the street were the only ones with bathing facilities—they all had toilets, of course. But it was a common sight to see families bicycling down the street carrying their towels to the community bathhouse four blocks away for a bath and shower."

And it was the custom for the milkman, striding along in his wooden shoes, to visit daily and inquire how much milk the family wished. Then he would go to his horse-drawn cart and pour the amount in a container. And the housewife always paid on delivery.

"The Dutch are such marvelous people," Nettleton said. "For instance, they have a custom of leaving anonymous gifts on a doorstep. It wasn't until quite a while later that we discovered that our neighbor down the street had left us the three lovely needlepoint pieces we found on our step one day." And he feels that the duPont families may have changed the impression that the people of Dordrecht had of all Americans.

Nettleton said that their Christmas celebration was inspiring, in that they observed Dec. 5 as Saint Nicholas Day, a time to exchange gifts, and Dec. 25 as the birthday of Christ.

As a result the Americans formed The Pilgrim Fellowship, and held services in the Paulus Church, paying rent for the use of the church.

The Rev. Jack Rogers, who was living in Holland, studying for his doctorate at the Free University in Amsterdam, was granted special permission by the Nebraska City Presbytery and accepted the invitation to become the pastor.

But how did they resolve the issue of taking Communion, when so many different denominations were involved?

The Hervormd Dordrecht weekly newspaper said, "The members of the new congregation submitted themselves voluntarily to the discipline of the Dutch Reformed tradition. Each gave up something that they might all sit together around the Communion table and accept the common cup."

Procrastination

City Council leads a complicated existence but there are times when its own procrastination only compounds the complications.

There are times when decisions are painful, when the final outcome will unquestionably bring the wrath of irate citizens down on council's shoulders. But deferring these items and bringing them back again and again does not necessarily soothe the opposition or eliminate the problem or ease the decision.

There are times, of course, when deferment is the only logical answer...when all the facts are not presented, when questions remain concerning the application.

But the item that best illustrates procrastination is the application heard last week by a property owner Wayne McCleskey to change the zoning of property adjoining the entrance to Chesapeake Colony from multi-family residence to commercial. The plans call for a department store and a supermarket at the site. The residents of the Colony prefer that apartments be constructed rather than commercial development.

In face of the strong opposition, it was understandable that Councilman Murray Malbon would support the Planning Commission's recommendation of denial of the application. But his motion failed. His second motion—which he told the attending residents was their "next best bet"—deferred the issue for two weeks. This motion passed.

This means, of course, that the matter must now face council again Monday. Once again the citizens in opposition, as well as the builder and his supporters, must make another trek to council meeting to take their respective stands. The arguments will be presented again, pro and con.

The two week deferment might have merit if additional facts could be presented. But the facts in this particular application have been heard repeatedly over the last few months—before the Planning Commission and City Council in both the application presentation as well as in the Little Neck-Lynnhaven Land Study hearings—and there seems little more that can be said.

The issue here is a delicate one and it is easy to understand, and sympathize with, council's dilemma. But a two-week delay won't solve the problem. It won't just suddenly disappear. Or solve itself. In this particular case—as in some others—the wisdom of deferment appears questionable.

The decision may not be easy. But it won't be any easier Monday than it was two weeks ago. And the delay will have cost the city and many citizens time and money that either can ill afford.

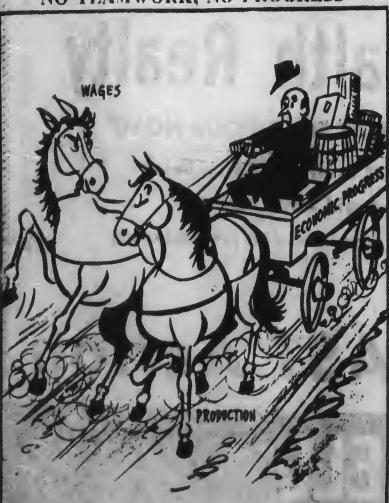

CAGES, by Paul Covert. New York, Liverlight, 1971. $3.95.

CAGES, a novel by a young new writer, is the poignant story of a rather unlikely friendship between Eric, a typical adolescent leading a life hitherto uncomplicated by emotion, and Ward, a strange boy seeming meaning and security in life. Ward finds only misunderstanding at home, misfortune when he loses a strange aloof friend through a tragic death, and cruelty when his relationship with Eric is shattered by smalltown gossip.

Ward's life is one of endings, never beginnings. His insecurity increases when he writes a book that is somewhat autobiographical about his relationship with Eric; he is unable to end the book because he doesn't know which boy is the right one to die.

By the end Eric realizes that there is more to life than fishing and sex and reaches an understanding of Ward and his conflicts and ultimate despair. CAGES is a well-written novel that is both funny and sad and, most of all, an absorbing emotional experience.

NO TEAMWORK, NO PROGRESS

A freeze on corporate profits as some politicians and economists advocate could put the economy into a strait-jacket, and would not solve the problem of controlling inflation and providing an increased number of jobs.

Profit margins (on a percentage of sales) have been shrinking steadily over the last five years and in 1970 reached a 20-year low. Meanwhile, employee compensation per man-hour has increased three-and-one-half times faster than output per man-hour in the same five year period.

Whatever policy for wage-price stabilization is devised, there must be ways to make adjustments for wage increases based on productivity and for price increases which reflect increased costs.

By the same token, there most certainly will be no incentive for increased capital spending and higher productivity by penalizing efficiency. This would be the net result of a surtax-profits tax which would impose a penalty on productivity investment at a time when jobs are needed for the unemployed.

Rev. Thomas Wood At First Baptist

First Baptist Church will welcome its new pastor, the Rev. W. Thomas Wood on December 1. He will preach his first sermon at the church on December 5.

A native of Nansemond County, Rev. Wood is a graduate of Holland High School, Bluefield College, Campbell College and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, where he received a B.A. degree in 1963 and a B.D. degree in 1966.

He comes to the Beach from Covington Baptist Church, where he was the pastor.

His honors include "Most Likely to Succeed," 1958; "Outstanding Young Man of America," 1969; appointed lifetime representative class of 1963; of the National Alumni Board of Campbell College; "Outstanding Student Junior-Senior Years," Campbell.

Rev. Wood is married to Marjorie Ann Boulton of Paducah, Kentucky. They are the parents of a son, William Thomas Wood, Jr., born June 1969 at Norfolk General Hospital.

Plan Draws Opposition

The conservation of Back Bay and its immediate surrounding does not lie in the proposed (Princess Anne) land use plan. Mitigation appears to be the objective. The price will come too high, as seen by the old timers. Modern man's plan is a farce and unrealistic.

To create a playland with parkways and a four-lane highway through the center of Pungo Borough spells its death as an agricultural area.

The Planning Department had best sharpen many pencils, for many corrections will have to take place before any plan is acceptable to Pungo residents. I can assure you this resident will oppose the existing plan as presented in its entirety.

Aparkway with camping areas and observation points and parking areas may sound lovely and look pretty good on paper. But tourists can easily be discouraged and fail to return when confronted by the inhabitants of marshy areas. If the kinsize "skateers" don't cut you alive the "highsize" cottonmouths will. Watch out where you step...the floating marsh and quick mud and sand will devour you in short order.

There are places in Back Bay that will tremble under the weight of a nickel.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Can you imagine using such a foundation for a two-lane highway? It may possibly be here today and gone tomorrow.

Envision, if you will, the destruction left behind as a result of road building. Also, the disruption of people and their homes, uprooted with very little chance of resettling in Pungo because they will be required to purchase at least three acre plots for rebuilding...who can afford one acre, much less three?

Two airports are proposed—one across from the other with Princess Anne Road running right through the middle of the two. What else? Well, if all of the parkway plans fall through, four ferry boats running back and forth across Back Bay are proposed...at a tremendous expense. Who is to pay for this?

All of this just for a daytime recreation area? NO! Not if I can help it. The price is too high, the resulting destruction too vast.

If politicians and private interest groups would cast aside their petty grievances for the good of Pungo and its inhabitants, the answer is simple. The cost of the current proposed plan would hardly cover half the expense "fund-wise" but the savings in property and homes would be worth the extra cost.

Since Virginia is toll-happy anyway, it appears to me the solution lies only in a high-level bridge that would create little or no damage, either to the bay or the land areas.

Even more economically feasible would be a two-lane highway down the beach which would cost less money, but an equal amount of property destruction as would a parkway. Without city water and sewage facilities how can either be accomplished without risk of pollution to land and water areas?

The whole plan is unsound and is currently confined to the "plan stage". Let's hope for the future survival of Pungo Borough it stays there.

Unless the Planning Department can come up with something better than this, Pungo may be forced to withdraw from the city and request annexation by Chesapeake. The redistricting currently places us as being better situated to fall in the 14th District anyway!

To tamper with Pungo is to take a tiger by the tail.

Thank you

Editorial Misses

To the Editor,

I was unmoved by your editorial "The Vice Tightens" about the predicament in which our Councilmen find themselves.

In a representative democratic form of government our elected representatives are obliged to carry out the wishes of their constituents, not to perpetuate the errors of their predecessors. Otherwise, why not elect them for life and save the expense of periodic elections? Our laws wisely allow the electorate to show their approval or disapproval of the actions of their representatives in these periodic elections.

In my opinion your conclusions are completely fallacious.

Sincerely,

Robert E. Graham

To the Editor,

I am alarmed to see Mr. Whitehurst, Director of Virginia Beach Parks and Recreation, report that he is considering "compromising" with land developers to obtain land for recreational use.

Virginia Beach seems to be caught up in a relentless circle of land development, more people, a need for more services, and then more taxes. One inevitably follows the other, but the element that seems to always have to pay the piper is the people themselves. We have

By W. A. Leavell

If you have serious doubts about the future of our economy — and our country itself — you should read THE SICK SOCIETY by Michael Tanzer (Holt, Rinehart, Winston, 30 pp.). Mr. Tanzer has packed 290 pages with some shocking thoughts about this once "Sound as a dollar" country.

Mr. Tanzer is not to be taken lightly. He is not a "Kook" or one of the prophets of doom calling out the end of the world. He is a former economics and social science professor at Harvard. He was an economist for Standard Oil interests abroad and he now heads a consulting firm which specialized in advising foreign governments on the development of business.

As you can see, Mr. Tanzer is not one of our Ivory Tower types. He is not caught up in the liberal or conservative movements. He is one of our Washington "Flock" that has never worked for a living or met a payroll.

I am not promoting his book nor am I saying I think he is 100 per cent right. He offers a black picture of what our country faces. It might not be so bad as he paints but his education, background and position make him more of an authority than some political type trying to calm the public so they can be seduced out of their vote come election time.

In his book Mr. Tanzer says that the big corporations in our country are directly and indirectly responsible for much of our trouble. This includes the world wide gold and dollar crisis, the growing malaise and alienation of much of our country as well as poverty.

He feels that our large corporations are just as much in the business of plundering our citizens as the American robber barons of a century ago. Our new conglomerates have swallowed up 80 of our major corporations. The big are getting bigger and they get more powerful and less considerate of the people all the time.

In his opinion our big corporations manipulate and just about run the Congress. They do this through 97 bankers who are members, 26 savings and loan members, 33 radio and television members, not to speak of all the lawyer members who make or make a living through representing some of our largest corporations.

The control of big business goes so far as to dominate the Federal regulatory agencies, which are supposed to govern most of American business. They do this through Presidential appointments of business leaders to the top agency positions.

He believes that the bankers and corporate lawyers now dominate the American foreign policy, and our international dealing are solely in the interest of our big corporations.

In the last 70 years, since 1900, our troops have intervened 52 times in 15 countries and these have mostly been to protect American corporate interests and not just to protect our people or make the world safe from bad people.

Mr. Tanzer states that we are on the verge of a depression to end all depressions. He feels this one will make the last big one look like a plaything. He feels that our present big corporate society is sick to the point where it will die.

When this collapse comes, and he doesn't think it is far off, he thinks we will have to either become a capitalistic state, such as Nazi Germany was, or a form of socialism with collective government ownership of everything.

That is part of the picture Mr. Tanzer paints in his book, THE SICK SOCIETY. He doesn't think all this is good. He does not look the horn for this change. He doesn't seem to believe in socialism and he seems to feel that it is a crying shame that we are about to lose a good part of our freedoms.

About the only thing the author seems to be against is the big corporation that he feels are bringing all this about.

He might be right, half right or even very little right but he sure makes a good case for his point. Just about everyone who has ever had any direct contact with our large business operations has a story to tell about how callous, insensitive and down right nasty they are. They have done wonders for our standard of living but they are like the house pet that grew up to be a man eating lion. If we are to prove Mr. Tanzer wrong, we better do something to keep our corporation pets from pulling us down with them when our society changes away from big business. Our freedoms are more important than the profits of our big corporations.

To pay for the increase in needed services, including parks and recreation, and now it seems we have to pay with a reduced living pattern resulting from being short-changed because we get only half the land for our recreational use. Recreational areas, parks, and just plain "open spaces" are essential for a socially healthy and balanced environment in Virginia Beach.

The circle starts with land development. Is not this the best place to correct it? I must again question whether our city planners are really concerned with what is happening to Virginia Beach.

Sincerely,
J.E. Weirich

newly elected SGA.

Intramural Athletics

An intramural football league has been formed at the college so as to allow the students to express themselves violently, against each other. Games are played every 8 day afternoon at 2:00. The pub is invited to attend.

A basketball team is presently being formed but the teams have as yet to play their first game.

Parking Lot

After suffering through weeks of rain, mud, and mosquitoes the students finally received a reprieve when the parking lot was partially paved in November 5. The parking lot at the beginning of the quarter was undoubtedly the greatest hazard to education on the Virginia Beach Campus for as soon as the rain began the lot turned to mud. Before long students, teachers, and cars were covered with the stuff and at least two cars a day became badly stuck in the ruts and mud which quickly formed, everywhere a car went. Well, it was now for a while at least.

Student Newspaper

October 20 witnessed the first printing of the "Windjammer," the TCC newspaper. Containing both news and editorials, this medium will allow the students to air their views on the issues of the day. Ed Wiser was appointed Editor at the first meeting of the

A 'People' Party

The Princess Anne Country Club has a number of bi-lingual members so last Saturday Club Manager Roy Niel put them to work as hosts at a People-to-People Party, each working in a setting representative of their "native" land. These hosts were Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Dempster, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin S. Thomas and Mrs. Ruth Van Buskirk, France; Garland S. Flippin, Italy; Col. W.A. Samouce, Russia; Mrs. Samouce, Germany; and Col. and Mrs. Howard Eager, Spain.

INSIGHT

Men of the Beach Borough Fire Department captured second prize for the most outstanding piece of fire fighting equipment over 30 years old in the parade with this restored 1921 fire truck. Miss Virginia Besch, Sandra Rice, waved to the crowd from the truck as it proceeded along the parade route.

Beach Units Parade

Virginia Beach was well represented in Norfolk last Saturday as firemen, fire trucks, clowns, majorettes, and high school bands from the resort city paraded through downtown.

The event was a multi-purposed one to celebrate Norfolk's Centennial, pay tribute to firemen in their devotion to protection of life and property, and officially open the fast-approaching holiday season.

Clowns riding unicycles from Virginia Beach were greeted by happy cheers from hundreds of youngsters on hand for the parade.

Meets Tuesday

The newly reorganized cub pack 449 will hold its first pack meeting on Tuesday, November 23rd at the Brookwood Elementary School auditorium on South Lynnhaven Road, Virginia Beach. The night's activities will include opening remarks by Cubmaster Charles Lougher, a flag ceremony, the presentation of Bobcat pins to the new cub scouts by Vince Yavorosky, and skits performed by the three dens of the pack. Committee Chairman, Terry Fisher, will explain parental participation in cub scouting to the parents while the cubs are competing in game of skill. Interested parents and their boys of ages 8 through 10 that are not cub scouts and attending Brookwood, Holland, Lynnhaven, and Plaza elementary schools are invited to attend.

automobile repair shop and foreign transmission repair shop in the West Oceana Gardens area, providing either the adjoining tree lines is retained or a buffer is provided; and Approved (with Councilman Reid Ervin abstaining because of financial interest) an application of Atlantic Investments, Inc. for a use permit to build a 44-unit motel on the northeast corner of 11th Street and Atlantic Avenue, ocean side.

The only item that drew some opposing votes from council was one on City Manager Roger Scott's agenda, giving the council's approval in reimbursing builder Chris Yoder for bulkheading the oceanfront property for his proposed motel near Rudee Inlet. The commitment from council was needed in order for Yoder to obtain the bank loan, attorney Grover Wright explained. The request for bulkheading funds was based on council's earlier approval of $75,000 to Ramada Inn for a new motel at the South end. Council agreed to support Yoder on the same per-foot rate, which was $156.25 for Ramada Inn.

School Still Supports Bonds

Star of the Sea School continues to excel in the U.S. Savings Bond program initiated and carried on by Mrs. Mary Barraco. Since October 19 alone, the students have been issued 19 bonds worth $1,500. And Mrs. Barraco reports that she has deposited $3,900 in the bank toward U.S. Savings Bonds. This is an active program at Star of the Sea, one that the students obviously support wholeheartedly.

Young Patrick Fleitz of the 2nd grade is proud of the bond he receives from teacher Mrs. Patricia Wiederman.

"I am proud to be holding this award and to wear the American flag," said Michael Blaski of 8th grade to Sister Glenore Joseph when he purchased $250 in bonds. He earned the money this summer and it will go toward his education.

Mrs. Kathleen Gregory's 4th grade continues to lead the school in bond participation. They have had 100 percent participation for the past six weeks. Elizabeth Dietz holds the Achievement Award.

days but on Saturday, Sunday and on vacations. "This looks good on the surface," she said, "but it is control by the government." Mrs. Wood questioned the Board on its views of consolidation. It was stated that they had already gone on record as opposed to it. In other business, the Board learned that the Maintenance Center at Witchduck School site is nearly complete. It will be relocated from Oceana. Spencer Lott, Board Member, suggested that the Board badly needed a public information officer, to put its message across. This was agreed upon. School Supt. E.V. Brickell noted that parking facilities at Aragona Elementary School and John B. Dey have been increased. The dropout high school rate was listed as 4.4 percent. "We try to trace every child who leaves the system, but it's not always possible," he said, adding that they include all those who have moved on, making it difficult to get an accurate count.

Attends Lending Classes

George Lee, Loan Officer and Manager of the Installment Loan Department for People's Bank of Virginia Beach, is presently attending the Commercial Lending School at the University of Oklahoma. According to J. Burton Harrison, Jr., President of the bank, Lee is taking a two-week course in Credit and Statement Analysis.

Thanksgiving Day Service Planned

Thanksgiving Day services will be attended by Christian Scientists throughout the area.

This is the day the Lord hath made:

Be glad, give thanks, rejoice; STAND in His presence, unafraid, In praise lift up your voice."

Other music for the occasion will include, "Because Of Thy Great Bounty" by Leon A. Hoffmeister which will be sung by the soloist, Virginia J. Opalis.

A distinctive aspect of the annual Christian Science Thanksgiving service is the individual expression of gratitude by members of the congregation. No collections are taken.

"To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings," one of the citations to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states.

The service, which will be conducted by William D. Gilliam, the First Reader, and Constance C. Crosby, the Second Reader, also includes this passage from the Bible: "All things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the Thanksgiving of many rebound to the glory of God." Local members invite friends and neighbors to attend.

The service at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 1341 Laskin Road, which is open to the public, is scheduled for Thursday, November 25th at 11 a.m.

Hymns of gratitude are a traditional part of the service. One of the hymns to be sung includes the verse:

MRS. RICHARD PETERS

Pamela Horn Weds Richard R. Peters

Miss Pamela Ann Horn and Pritchard Ray Peters were married October 23 at 7 p.m. in a candlelight double ring ceremony at Christian Mission Alliance Church, Medford, Oregon. The Rev. Alex McCloud officiated.

The bride is the daughter of CWO William J. Horn and Mrs. Horn of the Beach. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. William Peters of Medford.

For her wedding, the bride wore a semi-formal pink and white crepe dress, with long sleeves. Her veil was shoulder length. She carried a nosegay with an orchid center.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Holiday Inn, in Medford. Following a wedding trip to Crater Lake, the couple will live at 871 Cherry Street, Medford.

A graduate of Floyd E. Kellam High School, the bride attended Old Dominion University and William and Mary College. She was formerly a receptionist for the Virginia Beach Sun.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Medford Senior High School. He was recently discharged from the U.S. Navy, where he served four years.

MRS. DANIEL WARTBURG

Sue Barrett Bride Of Daniel Wartburg

The marriage of Miss Sue Anne Barrett and Daniel Merle Wartburg took place November 3 at 7 p.m. at the Chapel of Good Shepard, Oceana. The candlelight double ring ceremony was performed by Chaplin William D. Bruner, USN.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Hoyt S. Barrett. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Wartburg, Jr., of Novato, California.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's gown was semi-formal creme colored crepe with short layered bell sleeves. Her veil was shoulder length. Carnations and sephantis were attached to a bible which she carried.

Miss Joella Caldwell was maid of honor. Her semi-formal gown was blue, trimmed with lace. She wore a short white veil.

The bride is a graduate of Kellam High School. She is a bookkeeper for the Virginia Beach Sun.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Vallejo Senior High School, Vallejo, California. Adam C. Karnes, Jr. served as best man. The couple will live at 414 1/2 20th Street, Virginia Beach.

May Farm Garden Club

May Farm Garden Club of Kingston is participating in the "Let's Be Thankful for a Clean City Week," as part of the club's HANDS' Project. The club members are being assisted in the anti-litter campaign by several scout troops: Junior

Troop 86, removing litter from the Eastern Park and 7-11 area; Cadette Troop 534 cleaning up the Food Town Shopping Center and nearby gas stations; Cub Scout Packs 447 and 65 picking up litter around their meeting areas. The scouts will be using litter and trash bags supplied by the club.

Club members recently attended a flower arranging workshop at the home of Mrs.

John C. Brewington, president of the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach. Mrs. Brewington demonstrated the six basic types of arrangements, using dried plant material, and instructed members on the principles of design involved in creating an arrangement.

MRS. ROBERT REID, JR.

Susan Martak Bride Of Robert Reid, Jr.

Miss Susan Paula Martak and Robert Lancelot Reid, Jr., were married November 13 at 5 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of the Advent, Norfolk. The Rev. Herbert H. Smith, Jr., officiated at the Nuptial Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Martak of the Beach. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Reid of Norfolk.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Peau-de-soie, with lace bodice. Empire waist, sweetheart neckline and Juliet sleeves. Her cathedral veil was lace trimmed. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses, carnations and daisies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles H. McBride, of Baltimore, is a sister of the bride. She wore a light blue chiffon gown. Miss S. Diane Hathaway of Arlington was maid of honor. Her gown was of light Nile green chiffon. Both attendants carried Colonial bouquets of mixed colored miniature carnations and daisies.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles A. Martak, Jr., of Hampton and Miss Debra J. Eckart, of Carlisle, Pennsylvania. Miss Amy Elizabeth Pease of Greenville was flower girl. The ring bearer was Scott James Dunn of Norfolk.

Mr. Reid was his son's best man. Ushers were William E. Hollard, III, of Driver, Virginia; Charles Zoby and Floyd Poss, both of Norfolk.

A reception was held in the church Parish Hall. Following a wedding trip to Nags Head, the couple will live in Norfolk.

The bride is a graduate of Bayside High School and is employed at People's Drug Store, Pembroke Mall.

Life Is Always What You Make It

By Rev. Joyce Kramer

Life is a two-way proposition. It returns to you just what you give to it. Your life will never be anything more or less than you make it. If you are dissatisfied with the results that are coming back to you, take a good long look at what you are contributing.

Do you want to be healthy? Then stop thinking and talking about your symptoms. Believe in your own potential of perfect health and wholeness.

Would you be prosperous and successful? Cultivate an attitude of success and affluence. Express your highest attitude and abilities.

Would you be loved? Be loving. See the great potential within others instead of looking for their limitations.

Make a good investment in life. Give to life what you want to receive and you will be blessed with a great outpouring of God's abundant good in increased form.

THE DIVINE LAW OF GIVING AND RECEIVING IS FULFILLED IN AND THROUGH ME. I INVEST IN LIFE AND AM REPAYED IN INCREASED MEASURE.

Council Of Garden Clubs Adopts Official Seal

Mrs. Jean Ballard, vice president of the Point O' Woods Garden Club won the award in a contest to select an official seal for the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach.

Oval-shaped, its symbolism includes six seed pods representing the six original members of the Council: the date of the Council's beginning, 1950; the grape myrtle, the official flower.

Mrs. Ballard is the wife of Lt. Cmdr. James Ballard and they live on Chicken Valley Road. She was an art education major at the University of Missouri.

Judges in the contest were Cmdr. Donald French, who recently hand-hooked a rug of the seal of the City; Laura Lambe, of Laura Lambe Advertising; Ruth Laasko, of Laasko Art Gallery; Suzanne Holden, women's editor, the Beacon; Helen Crist, women's editor, the Virginia Beach Sun.

Xmas Arrangements On Program

Mixing a liberal portion of wit with flower arranging expertise, Wayne Jones of Herbert Harrell Florists, gave a Christmas demonstration to an attentive audience of representatives of 50 garden clubs at a meeting of the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach, Inc. last week at Thalia United Methodist Church.

"Of course, here in the rainy city of Virginia Beach," he began, as he took yards of red velvet ribbon, twisted it into an impressive bow, placed white feathered birds on the ribbon, and then attached it to a green Christmas wreath. The result? Beautiful.

"And it all looks so easy," one remarked.

A sage bit of advice to users of permanent flowers went: "Dip them in extremely hot water, shake off the excess, and they'll bloom for you before your very eyes." Of course, not literally, but those with which he worked seemed to do just that.

Trouble with securing candles in styrofoam? "Try twisting them as you place them," Jones said.

Mrs. John Brewington, presiding at the Council meeting said that she hoped many of the women would attend a reception on Nov. 19 at 3 p.m. at the General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

"This is their way of saying thanks to all of you who made the landscaping at the hospital possible," she said. The landscaping has recently been completed.

All were urged to cooperate with Anti-litter week, Nov. 15-20.

"We will have 2500 Girl Scouts out in full force working on this. Never in my life have I seen such dedication and so much cooperation from the young people who are helping with this."

Mrs. Brewington noted that the Girl Scouts will perform a Living Christmas tree Dec. 12 in the Princess Anne High School stadium. Admission will be a can or box of food for needy Scouting units or other families.

Beautification chairman, Mrs. James N. Fletcher announced three projects that the Council is undertaking: Beautification of the entrance to the Bay Bridge Tunnel; beautification of the entrance-exit to the Expressway; landscaping of the clubhouse at the Municipal Golf Course, Red Wing Park.

Mrs. C.L. Hershberger reported that plans are going ahead for the Grape Myrtle Ball presented a blueprint of the proposed Memorial Rose Gardens for Red Wing Park.

"It's not feasible to plant the roses now, so we're putting in permanent evergreens at this time."

An expensive proposition, the gardens will cover an area of 75 ft. x 150 ft., so the members were urged to "dig down and send along a check so

There was a recommendation to set aside a section of Red Wing Park Memorial Gardens to honor past Council presidents, by planting Red Wing azaleas.

As part of the program following the meeting, Mrs. C.L. Hershberger gave a reading and illustration of Christmases, the original Christian symbols, now widely used as tree ornaments.

Kempville Jr. Over Bayside Jr. 14-8

O'Hara's 45-Yard Quarterback Sneak Wins Jr. High Championship

Kempville Junior High outscored the Bayside Junior High eleven to win the Virginia Beach Junior High football championship Saturday at the Union-Kempville stadium. The final 14-8 score gave Kempville its first loss of the year and a 5-1-0 mark.

All the scoring came in the first half. Bayside fumbled the opening kickoff, and two plays after Kempville recovered, Mark Bridgeman took the ball in the end zone from two yards out for six points. Kempville kicked off to Bayside again. A stubborn defense held Bayside on downs and then recovered a fumble on Bayside's fourth down punt attempt at the 40 yard line.

On their first play, Kempville scored a touchdown, but an offside penalty wiped the score off the scoreboard. On the next play, Kempville quarterback Scott O'Hara ran a quarterback sneak play 45 yards for a touchdown. Kevin Smith ran in the two point conversion, and within three minutes, Kempville had a 14-0 lead.

Midway through the second quarter, Bayside's high scoring Aubrey Graham took an end sweep 23 yards for a touchdown. Graham ran the conversion attempt in for two points, and Bayside had 8 points on the board.

The rest of the game was a defensive battle, the both teams moving the ball up and down field but not crossing the goal lines. Bayside threatened twice in the last two minutes with first down inside the Kempville 10 yard line, but the Kempville defense stiffened and held them both times.

The win gives Kempville Junior High their third City championship in as many years the Junior High League has been formed. During the three year period, Kempville Junior High has compiled an enviable 15-2-1 record. They were 5-1 in 1969 and 1970 and 5-0-1 this year. In 1970, they shared the title with Virginia Beach Junior High School.

The Kempville coaching staff had great praise for all of their offensive and defensive starters. Those receiving special praise included halfback Mike Crabtree, defensive halfbacks Marvin McCoy and Mark Newell, defensive end Bill Blankenship, linebackers Mark Rimarski and Dale Castellow, defensive cornerback John Dashiell, and defensive middle guard Lee Fowler. Most of those named were two way players, playing offense as well as defense. Those named above who also play offense are Newell at end, Rimarski at tackle, Dashiell at guard, Fowler at center, and Castellow at guard. Castellow is also the team kicking specialist.

National Win Eludes Castello

Although it was honor enough just to be invited to participate in the National Junior College Cross-Country Championship in Danville, Illinois, last Saturday, Dennis Castello hoped to add another victory to his string of district titles. Victory eluded Castello in Danville. He finished 127th in a field of 243 over the 4 mile course, running his lowest race of the year.

Castello became the first Chesapeake College athlete to qualify for national competition in any sport. The former Kellam High School ace, who owns or shares school and district records in the two-mile and distance medley relays and the mile and half mile, won the junior college regional meet last week in Wingate, North Carolina, to qualify for the national meet.

Castello, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Castello of 3428 Bow Creek Boulevard, Virginia Beach, and a freshman at Chesapeake College, has won eight of nine races against regional two and four year colleges this year.

Patriots Win City Championship

Although they missed being in the regional playoffs this weekend by three points, the first Colonial Patriots nailed down the Virginia Beach City Championship and a second-place finish in the Eastern District with Friday night's 27-6 win over Kellam. First Colonial's lone loss of the season, 9-7 to undefeated Maury, knocked them out of the late playoffs and dropped them to a second place behind the Maury Commodores in the final District standings.

With their 9-1 season record, the best won-lost mark of the six Beach high schools, and with touchdown run by Butch Flore, a 56 yard touchdown run from a reverse by Mike Wareing, and on a 17 yard touchdown pass from Butch Foley to Christ Paphites, Foley kicked two of his three point-after conversion attempts. The fourth Patriot score came in the third quarter, with Tyrone Little scoring from a yard out to cap a scoring drive. Foley booted his third conversion of the evening, and First Colonial had 27 points on the scoreboard.

Kellam's lone score came in the fourth quarter, when freshman quarterback Gene Bunn took the ball over from the one. A run for a two point conversion failed, and Kellam finished the game behind 27-6.

Frank Webster, First Colonial's head football coach, praised his entire squad for their overall good effort. Coach Webster mentioned six players as being particularly outstanding for the game. Fullback Mike Wareing scored a touchdown and ran for 166 yards in a dozen attempts. Butch Foley threw one scoring aerial and completed 6 of 19 passes for 95 yards. Chris Paphites caught a touchdown pass. Butch Flore scored a touchdown and turned in a fine defensive effort in his linebacker slot. Curt Lowery did some fine offensive blocking and made many key tackles from his defensive tackle position. Rick Romano recovered a fumble that began the drive leading to the third touchdown.

victories over the other five Beach football teams, the Patriots won for themselves the Virginia Beach Championship. The Patriots defeated Bayside 15-12, Cox 24-8, Princess Anne 21-20, Kempville 28-14, and Kellam 27-6 in their assault on the Beach title.

The Patriots rushed and passed for 434 yards offensively in the Kellam victory. Leading the Patriot rushers was fullback Mike Wareing, who picked up 166 yards in 12 carries. Halfbacks Tyrone Little and Joe Williams combined for 134 yards, Little gaining 63 yards in 5 carries and Williams carrying 7 times for 71 yards. Quarterback Butch Foley completed 6 of 19 passes for 95 yards, including a touchdown pass to end Chris Paphites.

Beach Tennis Team Wins Pensold Cup

The presentation of the E.T. (Teddy) Pensold Cup to Jeanne McLaughlin, captain of the Virginia Beach women's tennis team that defeated their Norfolk opponents in the six rounds of play, was held at the Tidewater Tennis Center Sunday afternoon. Dr. H.J. Kanter, President of the Norfolk Tennis Patron's Association, introduced Mrs. Lucy Pensold, who presented the trophy to Mrs. McLaughlin.

There were three Norfolk teams and one Virginia Beach team in competition, and each team had twelve members. The Norfolk teams, Lakewood, Larchmont, and Fergus Reed, were captained by Terri Griffin, Sugie Harrison, and Adele Williams, respectively.

In addition to captain Jeanne

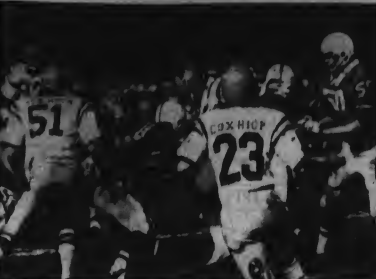

McLaughlin, other members of the Virginia Beach team were Enid Clarke, Jean Smith, Sandy Paul, June Farmer, Susan Hatcher, Liz Thorsen, Carol Beitz, Pat Gamage, Beverly Land, Millie McGuire, Barbara Parks, Grethen Phares, Pumpkin Shera, Bessie Shifflet, and Mary Worley. The cup will remain with the Virginia Beach players until fate decides its winner again next year.

The Pensold cup was originated by Mary Goldberg in memory of Teddy Pensold, one of tennis' staunchest supporters. Mary Goldberg has promoted women's tennis since she has been in the Tidewater area, and she was given an award for her work in forming and in running the teams.

Duck And Goose Hunting Season Opens Saturday

A late duck season beginning November 20 and continuing through January 16 gets underway this Saturday. The season was backed up two days from the latest possible date to begin on a Saturday in order to let more hunters get in on opening day shooting. Under the Game Commission and Federal regulations, hunters will be limited to three ducks per day, including no more than one canvasback or redhead, one black duck, and two wood ducks.

A bonus of two bluewing teal during the first nine calendar days of the season, and a bonus of two scaup in the Chesapeake Bay and the lower portions of its major tributaries during the entire season will also be allowed. A season on scoters, eiders, and old squaws beginning September 20 and extending through the regular duck season will allow hunters to bag seven of these ducks daily in the Bay and coastal waters 800 yards from shore until

Bayside Field Goal Edges Kempville In 17-15 Thriller

In what turned out to be one of the most exciting football games of the season, the Bayside Marlins edged the Kempville Chiefs 17-15 thanks to the accuracy of a 26 yard field goal by kicking specialist Don Harold in the final second of play. The field goal climaxed a 70 yard scoring drive engineered by Marlin quarterback Tom Chipok with 1:40 left in the game.

Bayside scored first with less than two minutes to go in the first half. Tom Chipok took the ball in from one yard out, and conversion kick by Harold gave the Marlins a 7-0 halftime lead.

With three minutes left in the third quarter, quarterback Billy Paschall ran an end sweep 17 yards around left end for the score. A Bob Taylor conversion kick tied the game a 7-all. With 3:51 left in the game, a Chipok pass to Steve Meiss was good for five yards and a touchdown. Harold's conversion kick was good, and the Marlins led again 14-7.

With 2:04 left to play, Paschall put the Chiefs back in front with November 20th, at which time they can hunt them inshore along with other waterfowl. Hunters may also bag five mergansers daily, including no more than one hooded.

A November 18th through January 22nd goose season was approved with a daily bag limit of three geese, except in Back Bay marshes where goose hunting is restricted to November 20th through January 8th, and hunters are allowed only one goose daily.

McGovern Quits At Cox

Head football coach George McGovern announced to his Cox High School Falcons Friday night before the final football game of the season that he was resigning his position. The pregame announcement came in the locker room minutes before the Falcons took the field.

Wally French, Cox principal, said that McGovern had expressed his desire to vacate his position as head coach earlier in the season but that he had been persuaded to finish the season. French was quick to point out that McGovern will stay on at the school and continue in his role as teacher, head track coach, and assistant wrestling coach.

"I'm retiring from football," Coach McGovern stated. "Five years is enough. I was getting tired. I made my decision earlier because I felt that it was time for someone else to take over."

P.A. Tops Cox 20-14

The Cavaliers of Princess Anne ended their season with a winning note, defeating the highly-regarded Cox Falcons by a one touchdown margin, 20-14. Neither team could put the whole game together, as Cox shutout the Cavaliers 14-0 in the first half and Princess Anne returned the blanking in the second half only with a larger 20-0 margin.

Cox scored once in each of the first two quarters. End Brooks Williams snagged a six yard loss from quarterback Allan Williams for the first score of the game. Another touchdown pass from Allan Williams, this time 60 yards to speedy running back Perry Hill, gave the Falcons their second touchdown. Brooks Williams booted the conversion after each score, giving Cox 14 first half points.

Looking like a new team in the second half, the Cavaliers struck for two third period touchdowns. Taking the second half kickoff two-thirds of the field, the Cavaliers capped the drive with quarterback Mike Ange diving in from one yard out. Dennis Allard booted the conversion, and Princess Anne had made up half of its deficit. Joe Roenker added the second touchdown of the quarter by scoring from four yards out. The conversion kick failed, and the Cavaliers had come back to within one, 14-13. With only eight minutes left on the clock, a short Falcon punt gave the ball to Princess Anne only 23 yards from victory. After a key pass from Ange to flanker David VanPatten moved the ball to the five, Ken Ahles carried the ball in for the winning score. Another Allard boot split the uprights on the point-after attempt, and Princess Anne had come from behind to win 20-14.

Both teams had a number of key players in the game. Cox's Allan Williams hit on fifty percent of his pass attempts, completing 6 of 12 for 105 yards and two touchdowns. Brooks Williams scored one touchdown and booted two extra points. Perry Hill scored on a long pass play. Danny Weinbrecht gained 45 yards in 15 carries. Allan Williams also rushed for 50 yards in 23 tries. Terry Roche and David Swingle intercepted passes that set up Cox's two scores.

Mike Ange, the Princess Anne 6 feet 6 inches junior quarterback in his first year of varsity football, led the Cavalier offense. Ange completed two of six passes, rushed for 30 yards in 11 carries, and scored one touchdown. Joe Roenker led the rushers for the game, picking up 110 yards in 15 attempts, scoring one touchdown. Ken Ahles scored the other touchdown and gained 94 yards in 14 carries.

The entire defensive unit of the Cavaliers got praise for their game-saving play as the game neared the end. With slightly less than five minutes left in the game, the Cavaliers held on their own 39 and took over the ball on downs to stop a Cox drive. Another strong Falcon drive was stopped as the game ended by a stiffened Cavalier defense only 37 yards from their end zone.

College Night Attracts 1,000

Over 1,000 Virginia Beach high school students were able to talk to representatives of approximately 150 colleges last Tuesday night at Princess Anne High School. Princess Anne was the host school this year for the City's annual College Night.

The schedule was set up to allow prospective college enrollees to see four different college representatives during the evening. Virginia and North Carolina colleges were represented in greatest numbers, but also in attendance were college representatives from Florida, District of Columbia, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, the Ivy League colleges, and the four service academies, West Point, Air Force, Coast Guard, and Naval. Various accredited nursing, business, and beauty schools also were on hand.

Nominee Is "Too Good To Be True"

By Audrey Murray

"You're kidding... this gal is too good to be true." Her principal, James Darden, her peers and the children, echoed accolades of praise for Miss Lois Lambert, nominee for Teacher of the Year, from Windsor Woods Elementary School.

After my interview with Miss Lambert, I came away praising her and her methods of teaching and her reason for teaching. Let me share with you, some of the beauty of this dedicated woman.

Lois Lambert came from a teachers home; one of love and understanding, geographically located in Hampton. When the time came to decide on a profession, as a prerequisite, Lois, "had to work with people." Her B.A. from Mary Washington College, was in Psychology and Elementary Education, Masters degree from ODU in Science in Education. Administration, fitted her for the years of teaching, six of which have been at the Beach.

"A positive attitude, expect good, build independence within with themselves, is her psychology, along with being calm, cool and patient. Her goal each year with every class is to build a love of school for her children, of going and being a part of the school. To maintain discipline and respect children as people."

Miss Lambert was surprised when it was announced she had been chosen as the nominee, speechless when told it was unanimous, but added, "You know there are many other teachers here at Windsor Woods, qualified, to receive this nomination." And Lois spoke with sincerity.

"What are your goals for the future," I asked, "while in classroom, now that it is important to me, and to find peace with myself, to live each day." This is very close to Lois.

"A leader among teachers... consistent... ever growing for the child... stable... down to earth... well educated... very attractive... laughter... walking on the beach, the ocean relaxing... bridge... golf... cooking... All these will help you to know her."

Contributing Charge Dismissed

Judge Kenneth N. Whitehurst, Jr., has ruled that Dr. Ann R. Karnitschnig acted within her legal rights when she gave a 17-year-old Chesapeake girl birth control pills without the consent of her parents.

Dr. Karnitschnig, 39, of Starling Court, had been charged with contributing to delinquency of a minor, on a complaint from her father, after the girl was allegedly given birth control pills by Dr. Karnitschnig at the Virginia Beach Health Department.

Judge Whitehurst dismissed charges against Dr. Karnitschnig on grounds the General Assembly has passed a statute which permits individuals under the age of 21 to agree to medical treatment in the area of family planning and birth control.

Second Arrest In Robbery

A second suspect was arrested Monday in the reported armed robbery of two sisters in their Bonney Road home.

Police identified the suspect as Edward Leroy (Billy) Mitchell, 25, of Harmony Square, Det. H.J. Coffield, Jr., said Mitchell was arrested in Municipal Court as he awaited proceedings on another charge.

Mitchell was remanded to custody of the Virginia Beach City Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond to await appearance in court tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 19.

Officials said an estimated $3,500 was taken from the home at pistol point by two men who also beat Rose V. Smith, 48, and her 40-year-old sister Nancy E. Moore about the face and head during the crime.

John Walter Benn, Jr., 30, of Sykes Avenue, was arrested last week as a suspect in the crime. Benn is also in custody of City Jail in lieu of $25,000 awaiting court proceedings.

Thalia Wins 4-H Honors

Virginia Beach 4-H Clubs held their annual Achievement Night last Saturday and Thalia Community 4-H Club took a great part.

Senior members received special recognition for their participation in the State 4-H Club Congress, held at V.F.I. and State University Campus. They were Craig Byrnes, Leslie Byrnes, Margo Gower, Chris Holcomb, Leslie Mitchell, Ginger Nicklas, Judy Nicklas, Cliff Bungard, and Chris Oenbrink. Judy Nicklas was tapped into Va. State All-Stars.

Thalia Club won a Blue Ribbon on their exhibit "4-H Rooms Go Mod", and Craig Byrnes was awarded The Ozlin Trophy as the 4-H outstanding boy in Virginia Beach. Other Blue award winners on project work were Craig Byrnes, Leslie Byrnes, Pat Embry, Margo Gower, Pat Gower, Tom Gower, Karen Gray, Chris Holcomb, Cliff Bungard, Karen Hopkins, Leslie Mitchell, Ginger Nicklas, Judy Nicklas, Sharon Nicklas, Jim Westbrook, Debbie Hillman, Marie Zappia and Teresa Zappia.

The Thalia Club also won the Trophy for Outstanding 4-H Jr. Club for the third consecutive year, and through the helpful leadership of Mrs. Bungard, the club will get to keep this trophy. Mrs. Bungard, has been involved in 4-H since she was 10 years old.

Beach Tops Area-Wide Construction

Virginia Beach leads all the South Hampton cities in construction for the first 10 months of 1971. In a statistical report prepared by Councilman Reid Ervin, he pointed out that:

- + Out of a total construction volume of $233,699,412, $118,323,548, or 51 per cent, took place in Virginia Beach;
- + Out of a total of $129,213,026 in residential construction,

Illegal Firearm Found

Two Norfolk men are awaiting court appearance in Virginia Beach on charges of illegal possession of a machine gun in violation of provisions of the State Code.

Authorities said George L. King, 31, of Bay Street, and Joseph E. Pearce, Jr., 31, of Rush Street were arrested Thursday night.

Investigators said the arrests were made following discovery of an English Sten 9mm machine gun in the trunk of their auto parked in the lot of the Magic Castle restaurant at the intersection of Diamond Springs Road and Shore Drive.

State ABC Agents assisted Virginia Beach police in investigation and arrests in the case.

City Leads In Top Teachers

Virginia Beach City Schools continues to lead Tidewater school division in the percentage of regular certified teachers employed.

A recent study released by the Division of Teacher Education and Educational Research and Statistics of the Virginia State Department of Education entitled Virginia's Supply of Public School Instructional Personnel shows that Virginia Beach ranks first in the Tidewater Area in the percentage of regular certified teachers.

Regular teaching certificates are held by 98.55 percent of the Virginia Beach teaching staff.

Shopping Center Deferred

Residents Criticize Delaying Tactics

Nearly 200 residents of the Chesopian Colony area stormed from City Council chambers Monday amid irate cries of protest, after Councilmen again deferred action on the application of F. Wayne McLesky to construct a shopping center near the enter to that residential area.

The matter has been aired several times over the past few months in meetings of the Planning Commission and City Council, with McLesky strongly defending the application over the protests of Chesopian Colony residents.

Council's action followed a request for deferral from Roger Provo, who appeared before Council in McLesky's absence, stating the McLesky's presence in court prohibited his defending the application before City Council.

As the Chesopian Colony residents filed from Council Chambers Mayor Donald H. Rhodes sought to have McLesky located and summoned to the hearing in light of the large delegation attending the meeting, however the effort failed.

Council also granted another extension on the deadline for owners of single family residences to connect to sewer lines installed by the City.

Such property owners who enter into an agreement with the City before January 1 will receive the benefit of a line connection fee of $440, plus $5.50 per foot when their property exceeds a 100 foot frontage, with a "tap-on" fee from $60 to $75. These fees will be assessable at the time of sewer connections.

Agreements for such service made with the City after January 1 will be assessed increased fees consisting of a $375 line connection fee, plus $7.15 per foot over 100 frontage feet, with a "tap-on" fee of $60 to $100. The present policy of requiring 75 percent of property owners in a particular residential area agreeing to the sewer lines connection before the City would take action in that area was also lowered to a requirement of 51 percent of property owners.

Members of Council unanimously agreed this would be the last extension to avoid increased fees for such sewer line connections, and this fact would be pointed out in publicizing the extension of the connection deadline.

Mrs. Gwen Wood, representing S.O.N.S. (Save Our Neighborhood Schools) of Virginia Beach, appeared before Council to air a request the City publicly take a stand against forced bussing to achieve racial balance in the

Officials Criticize Release Of Study

Officials of the Virginia Beach Development Council are strongly criticizing the unauthorized release of the Council's study on the affects pari-mutuel betting would have on the resort city.

The criticism referred to the publication of the Council's study in last Friday's edition of the Virginian Pilot.

Council president W. Clark Fleming said, "The contents of the report are erroneous in that the article is erroneous in that the Pari-Mutuel Study Committee's report has not been finalized, and the article will influence public and city official attitude on the Development Council's recommendations prior to their finalization."

Fleming added, "There will undoubtedly be changes in the report prior to its finalization which is scheduled for the December meeting of the Development Council."

The report was presented to Development Council members last Tuesday with the request they study it. A discussion of the report, and recommended changes in its content, will take place during the Council's December meeting. The finalized report will be presented to City Council during that body's January meeting. The charge of "unauthorized release" of the report is substantiated in the minutes of the Development Council's meeting of last week which said, "Members are reminded of the By-Laws which prohibit any outside discussion prior to action taken by entire Council membership. This report must be kept confidential until after it is formally presented to Virginia Beach City Council in January, 1972."

Earl Willis, vice president and administrator of General Hospital of Virginia Beach, was elected president elect of the Virginia Hospital Association at the group's 45th annual convention in Williamsburg.

He previously held the office of secretary-treasurer of the association.

Policeman Of Year

Officer Gerald H. Fockler was awarded the L. Travis Branch Award Tuesday night in honor of his being chosen as the Outstanding Young Police Officer of 1971 by the Virginia Beach Jaycees.

The award cited Fockler's service to the Police Department and City of Virginia Beach while serving as an undercover agent for a period of three months to combat narcotic trafficking through the resort city.

During this time, according to officials, Fockler worked under the guise of a former police officer who resigned from the department on grounds of being "completely fed up" with the organization.

Fockler is credited with making at least 15 arrests on drug related charges and unvieling several suspect "drug pushers" during this time. These cases are currently being processed in Virginia Beach courts.

While the award honors Fockler for his work special credit was also given to his wife Deborah for her cooperation and support which enabled him to carry out his assignment.

Fockler, 25 years of age, is attached to the 3rd Police Precinct, and has been with the Police Department since Nov. 16, 1968.

Savvides Elected President

Committee Recommends Bond Sale Revisions 2nd In A Series

By Les Lehigh

Mayor Donald H. Rhodes' Fact Finding Committee has recommended the construction of another senior high school and three additional elementary schools in the city of Virginia Beach, and revisions in the public referendum system of authorizing the sale of bonds to finance public school construction.

The Committee's report, based on an eight month study of future aspects of the resort city's growth, said "...it is apparent that the enrollment capacities of the existing schools will be insufficient two to three years down the road, and that the construction of the next senior high school is absolutely essential to meet the requirements of those students presently enrolled in our system. Enrollments in the elementary schools also indicate the need for construction at this time."

The report added "...the citizenry of Virginia Beach must be made aware of the need for the schools and the need for the furthering thereof by the issuance of bonds. A full campaign must be developed, worthy of the support of and utilizing the support of all elected city officials.

Regarding present policies under which public school construction is financed the Committee recommended "To the extent feasible, the high school and three elementary schools proposed should be submitted to another referendum utilizing every economy in the reduction of over-all expenditure. It appears that this is the present thinking of the School Administration. Such an issue, with the greatest public exposure, should be put to

'Pro-City' Coalition Purpose

By Ruby Jean Phillips

"We are not anti-Kellam. We are not anti-Etheridge. We are pro-Virginia Beach!"

The unidentified young man who spoke out was one of nearly 100 persons who attended the organizational meeting last Thursday night at Transtwood Elementary School of the Virginia Beach First Coalition. And his comment came after much confusion over why the coalition was being formed.

Acting Chairman Rollie Winter explained that the purpose was to actively "encourage, support and elect the best qualified candidates for 1972 election, the councilman election of May, 1972."

Next May five council seats will be up before the voters; at the large seats held by George Ferrell and Frank Dusch, and the seats of Curtis Payne of Princess Anne Borough, Earl Teabault of Blackwater Borough, and Robert Callis of Virginia Beach Borough.

The meeting Thursday, however, was primarily to elect steering committee to establish the aims of purposes of the group and to set up the criteria for selection of candidates for the forthcoming election.

Thursday's meeting came in the wake of several meetings among some 30 interested citizens headed by temporary officers Winter, Vice Chairman Ed Daley, Treasurer Bill Gill and Secretary Gay Winter.

Winter made it clear that the original committee did not want to influence the decisions of a permanent committee or to inflict its own ideas on the attending group, but this lack of guidelines prompted many outspoken comments, and criticism, on the purposes of a coalition.

"What do you mean by Virginia Beach First Coalition,"

Whitehurst Moving To Sandbridge

Congressman William G. Whitehurst said Monday night he would soon make his residence in Virginia Beach.

The Norfolk Republican congressman, who because of redistricting will next Fall assume Virginia Beach in his Congressional District, said he and his family would move to North Sandbridge, next Spring. A lot has been purchased and an architect already commissioned, he said.

The announcement was made at a victory party for Joe Canada, the young Republican attorney who won the City's only State senatorial seat, at McGinness Flint on Atlantic Avenue. Some 300 Canada supporters and campaign workers attended.

A Dream Comes True

"As I look at this crowd, all I see are smiles, and that says more than anything I could say about the completion of this dream," said Mayor Donald Rhodes as he cut the ribbon on the new Virginia Beach Little Theatre building Sunday afternoon. Frank Dunham (left), executive director, Virginia Commission of Arts and Humanities, added words of praise to the dedication of supporters (including City Council) which made the theatre possible. And President Jim English, who spearheaded the project, was all smiles as he said, "It took us nearly 24 years, but we finally made it." (See page 2 for picture on first production.)

250-Yr.-Old Tree Lights Up

There's an impressive old fir tree on the lawn in front of Rose Hall on Virginia Beach Boulevard. Experts estimate that it pre-dates the venerable old house, built in 1720. And that tree, which has seen so many Christmases, will play a central part in Rose Hall's celebration of Christmas, 1971.

It's a tradition, really. Since 1955, when the present owners converted Rose Hall to an exclusive ladies' fashion shop, the ancient tree has been lighted for Christmas. Every Thanksgiving Eve at 5 p.m. for 15 years, Rose Hall's staff and a number of friends and guests have gathered 'round the tree, joined in the lighting ceremony, and then retired to the old house for traditional Christmas egg nog.

In a changing world, like one thing Virginia Beach residents can count on. The old Rose Hall tree will be lighted, a reminder that the glory of Christmas is on its way.

Local Residents Shine In Wing

Virginia Beach residents and military personnel from Oceana and Dam Neck are participating this weekend in the world premier of two original one-act plays which will kick-off the season in the Experimental Wing of the Little Theatre of Norfolk, 801 Claremont Avenue (at the foot of Brambleton Avenue).

The Experimental Wing, which is coordinated by Paul Dicklin, Director of Theatre at ODU, will present two original plays, "Flight 901" and "The Painted Mirror," and will offer, in addition, Tad Mosel's "Impromptu."

"Flight 901" was written by six military personnel from bases throughout the area—Jan Hersley, Maurice Gioeffi, Robert Hartung, Stan Wyner from Dam Neck, Paris Finley and Robert Hill, both from Naval Air Station, Oceana.

"The Painted Mirror" is an original mime, written and directed by Paris Finley from Naval Air Station, Oceana.

"Impromptu" was written by Pulitzer Prize winner Tad Mosel and will be directed by Robert Hill from Naval Air Station, Oceana, and Stan Wyner from Dam Neck.

Make-Up Gal Is 'King' Here!

When the King of Siam shouts his head, Brynner, when he at Anna, the defiant British schoolmarm, "Who is king here?" the cast of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I" might well shout back "The make-up crew is king around here!"

Certainly that is the case with the Virginia Beach Little Theatre's production of the famous musical adaptation of the novel "Anna and the King of Siam."

The cast is large, nearly 30 in all, and only a few are Westerners. All others must be transformed into orientals. This means, of course, that all light hair turns black, that all pale skin turns bronze, that all round eyes turn almond-shaped.

A few are blessed with black hair, but only a very few. Tim Morton, one of the young lovers, is so blonde that dark sprays and rinses would not do the job. So last week-end he solved the problem. He dyed his hair black.

And speaking of hair, the King, portrayed by Phil Uhler, will remain Uhler's natural color...gray. And he will have hair, despite the Yul Brynner concept most people have of the role.

"There is nothing to prove that the King of Siam must be bald," explains Director Bill Britton. "History shows that this particular king was once a monk and shaved his head. But it grew back and he ruled with hair on the role."

It is a lavish musical, one of the most challenging ever taken on by the Little Theatre—the costumes by Peggie MacArthur and the sets by Neal Thomas are right out of the pages of a storybook—but the new theatre building at 24th Street and Barbarton Drive was designed for just such a production. And it is fitting that the initial show should be one of this calibre. For ticket information and reservations, call 428-8500.

Virginia Beach Receives Unique Children's Psychiatric Hospital

Ground breaking ceremonies were held last Thursday afternoon to mark the start of construction of the first private in-patient unit for children in the State of Virginia, which will be located in the City of Virginia Beach.

The unit is contained in the Tidewater Psychiatric Institute being built at a site on Will-O-Wisp Drive immediately south of Virginia Beach General Hospital.

The $1.6 million two-story building will be constructed in three phases, with the first phase consisting of a 64-bed facility scheduled for completion in September, 1972. The second phase will add 44 beds, and the third phase will bring the total number of beds to 186.

with a total of $4,490 square feet. The hospital will operate specialized treatment programs for adults and adolescents. Dr. Duncan S. Wallace, Child Psychiatrist, is director of the children's unit, which will include a school program.

The treatment approach of Tidewater Psychiatric Institution is based on the concept of the therapeutic community, under the basic tenet that distressed behavior is often the result of faulty social learning. The therapeutic community provides the setting in which the patient, through intensive interaction and communication with other patients and staff members, can work to understand himself and his problems.

To implement this approach, professional psychiatric teams (each including a psychiatrist, a psychiatric social worker, a team leader, and a rehabilitation therapist) will work with 12 to 15 patients a day to six hours of a patient's day will be spent in organized groups, family meetings, community meetings, and rehabilitation activities. The staff will also include State certified teachers, and nurses and nursing assistants will be on duty at all times.

Seven local physicians are principals of the facility: Dr. Stuart Ashman, President and Medical Director; Dr. Julian W. Selig, Clinical Director; Dr. Lawrence A. Bernart, Dr. David B. Kruger, Dr. Robert F. Scott, Dr. Robert H. Thrasher, and Dr. John H. Furr.

Dr. Ashman turns the first shovel of dirt in breaking ground for the new psychiatric hospital as Mayor Rhodes (ctr.) and Dr. Selig witness the event.

Old Donation Historical Landmark

Old Donation Church of Virginia Beach has been declared a historical landmark by the Virginia Historic Landmark Commission.

Church pastor Reverend Beverly D. Tucker received notification from the Commission this week the church has been placed on the Virginia Landmarks register, and nominated to the National Register of Historic Places.

Rev. Tucker indicated the existing Old Donation Church, located on approximately six acres of land at the intersection of North Witchduck Road and Cathedral Drive in Bayville Borough, is the oldest church building in the Metropolitan Southside Hampton Roads region.

The church structure was constructed in 1736. Old Donation Church was organized prior to 1640, as the Lynnhaven Parish Church, at a location near Bayville Farms known as Church Point. The church was relocated to its present site during the early 1600's.

The church structure was gutted by fire in the 1800's leaving only the exterior walls and a portion of the roof intact. The original brick walls were utilized in restoration of the church.

Paper Drive On

Plaza Junior High School will have a paper drive on December 4th. Proceeds will go to the English Department. Fathers and students will be collecting papers from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All residents in the area are asked to save their papers for the drive. For further information call Mrs. Verdon 340-1557 or Mrs. Sinen 440-4453 evenings.

Scratch And Scream In Case Of Attack Women Are Urged

By Helen Crist

"Scream and scratch—use your fingernails," Capt. George K. Bryan, Commanding Officer of the Traffic Bureau of the Police Department told a group of women as he spoke to them on Home and Self Protection.

He illustrated his talk with slides and answered questions last week at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Medical Society of Virginia Beach. It was held at the home of Mrs. William Martin, in Alantone.

"If you're grabbed from behind, a hard blow of your heel on an instep or ankle will force the person to let go. Then put every ounce of strength you have into an elbow jab—it might break a few ribs—and scream, scream, scream for help," he said.

Or, if attacked from behind, turn quickly and face to face, use your fingernails. Go for the eyes and scratch and scream. Bryan observed that the average woman's purse is full of tools to fight off an attack. For instance, "Take your lipstick and grind it into the eyes. A comb can be raked across the eyes and nose, a pen or pencil can do the same, or an envelope of cayenne pepper can be thrown into the eyes."

"It sounds terrible to say it, but you've got to be violent and

Bryan suggests that should an assailant clamp his hand over your mouth to prevent screaming, that you bite it—hard. And a good kick in the groin or stomach will usually double him over. This is most effective in an attack from the front.

"How many of you drive to the store with your windows open and your car door unlocked?" he asked. This also invites trouble. What of salesmen who come to the door? "Speak to them through the screen or the safety chain. And don't let people in to use your phone unless you know them." He suggests that they make the call for them while they remain outside with your door locked.

If you must go out alone at night, try to set up a schedule and have someone watch for you. "And it's a dead giveaway, when you go out and leave the porch light burning."

But a bright spot light left on at night outside the house is a deterrent—"they like to work in darkness, in secret."

It's a good idea to carry a weapon such as a whistle with you, Bryan suggests. And the whistle is useful, too, in the case of obscene phone calls. "Just take that whistle and blow it loud in the ear of the phone." And incidentally, a telephone operator can trace that obscene call if she's notified quickly.

Bryan said that if a house is entered and the occupants are in bed, that they should lie there quietly. But if they're up and about the house, "start screaming and try to get to another room and lock the door and maybe climb out of a window." And of course, call the police.

He said that firearms in a home can be dangerous, in that an innocent person is often shot when mistaken for a prowler.

Following Bryan's talk, Mrs. Robert T. Mosby, Jr. presided at a business meeting. The Auxiliary meets five times during the year, usually on a social basis. "We lend moral and helpful support to the Medical Society," Mary Mosby said, "and our members are all doctor's wives."

They do support, however, the psychiatric ceramic room at General Hospital of Virginia Beach. They're now in the process of training pink ladies to run the therapeutic room. And each year the Auxiliary supports the fund-raising Horse Show.

There are 40 active members and 80 on the roll. Other officers besides Mrs. Mosby are Mrs. Joe Burt, vice president; Mrs. John Clarke, treasurer; Mrs. David Sarrett, secretary; Mrs. Stuart Ashman, parliamentarian.

There are wars and rumors of wars. There is violence and the threat of violence. There is unemployment. Strife. Greed and hatred. Bullying. Even butchery. How can we give thanks? Look around you. And in your private world, your simple daily life, LIVE your thanks. Live your thanks in tolerance, mercy, justice, charity and love for the unfortunate, the disenfranchised, the disadvantaged, the desolate, the sick, the wounded, the hungry (everywhere). And perhaps then, rather than turkey, dressing, cranberries, and pumpkin pie, these blessings of tolerance, mercy, justice, charity and love shall become the Great American Tradition of another year... A Great Pride

There's not a prouder group of people in this city this week than members of the Virginia Beach Little Theatre. They have seen the realization of a twenty-four-year-old dream.

The group officially opened its new theatre building Sunday afternoon at an open house and the enthusiasm and interest of the public in general was obvious in the turn-out. Hundreds of people, not necessarily Little Theatre members, were on hand to tour the building, to chat with officers and directors and to extend a hand of sincere congratulations.

As Mayor Donald Rhodes pointed out in his ribbon-cutting speech, the number of persons crowded into the theatre foyer was living proof of the need for such a facility and the smiles on all the faces told more than words could possibly say.

As in all endeavors of this kind, many, many people-devoted people-have given every ounce of energy (and funds) in bringing this dream to life. But there are a few, a very select number, who have struggled with the little theatre from the very beginning, who have overcome the inadequate facilities in the old schools, who have shivered in the Courtyard Playhouse, who have tried to emit emotion over the chatter from a cocktail party in adjoining restaurant rooms.

If it were not for the devotion of early supporters—the Liz Silks, the Ann Peningtons, the Anne Henrys—and the hard work and bulldog perseverance of today's stalwarts—the Jim Englishs, the Josh Shermans, the Betty Hamblins—good glory, the list could go on forever, but if it were not for these people and hundreds like them, the Little Theatre on Twenty-Fourth Street would never be.

The theatre will obviously be a tremendous contribution to this City. The City Council is to be commended again for its precedent-breaking move in giving the group financial support. That's one appropriation Council will never regret.

No Apathy Here

Next May five seats on City Council will be up for election or re-election. And already the political furor has begun.

The first meeting of the new Virginia Beach First Coalition was indicative of the political changes ahead. Of the nearly one hundred persons who gathered for organizational meeting last Thursday night, about seventy-five were registered Republicans, some twenty-five were Democrats and the rest were independents (the "wishy-washy group" the temporary chairman erroneously termed them).

What the coalition seemingly has in mind is the nomination of qualified councilmanic candidates, whether he be an incumbent or a political novice whose main contribution to date has been coaching a little league team or working with church groups.

Last Thursday's meeting rambled, it floundered, because the original steering committee was so intent on making it an open session, free of the personal ideas and opinions of those who formed it, that a chaotic situation took over.

People need direction. They need organization. They need to be told "This is what we stand for and this is what we hope to accomplish." And, if they disagree, they need not participate. But to open the formation of a politically controversial coalition to the opinions and beliefs of many people is asking for confusion and that's pretty well what happened.

The idea behind Virginia Beach First may be sound. Time will tell. If it is, as it appears on the surface to be, a sincere attempt, though a helter skelter attempt, to improve the City Government, no one can argue its merit. Any government has room to improve and Virginia Beach is no exception.

But if the coalition is politically motivated by one side or the other, time will tell that too, and its candidates are in for a rough time because we sincerely believe this city is tired of lop-sided politics, no matter which way it leans.

The organizational meeting of Virginia Beach First attracted a diversification of people...the monied ones, the modest ones, the cynical ones, the dedicated ones. But one thing must be said: it drew no apathetic ones. And that, in itself, is an accomplishment.

Public School Prayer Defended

Today, Wednesday, November 24, 1971, the Tidewater Christian School will offer prayers of thanksgiving in a special school chapel service. Dr. Harold E. Richards Jr., Superintendent of the school has indicated that special prayer will be offered for the guidance of our public officials in the light of the recent action of Congress on the "Prayer Amendment" proposal.

"We respect the convictions of Christians, Muslims, Jews, and others who support the Amendment," said Dr.

Schools headquartered in Wheaton, Illinois, the Tidewater Christian School also teaches creation in science classes, respect for authority in social and government studies, and historic Biblical morality in literature and family living courses.

Established 1960 (Yr.) the Tidewater Christian School is now located at 5475 Va. Beach Blvd. Va. Beach. Many of the local churches of many denominations are represented in the student body.

Upset By Publicity

To the Editor:

Until recently the people of Pungo Borough were forgotten people. We received no publicity until we opposed a rehabilitation center to be operated by the Rock Church. We have been criticized unjustly by the press.

We have been called ignorant by a follower of the Rock Church. I have found in many years that the one who calls others ignorant is just that.

In an article in the Beacon on Sunday Nov. 14, 1971 written by Peter A. Loomis, the Rev. John Gimenez refers to us as un-Christians. Is the Rev. John Gimenez the Christian he claims to be when he can refer to others in such a manner? Perhaps he should do some soul searching and pray that he be given the wisdom to understand people, who do not go along with his every idea.

The article in the Virginian-Pilot on Nov. 15, 1971 would lead people to believe we are a shotgun carrying community. We Perhaps Staff Writer Bert Rohrer of the Virginian-Pilot, Beacon Staff Writer Peter A. "President Nixon's Phase II in his economic program will affect the lives of every person and every business concern in the United States from the giants in Detroit to the drug store on the corner, from the Park Avenue doctor to the TV repairman."—Washington Post. How? We will soon find out.

"Not another professor" was the remark of one rural area congressman when he heard that Earl L. Butz, Education Dean from Purdue University, was nominated by President Nixon to replace Clifford Hardin as Secretary of Agriculture. Butz is an agribusiness man with a slogan "adapt or die." This viewpoint means that farms must continue to grow larger and become a part of agribusiness if they are to survive. The Dean must think that the small farmer is already dead.

Before leaving the Department Secretary Hardin announced that the school lunch program will conform to the instructions passed by both houses of Congress in mid-October. The Department will pay a minimum of 40 cents for reduced price lunches served to needy children and a 60 cents minimum for free or reduced price lunches served to the "essentially needy." This averages six cents in every state for each school lunch served under the program.

A weekend in New York even attending a golden wedding convinces me that it is not the fun city it used to be. In this day of one divorce out of every four marriages, a golden wedding celebration is almost a case of the survival of the fittest. To survive 50 years together, with the traffic, pollution and crime in New York is worth a gold medal. The wedding celebration was worth the trip but getting there and back was not "half the fun."

Staten Island, across New York Bay from Manhattan, is in Richmond Borough and is part of New York City. It was discovered by Giovanni da Verrazano in 1524. The beautiful new Verrazano bridge now spans the Bay. To visit in a house built before the Civil War is not unusual, because many of New York's old families started on Staten Island. St. Mark's Church predates Bruton Parish in Williamsburg, Va., and families like the Vandrills are buried in the old Moravian cemetery there.

Returning to D.C. I found that protesters were still playing dead in front of the White House and had to be shepherded away in groups by the police. One gets so used to the protesters here that one forgets to ask, what are they protesting this time?

What has happened to Thanksgiving? One can hardly find a pumpkin or a few ears of corn to hang on the door without stumbling over Christmas decorations.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

By W. A. Leavell

On my short trip through life I see so much false faceness that it turns my stomach. Most of the media tells only one side of the issues. They tell stories no one can believe.

Our so called leaders tell us what they think we should know and disregard the wishes of the majority. They run on platforms they have no intention of following.

People tell you they are full of love and goodness and they are about to pop with meanness and hate.

People who write columns avoid anything that might give the impression we are not the super people of the world and that no matter what we do everything is going to have a silver lining.

In the face of national disaster our leaders tell us everything is going to be just fine. They don't believe that but it sounds good. Most people are not fooled. They can see through all the pap they are fed day in and day out. I don't think anyone is fooling anybody. Let me be honest with you. You might not like it but it won't hurt — much. Who knows, it might do you some good. It might be the first time you ever picked up a newspaper and read something you know is honest.

The people, the voters, of this country don't run the things anymore. The country has gotten away from us. If we elected Governor George Wallace as President and he appointed Lt. Governor Maddox as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare we wouldn't see much change in the way H.E.W. acted. The bureaucracy has control of things now.

No matter who we elect or what they promise, things are not going to change. Once something gets away from you it is gone. Anyone that is honest knows our Government has gotten away from us.

All this busing and forcing the races together is not going to work. It will destroy our educational system and lead to more trouble than we can handle. This type noble effort has never worked and it won't work now. We have messed around and caused so much hate that it will come to a head before long. That is the truth.

It is highly doubtful if our present form of government can survive for very long. When the change comes it is not likely that the people will be better off than they were.

It is not true that what is good for General Motors is good for the country. Our giant corporations are not dedicated to serving the people, the government or anyone but the people who run them.

How did all this happen to such a great country? It didn't happen over night. It was many things. One thing is that the people who make up this country have changed. Most of them used to care. They were concerned about things and when they found a racial in government they voted them out.

It is hard to say but today, most people just don't give a darn. As long as they have a place to sleep, something to eat, a TV, a car and something to drink they couldn't care less about such things as freedom, justice and good government.

Our churches have changed. Not long ago many of them went out of the religion business. They have gone into civil rights. The love of God has taken a back seat to the love of everyone else.

We have become a second class country. We can't defend ourselves from our enemies. We don't mind to wait for our just end and we just might not have long to wait for our just end.

Our economy is in a mess and it is not unthinkable that we just might have something before long that will make the dark days of the early 1930's look like prosperity.

So now you have heard what you have been thinking yourself. We don't have a magic money tree. We don't have a lack on everything good and we will never truly love our fellow man.

Are our faults fatal? If we don't wake up and face the truth they could be. Do we have to wind up in the national junk heap? No, not by a long shot. If people like us can make this country from wilderness we can pull it out of the fire this time. How do we start? Face up to the situation and take our country back from those who have stolen it from us. Freedom is a full time job and if you don't work at it, it will get away from you before you know it. It's late — but not too late.

Masters and Johnson sex clinic.

The visit, with a $2500 price tag, was not undertaken lightly but in hopes of solving a sexual problem that seemed likely to end a marriage. And the book, written in a casual, conversational style, seems intended to be more informative than erotic.

The approach of the famous sex researchers to their patients is to try to cure a relationship, not "his" problem or "her" problem. Thus, though the treatment as described by Masters and Johnson is a "how-to" steps to sexual satisfaction, the goal is a more honest and complete relationship.

Do Masters and Johnson save this marriage? Read the 'K's' account, available at all Virginia Beach libraries and the bookmobile, to see.

THE COUPLE: A SEXUAL PROFILE, by Mr. and Mrs. K. as told to Monte Cherrier and Alfred Paley. New York, Coward, McCann & Geoghegan, 1971. $5.95.

The personal dialogue format of this book, with alternate accounts by Joan and Harold K., describes the couple's visit to the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis, more popularly known as Sun Survey Rides Again!

Several weeks ago we very quietly dropped the Sun Survey. It was a test. The responses had dwindled and we felt that perhaps the column had served its purpose.

It apparently served a purpose, all right, and that purpose is yet to be served. We have had numerous requests to resume the Survey...requests from people who would seem on the surface to be quite disinterested in such a column.

We have been told repeatedly that the Sun Survey is a voice (which is what it is intended to be) and that without it the people have no way of letting their wishes known; too few will really take the time to write opinionated letters to the editor. But they will take the time to mark a questionnaire and cast their vote on an issue Survey is reinstated. The problem now is, do the questions really spur the interest of the people? Is that why the response had dropped? Since the Survey is FOR the people, then why not let it be BY the people? The editor is not necessarily all-knowing on what is happening in Virginia Beach (though the admission is painful, indeed). Nor is the editor necessarily lazy. The idea is that questions from the readers themselves might spark up the Survey and its response.

Therefore, rather than launch off with a question this week, we will give the reader a chance to bring the Sun Survey back to life. The question must, of course, be in good taste and be fairly general interest. It must not be on a hypothetical issue for fear of causing undue panic by an overactive imagination. In other words, no rids from Mars, and things that that. The editor should know from whom the question comes, although the name need not be used if the writer prefers not to be credited. So scratch your head, think your brain, and let's see what kind of challenging questions YOU can come up with.

Story-Book Characters Come Alive At Pembroke Meadows School Scene

Text And Photos
By Helen Crist

The game of Let's Pretend is great fun at any age. Last week, at Pembroke Meadows School, students and teachers alike had one marvelous day when they dressed as favorite story-book characters and wore their costumes to school. It was a feature of the school's Book Fair.

IT'S A RELAY RACE for Cinderella and Pocahontas-or Kimberly Kirk and Andrea Elliott.

Trantwood Presents 'Bambi'

The lovable deer, Bambi, is such a favorite with Miss Janet Thompson's second grade class at Trantwood Elementary School that they chose it for the theme of a musical they produced last week.

"A Visit With Bambi", then, became the play that the second graders performed for the incoming first graders. It was written and produced by Mrs. Hunter Vick, music teacher.

Mrs. Thompson's class all participated, either on stage or in the chorus. The costumes and scenery were all done by the class and parents.

EVEN TEACHERS HAVE FUN—from left, Miss Patty Terry (Alice in Wonderland), Mrs. Camille Seagrave (Raggedy Ann), Miss Gene Chambers (Porky, the pig),

Mrs. Betty Sparling, principal, (Farmer Brown), Miss Linda Armstrong, librarian, (Little Red Riding Hood.)

MRS. DONALD H. SPITZLI, JR.

Every Child To Be Wanted Is Planned Parenthood Aim

BY HELEN CRIST

BAY COLONY — Rita Angell Spitzli is surely an example of the NOW woman.

Tiny — she's barely over five feet — she's the wife of attorney Donald H. Spitzli, Jr., mother of Donald (DH), 13 and Peter, 9, mistress of a charming Crystal Parkway home, active in civic and social affairs, enjoying the way of suburban living; but she was, nonetheless, struck so forcibly by an idea in January 1970, she's been possessed by it ever since.

Planned Parenthood—that's Rita's project. She became vitally interested and concerned about the world population when she heard a talk by Dr. Jerome Holland, Ambassador to Sweden and member of the board of the International Organization of Planned Parenthood. Dr. Holland was speaking at Galilee Episcopal Church.

As a result, Rita began reading all the literature she could find and educating herself on the subject of world population.

"I discovered, for instance, that every week the world population increases by 1,300,000 people. Tonight, when the clock strikes twelve and we come to the end of the day, consider that after the number of the day's deaths have been subtracted from the number of the day's births, we will still have increased the world's population by 190,000. Multiply that by 365 days in a year and we have a frightening figure."

But what could Rita, as one individual, do to help the growing menace?

She knew that Dr. John Crawford, obstetrician and gynecologist, had given up a prosperous private practice, joining the Public Health Department, where he could better help mankind.

So she and Dr. Crawford sat down together around a table in her home, and they formed the nucleus of what became the Virginia Beach Chapter of Planned Parenthood, with Rita as president, and Dr. Crawford, the adviser.

"But it was a tough nut to crack," Rita said. "It's a personal thing, the size of one's family, and some of my good and fine friends thought about it the way I did but others thought it was none of my business."

"But," Rita says, "if they would think a step further they'd realize that every individual occupies space, breathes air and there are only X number of square miles on the planet and it will support only so many people. So that the size of one family concerns all people everywhere."

The birth control pill is a great tool in curbing population, she says, but basically it's a matter of educating people that some form of family planning must be a part of their lives.

With the organization of the Beach Chapter, the next step was to secure an office.

"The Public Health Department gave us space in its building at 19th and Artie Ave. We secured enough funds through contributions to pay our phone bill and answering service and to partition our little office from the waiting room."

The office is run strictly on a referral basis. Those who come to Planned Parenthood with a problem are referred, after a consultation, to a private physician if they have the funds or to the Public Health Department. Hours are daily, Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 2 to 6 p.m. through the answering service.

It is strictly a volunteer organization, and all money comes from contributions. "We would like to be able to hire our own nurse, and it's my dream to set up a Planning Clinic," Rita said. "It would be a great project for women's clubs to undertake." Rita added that she is available to speak to interested clubs.

Since June, 1971, they've handled over 300 cases for referral. "And we were too late to be listed in the phone book, so all those cases came by word of mouth."

When Rita isn't involved with Planned Parenthood, she's promoting Friends of Music, where she serves on the board. On Thursdays, she teaches music to the first three grades at Cape Henry School. She's a member of, and past president of Harbor Circle, The King's Daughters.

Her home is warm with earthy colors, antiques and Orientals, many paintings all arranged with a decorator's touch, for Rita is an artist.

goal to do her part in curbing world population.

She says, explaining her deep interest, "I was raised in the mid-west, Columbus, Nebraska, in the wide open spaces, where we had plenty of elbow room to grow up in comfort and freedom."

"It occurred to me that I passionately wanted my children to have the same wonderful freedom that I had and it was up to me, even as one individual, to do all in my power to make it possible."

"I knew that I could probably never leave them a heritage of great wealth or scientific achievement, but I could try to give them the basic things of life such as clean air, water, enough food and land on which to live."

So planned Parenthood became her goal. "And it not only means controlling the size of one's family," Rita said, "but we believe that every child should be a wanted child with greater opportunity for a fuller life, a chance for freedom from hunger, disease, ignorance and poverty."

She adds, "It's a goal within the reach of all people everywhere of good will."

To Conquer Your Work Divide Your Day

By Rev. Joyce Kramer

Are you fearful that you will be unable to do all that you need to do today? If so, apply the principle, "divide and conquer."

To conquer your work, learn to divide your day into the separate jobs that must be done. Then, concentrate your whole attention on the one thing you are doing. Refuse to think back to what you have just finished, or ahead to what comes next.

Jobs can be handled wisely and well on a one-by-one basis. These same jobs would be overwhelming if looked at all at once. You will work with a calm sureness that leads to success when you divide your work into separate tasks. This is the way to achievement.

I WORK EASILY, ENTHUSIASTICALLY, AND HAPPILY ON MY TASKS AND COMPLETE THEM ONE BY ONE.

Prunes Accent Turkey Stuffing

The sweet, rich flavor of prunes complements that of pork sausage in a convenient ready-to-use dressing mix for stuffing your holiday turkey in this easily prepared recipe.

The sweet-tart flavor of this dressing makes an excellent accompaniment for any poultry. And the orange glaze, besides glamorizing the appearance of the whole turkey in event you want to carve it at the table, gives the flesh a distinctive flavor.

PRUNE STUFFING

1 pound bulk sausage
1 large onion, chopped
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup prunes, pitted
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped pitted prunes

15 pound turkey, thawed if frozen
Salt and pepper
Glaze:
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed and undiluted
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

Fry sausage and onion until sausage is crumbly. Pour sausage and drippings over dressing. Stir in celery, prunes and broth. Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt and pepper. Use mixture to stuff turkey. Sew or skewer opening and roast as usual. During last hour of roasting brush turkey with glaze every 15 minutes.

Clean Your Face ... With Yogurt?

BY THELMA BARRETT

KITCHEN COSMETICS Tip to yogurt eaters: Take a half a teaspoonful of yogurt, apply to face and tissue off. You never had it so clean! One beauty expert recommends dissolving a tiny pinch of sea salt in the yogurt first. This makes for a slightly moisturizing and cleansing effect on oily or normal skin.

ESP-ING If someone seems to be studying your head and shoulders intently don't take it for granted your dandruff is showing—it might be your aura. Aura has been defined as a shadow, a radiation, or a vaporous stream that emanates from the body. And a gifted, psychically perceptive person can pick up the state of your physical, mental or spiritual condition almost instantly.

Imagine, for a moment, an aura-oriented world. A bank manager, for instance, would know that a prospective employee was trustworthy if his aura showed green tending toward blue.

ASTROLINÉ If you take a Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) woman out to dine and you have her best interests at heart, try to steer her away from rich, spicy food selection. You'll be doing her sensitive digestive system a favor and at the same time you'll help her keep that whistle-bait figure that stargazers claim she's noted for.

LIVING ART Want to live longer, live younger? Try living creatively. Create a new life, a job, a viewpoint, an outlet. One woman, after her husband's death, got tired of sitting around waiting to be needed. So she gathered some foodstuffs and unused articles and drove to a depressed area in her town. Picking out the most dilapidated house she could find, she simply knocked at the door and offered her gifts to the needy—and grateful—family within.

HEALTHWISE Go on—have a love affair with your food. Squash each mouthful against the roof of your mouth and get those taste buds excited. This is where good digestion starts. Eating with a calm attitude also helps. Where do you find a calm attitude? Make it. Have a moment of quiet before each meal. One of the fringe benefits that comes with the habit of saying grace is the calming and quieting of the physical body which results.

CAYCE CUE On America's Karmic problem: "And what makes the people of America afraid?—what has made them afraid—is the fear of servitude in any form! Yet all must learn that those who are greater... are to be the servants of all... not lords over others... life in all its manifestations, expressions, relationships and dealings one with another is not to be gouging, not a 'gimme', not a hating... not things that belittle; but that which creates hope, faith, and understanding in the minds and hearts of men everywhere!" (3978-19)

Jaycees Host Students

Frank Johnson, Virginia Beach Jaycee Chairman for International Involvement, has announced the kick-off of the Open Door Fellowship Program.

This program encourages the people of Virginia Beach to extend their hospitality to the foreign military students stationed at the Naval Guided Missiles School, Dam Neck.

By inviting these students into their homes, the people of Virginia Beach will give them a chance to see how American families live. In exchange, Virginia Beach citizens will have an opportunity to learn more about the student's home country and customs.

The students are from different countries, representing the navies of our allies. The program has been sponsored by the Jaycees for the last 2 years but this year it has been opened to all interested families in the entire Virginia Beach area.

Any citizen or organization in the area interested in extending an invitation to these students, please call Mr. Frank Johnson at 853-8331 for more information. In this way Virginia Beach will become known around the World as the city that cares about good will and fellowship.

Clothing Charge Dismissed

S.A. Karageorge was cleared of a charge of wearing clothing unbecoming his sex by Municipal Court Judge P.B. White last Friday.

Karageorge, 40-year-old resort city restaurant and motel owner, was however convicted of two charges of simple assault and a charge of resisting arrest. He was fined $200 and given a suspended 30-day jail sentence on the convictions.

The charges were filed against Karageorge on Oct. 19 when he reportedly engaged in a scuffle with police officers who had been dispatched to investigate reports of a man wearing a woman's minidress, sweater, hose, and a long black wig.

Winter was asked.

"First, we are all residents who want to see our city run in a business like manner," Winter responded. "A coalition is a loose group of people; we are concerned with what is best for Virginia Beach. We hope to make all the political activity in this city coincide with what is best for Virginia Beach."

"What yardstick are we working toward," another speaker asked Winter, an unsuccessful council candidate in 1968. "You say Virginia Beach First—that's motherhood and flag and no one can oppose that. What do you mean by Virginia Beach First? I am not ready to coalesce until I know what I am coalescing for. As far as I know, you are Marxists in disguise!"

A familiar figure, Sam Houston Sr. of the Council of Civic Organizations, rose to his feet. "If you are going to be a coalitionist there should be no problem deciding on what you want. You know what you are for. You know what you are against. These are the things you are talking about. You are trying to get together with objectives and you are going to screen your candidates according to these objectives. I think that's what you are trying to get out."

There was applause of approval and several persons rose to be heard. It was Mrs. Jean Kaplan, however, who drew the loudest response when she said "We are here to work for the City of Virginia Beach, to help form the best government for Virginia Beach we possibly can."

After questioning from the group, Winter explained that the original steering committee, had held brainstorming sessions ("Which no councilman attended") for ideas possibilities that the future organization could change as necessary. "We hope only to provide a base to build a politically active group of people to elect our councilmen," he said.

The aims and purposes drafted by the temporary committee he said were: "The name of this non-partisan organization shall be Virginia Beach First Coalition. Membership in this group shall be open to all citizens (Democrats, Republicans and Independents) dedicated to electing a City Council responsive to the needs of the people." The purpose is for participation in the May 1972 election only, he said.

Winter said that the original committee felt that requirement for candidate involved such things as revealing sources of income, refusal to cater to pressure groups, strive for equitable taxation, maintain a professional position, appoint appropriately qualified persons to influential positions, and other points.

The meeting finally ended with the nomination of 11 persons to a nominating committee to slate a permanent steering committee, of which seven were to be elected. On a motion, however, all were elected, five of which were among the organizational group: Mrs. Gay Winter, Aragona Village; Mrs. Ann Middleton, Thoroughgood; Bob Warren, Alanton; Charles Scharenberg, Aragona; and Gene Ruminaki, also of Aragona and the newly elected president of the Council of Civic Organizations.

Others were: Sam Houston Sr., Birdneck Point, temporary coordinator until the committee can meet and elect its chairman; A.C. Woodruff, Great Neck Point; Carl Peterson, Davis Corner; Jack Cousins, Kempsville; and Florence Smith, Lake Edward West.

Survey Is Underway

Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr. has announced that Rural Mail Carriers are distributing December 1, 1971 Livestock Survey forms to farmer-patrons on their routes.

Local Post Offices assist the Department of Agriculture each year in making this survey.

Farmers making livestock reports will send their reports to the Virginia Crop Reporting Service in Richmond. Information from each report will be combined with other reports to give indications of changes in livestock on farms in the Old Dominion. Using these facts, estimates will be made of the number of cattle and calves, and hogs and pigs on Virginia farms.

In addition, estimates of the number of milk cows, the calf crop, fall sows farrowed and pigs saved, and plans for spring farrowing will be determined from information obtained from the December 1 Livestock Survey.

First Colonial Ranked Seventh By VHSL

First Colonial High School finished the Group AAA regular season 8-1 and ranked seventh in the state by the Virginia High School League rating system. The First Colonial Patriots, in the second best season ever recorded at the school, won the Virginia Beach championship with victories over the other Beach schools and finished second in the Eastern District.

Eastern District winner Maury was ranked second, and Southeastern District winner Wilson was ranked fifth.

Complete VHSL ratings for the state are being published in AAA, AA, and A groupings. Radford topped the AA standings, and the A's were led by Chilhowie.

Kempville Takes Junior High Crown

Sporting a 5-0-1 record, the Kempville Junior High School football team wrapped up the 1971 Beach junior high school championship with a 14-6 win over runner-up Bayside Junior High School on November 13th.

Kempville scoring leaders were Mark Bridgeman and Kevin Smith. Bridgeman finished the year with 56 points and 385 yards rushing. Smith rushed for 386 yards and scored 38 points. Kempville signal-caller Scott O'Hara completed 14 of 39 passes for 321 yards. The Kempville offense racked up 152 points in their six games, while holding their opposition to 32 points.

Runner-up Bayside, with a fine 5-1-0 record, boasted the junior high school circuit's leading scorer in Aubrey Graham. Graham, a 15-year old ninth grader from the Aragona section of Virginia Beach, scored 88 points, including 12 touchdowns and 8 extra-point conversion runs. In his six games Graham racked up 1024 yards in total offense, including 640 yards rushing, 197 yards on

Hunting Good Across State

Unseasonably warm weather averaging some 21 degrees above last year's opening day temperatures apparently hasn't reduced hunting success materially in the state according to reports from Virginia Game Commission Warden Supervisors and Biologists.

Deer hunters appear to be enjoying their best season yet with deer sick and fat, at least in Piedmont and Eastern Virginia, and sporting better than average racks.

A record deer kill of over 42,000 was predicted for the state as seasons opened, with deer success expected to be slightly off west of the Blue Ridge. Reports from early in opening week, however, indicate that the western kill may be running ahead of last year. Warm weather in eastern Virginia apparently gave deer hounds some difficulty in following game as the day wore on, especially in Northern Virginia, but morning success was good elsewhere.

Warm weather may also have affected the efficiency of bear dogs during the early week of hunting since the number of bears checked seems to be a little below last year at this time. Bear success was reported good in the Dismal Swamp where high water has apparently concentrated the bears on the ridges. Small game hunters are not faring so well with the exception of squirrel hunters which have been enjoying good to excellent success during recent warm days that have lured a bumper summer crop of young bush-tails out to forage among the abundant acorns.

Glenn Freeman, starting center for the Chesapeake College Cougars, scored six points and pulled down twelve rebounds in his season's opener Saturday night, a 70-75 loss to the College of the Albemarle.

Tennis Support Growing

A Virginia Beach tennis center moved a step closer to reality Monday when City Council referred the idea to City Manager Roger Scott for detailed study during the next thirty days. John Maragon brought a comprehensive plan before the Council in behalf of the Virginia Beach Tennis Patrons Association, and it appeared that the majority of Council members were in agreement of the need for a tennis facility in the Resort area if funding could be found.

In the past few months, the support for a tennis complex has increased tremendously. The 200 family Tennis Patrons Association, the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Beach Innkeepers Association, the Department of Parks and Recreation, the City Recreation Commission, and over 700 citizens in a Virginia Beach Sun survey have agreed that a modern tennis facility is needed in the center of the tourist area. The innkeepers were the latest large body to lend their support to such a complex. Last Thursday night they passed a resolution stating: "We, the Innkeepers of Virginia Beach, endorse the immediate development of a first rate tennis center in the Beach Borough of the City."

A city council must be concerned with the needs of a whole city, not just of its parts. In this light, our Council has approved funds for over 70 tennis courts at various schools and park sites around Virginia Beach. The present need is not in Kempville, which is my home area, nor in Bayside nor in the area around Princess Anne, Coe, First Colonial, or Kellam High Schools. Tennis courts are there, and though there are waiting lines at various times, the situation is not critical. The problem now is in the Beach Borough.

By figures available from the Department of Parks and Recreation, it can be determined beyond any shadow of a doubt that the three courts on 25th Street are the most heavily used tennis courts in the entire city. The three courts at 25th Street require three times the maintenance of any other courts that are scattered around town. Why? It is not because of vandalism. It is not because they are made of less durable materials. They require more maintenance because they are the most heavily used courts in Virginia Beach.

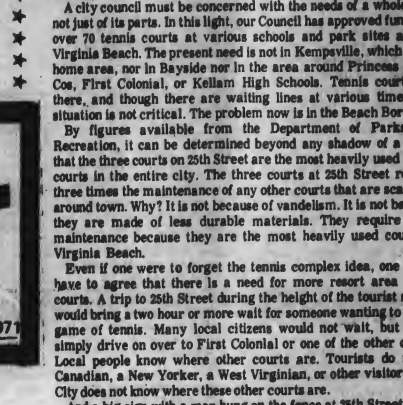

Even if one were to forget the tennis complex idea, one would have to agree that there is a need for more resort area tennis courts. A trip to 25th Street during the height of the tourist season would bring a two hour or more wait for someone wanting to play a game of tennis. Many local citizens would not wait, but would simply drive on over to First Colonial or one of the other courts. Local people know where other courts are. Tourists do not. A Canadian, a New Yorker, a West Virginian, or other visitor to our City does not know where these other courts are.

And a big sign with a map hung on the fence at 25th Street would not solve the problem. Some tourists do not have cars. Others feel that if they are paying $50 or more per day they deserve things to do. Thus, Rudee Inlet brought sport fishing close to the hotel strip. When the main industry is tourism, the tourist has to be catered to. When you cater to the tourist, you also create recreation for the tax paying citizen. When the tourists are gone, Red Wing Golf Course is still there for year around enjoyment. The sport fishing fleet is still there waiting to take local anglers out to where the big ones are biting. When the tennis playing tourists are gone, the facility is still there for local tennis enthusiasts. Not only do tourists bring income, they bring needs that must be filled if they are to return again and again. And when our City fills the needs of tourists, they are also filling the needs of local citizens.

If everyone agrees on the need for a tennis complex, then where do the holdups lurk. Land? Money? In essence, both land and money could be major obstacles. In our case, neither should be a problem. The land is there. An area adequate for the needs of the proposed tennis center is currently under the wing of Parks and Recreation and is located near the Toll Road at the Park Avenue and 22nd Street intersection. No additional land needs to be acquired nor leveled nor structures demolished for tennis court construction.

Money is not really a problem. The Parks and Recreation budget has already requested funds, and approval is virtually certain, for six more tennis courts somewhere "near" the Beach Borough. Red Wing Park, in my opinion, is not "near" enough. The great depth of information that Mr. Maragon presented to Council Monday afternoon showed funds are available from the Federal Government's Urban Renewal and Legacy of Parks Funds. Funds are available from the State through the Commission of Outdoor Recreation. These funds could reduce the Virginia Beach portion of the estimated $60,000 tennis complex cost to as little as $22,500, or, in reality, little more than would be spent on six courts already in the budget.

When Roger Scott reports back to City Council on December 30th, it is my hope that his study recommends the tennis complex without reservation. The need is great.

Cooke Is New Partner

Wylie R. Cooke, Jr., of Virginia Beach, has been named a partner in the architectural firm of Oliver and Smith and the firm's name has been expanded to Oliver, Smith and Cooke with offices at 333 West Freemason Street, Norfolk, and 2902 Arctic Avenue, Virginia Beach.

The new partner has been practicing architecture in the Tidewater area since 1963. In 1968, he opened his own office at Virginia Beach.

A native of Lynchburg, Cooke is a graduate of the University of Virginia. He is registered to practice architecture in Virginia and is a member of the American Institute of Architects. He is currently serving on the board of directors of the University of Virginia Architectural Alumni Association.

Cooke and his wife, the former Rebecca Pease, and their twin daughters, make their home at 114 51st Street, Virginia Beach.

Senior partners in Oliver, Smith and Cooke are Louis A. Oliver of Norfolk and Herbert L. Smith, III, of Virginia Beach, both of whom hold Fellowships in the American Institute of Architects.

They established the firm of Oliver and Smith in 1950 and since 1962 have occupied their own office building at 333 West Freemason Street. The firm has designed many school and college buildings and churches throughout the East and was associated in the design of Norfolk's Civic Center.

A native of North Carolina, Oliver has more than 35 years experience in architectural practice and is currently chairman of the Fine Arts Committee of the City of Norfolk.

He is also chairman of the Governor's Advisory Research Committee for School Buildings. He is registered to practice in Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, Michigan and Florida.

A native of Virginia Beach, Smith has more than 30 years in architecture, including design work at the Panama Canal. He is registered in Virginia, North Carolina, Delaware, Michigan, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina.

He is vice president of the Virginia Beach Beautification Committee and a member of the board of directors of the United Communities Fund and a trustee of All Saints Episcopal Church of Virginia Beach.

Students In Who's Who

Two Virginia Beach students are among 19 seniors at St. Andrews Presbyterian College selected for Who's Who among students in American Colleges and Universities.

They are Mary M. Hutcheson, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Fletcher Hutcheson of Five Forks Road and Mollye MacLeod, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John D. MacLeod, Jr., of Mantle Lane. Selections were made by a joint student, faculty and staff committee from students nominated by a campus-wide vote.

Editors of the annual national publication list as guidelines for selection of students their scholarship, participation and leadership in extra-curricular activities, citizenship, and promise of future usefulness.

Miss Hutcheson, an English major, is a member of the St. Andrews Honor Society, was a Sophomore Scholar, and holds a Vardell Scholarship, the college's top scholarship award. She is president of her dormitory and a member of the Student Senate. She has served in the Student Peace Corps, on the College Christian Council, on the annual staff, and Code of Responsibility Committee.

Miss MacLeod, majoring in chemistry, also is a Vardell Scholar and Honor Society member. She served as a member and then chairman of the Judicial Board and was student Attorney General.

Tapped Into Giest

Deborah Anne Ellenbrand, an outstanding Longwood College senior from Virginia Beach, has been tapped into Giest, the college's honorary leadership fraternity.

Miss Ellenbrand, a 1968 graduate of Bayside High School, is the daughter of Cdr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Ellenbrand of 5112 Lake Shore Road. Debbie is a member of the varsity hockey team, vice-president of the Athletic Association, and secretary of Delta Psi Kappa, honorary physical education society. She was also recently named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" for 1971-72.

Founded at the college in 1966, Giest (a German word) signifies spirit, intelligence, and imagination. The organization endeavors to encourage campus leadership and high standards of service and scholarship among students. Chief among the group's activities are sponsorship of annual visit of bloodmobile to campus, two leadership recognition assemblies, and Oktoberfest, an ambitious two-day campus festival each fall.

The report stated "To those who object to physical education facilities as unnecessary, we suggest a review of the community recreation which is conducted on the school sites."

"To those who complained of a swimming pool in a school, we point out that with the great expanse of lakes, bay, and oceanfront property in Virginia Beach, it is a disgrace that any student not prevented by physical handicap be unable to swim sufficiently well to preserve his life."

referendum at a very early date."

The report also pointed out that "Virginia Beach is the only city in Tidewater in which a referendum is required to obtain the consent of the people to sell bonds in support of school construction. In addition, this process is unknown to the majority of cities in Virginia. Immediate legislative steps should be taken after the vote of confidence which must be obtained from the people with at least one more referendum, to eliminate this principle from our Charter."

Recent public sentiment criticizing the addition of certain items to public school structures which were viewed as being "expensive frills" also came under review of the Fact Finding Committee.

The report stated "To those who object to physical education facilities as unnecessary, we suggest a review of the community recreation which is conducted on the school sites."

"To those who complained of a swimming pool in a school, we point out that with the great expanse of lakes, bay, and oceanfront property in Virginia Beach, it is a disgrace that any student not prevented by physical handicap be unable to swim sufficiently well to preserve his life."

The continually increasing number of families settling in Virginia Beach resulting in a substantial increase in the number of children requiring education in public schools, with resultant new school construction at unforeseen times, also came under study by the Fact Finding Committee.

The Committee associated this population growth with the increased construction of residential dwellings throughout the resort city, and the apparent lack of procedures which might be used in planning for future schools which might be required.

In proposing action which might be taken to correct this situation Committee members recommended "The immediate enactment of an ordinance requiring all land developers and builders to provide general information of what construction will be completed within our City with advance projections six months and eighteen months in the future. This information should project the number of units which are likely to be built and number of bedrooms therein. A semi-annual report of this nature filed with the School Administration, with copies to the Planning Department by each person building would be a better guide of what to expect from existing and proposed use permits and from other types of construction not requiring use permits."

public schools, as well as a stand against consolidation by Virginia Beach with neighboring cities in any manner.

Mrs. Wood criticized the present system of busing public school students as creating "hate and animosity in Virginia Beach public schools", adding that as a result of forced busing "the situation in our schools is deplorable."

She charged City Officials with allowing federal officials to dictate to them how Virginia Beach will operate its public school system, through achieving federal standards of racial balance in the schools. She said, "The School Board is so set on achieving that black and white ration that time formerly devoted to education must now be given to discipline."

Mayer Rhodes reminded Mrs. Wood The School Board, during its meeting of last July 20 went on record opposing any system of "inter-city schools", and that Council members have also gone on record as opposing any consolidation by Virginia Beach with neighboring cities or their school systems.

Earl Paul, charter boat owner operating out of Rudee Inlet, appeared before Councilmen during their informal session to question Council on recent reports of plans to sell land adjacent to the sport fishing harbor to private interests. Paul cited fears of his, and other charter boat operators, that such a sale to developers "for purposes other than water oriented" would be poor planning.

Paul was assured that no decision has been made by city officials as yet regarding disposition of property adjacent to the Rudee Inlet marina.

Bible Lecture

Mrs. Mary D. Tomlin of Darien, Connecticut, an authority on biblical literature, will lecture at the Association for Research and Enlightenment, 67th Street and Atlantic Avenue, on Friday, November 26th at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, November 28th at 3 p.m.

The title of her lecture on Friday will be "A Credible Genesis" and on Sunday "Creation - Man's Diversion."

Law Changes Proposed

Members of the Virginia Beach Safety Council during their regular monthly meeting approved two resolutions to strengthen Virginia laws concerning driving under the influence of liquor.

The first resolution called for revising standards under which a person is presumed to be driving in an intoxicated condition on the basis of a blood-alcohol test.

Present laws establish this condition when test show an individual's bloodstream contains .15 percent alcohol. The Safety Council called for the lowering of this level to .10 percent alcohol.

The second resolution called for the permitting of "breathalyzer" test results of persons suspected of driving under the influence of alcohol to be admitted as evidence during court proceedings. Such admission at present is prohibited under Virginia statutes.
